Andere: Nordmedia 125.000 €

Pitch: Nore and Jonna meet again by chance in their early twenties and move in together. In conversations, it becomes clear that Nore was never the precocious "femme fatale" who both admired and bullied Jonna, but experienced sexual assault as a young girl. As Nore struggles to reclaim the narrative for herself, a genuine friendship develops. (MOIN)

Pitch: In an unnamed but recognizable northern Sardinia the destinies of three families intertwine, clashing and meeting, losing each other and finding each other again. Three very different families: the Arca, the Nonne and the Branca. Piero and Giuliano Arca, father and son, live alone beyond the edge of the city in a farmhouse full of injured animals that they collect and treat. The Nonne family live in the city: the head of the family Sebastiano, a submissive wife and two children: Michelangelo, of whom we can be proud, a career soldier and companion on exalted hunting trips, and Emilio, deplored for his softness, his readings in solitude in locked in his room, and for his unseemly friendship with Giuliano Arca. Finally, the Brancas: Edoardo, a long-time notary, and his daughter Maddalena, a delicate and sensitive twenty-five year old, who live in the villa on the family estate - and it would be a perfectly harmonious coexistence if the girl did not fall in love with Michelangelo Nonne, passion that the young girl's father cannot understand. Events receive an overbearing push when Piero Arca disappears on a snowy day bloodied by the carnage of all his beasts. From here begins a long and hallucinated journey for Giuliano in search of his father.
