A crime thriller set on the night when the city that never sleeps lost power and plunged into chaos and lawlessness. In 1977, five rogue police officers formulate a plan to rob three criminal strongholds – the Hong Kong Triads, the Italian Mafia, and the Harlem Mob – all in one night. When a blackout sweeps the city the night of the robbery, the crew is forced to navigate a hellish landscape as years of being overworked and underpaid forces each of them to confront their own morality.

Accused is an anthology drama in which each stand-alone episode follows a different character as they make their way to court to hear whether they've been found guilty of a crime. It opens in a courtroom on the accused, with viewers knowing nothing about their crime or how they ended up on trial. Told from the defendant's point of view through flashbacks, Accused depicts how an ordinary person gets caught up in an extraordinary situation, ultimately revealing how one wrong turn leads to another, until it's too late to turn back. Alert: Missing Persons Unit is set in the Philadelphia Police Department's Missing Persons Unit (MPU). Each episode features a search for a missing person headed by detectives Jason Grant (Caan) and Nikki Batista (Ramirez). Together with the MPU team, their job is to find the missing or abducted and reunite them with their loved ones. In Season 2, the MPU team settle into their new office in headquarters, where Jason and Nikki meet their new boss Inspector Hollis Braun (guest star Gil Bellows), who wants to keep a close eye on the team, particularly the unpredictable Jason Grant. Jason brings his old friend in to help with the case: master hacker Wayne Pascal (Alisha-Marie Ahamed), who he worked with in Afghanistan.

“ALICE SADIE CELINE” Feature FilmLINDEN ENTERTAINMENT

rmarker@lindenentertainment.com
PHONE: 212-495-9720 | 310-860-6012

STATUS: Development

PRODUCER: Riva Marker - Sarah Blakley-Cartwright WRITER: Jen Silverman

It's opening night, but Alice's performance in the local Bay Area production of The Winter's Tale is far from glamorous. She doesn't have dreams of stardom, but the basement theater in a wildfire-choked town isn't exactly what she envisioned for her career back home in Los Angeles. To make matters worse, her best friend Sadie is not even coming. Pragmatic, serious Sadie and flighty, creative Alice have been best friends since high school—really one another's only friends—but now that they are through with college (which they attended together) and living on opposite ends of California, Alice would at least expect her friend's support. Sadie, determined not to cancel her plans with her boyfriend, ends up enlisting the help of her mother, Celine. A professor of women's and gender studies at UC Berkeley, Celine's landmark treatise on sex and identity made her notorious, but she's struggling to write her new book in a post-second-wave feminist world. So, when Sadie begs her to attend Alice's play, she relents, if only to escape writer's block. But in a turn of perplexing events, Celine becomes entranced by Alice's performance and realizes that her daughter's once lanky, slightly annoying best friend is now an irresistible young woman. Set over the course of decades—from Alice and Sadie's early friendship days and Celine's decision to leave her husband to the radical movements of 1990s Berkeley and navigating contemporary Hollywood—Alice and Celine's affair will test the limits of their love for Sadie and their own beliefs of power, agency, and feminism.

Alpha represents the origin and birth, in contrast with the Omega, the end, death. But an origin also implies the notion of a threshold, and thus of a transition or passage. The Alpha is an empty and desolate liminary space, but one that is simultaneously filled with the past and future that it harbors. In this sense, it is a space of discomfort, forever doomed to be something other than what it is. Alpha is the name of the protagonist. At 11, she is the incarnation of this liminary space: she's not exactly a child anymore, but she's not an adult either. She's neither one nor the other. And yet she's very much there.

The comedy series follows a group of local Animal Control workers whose lives are complicated by the fact that animals are simple, but humans are not. McHale will play Frank Shaw, an opinionated, eccentric Animal Control officer who may not have gone to college but is still the most well-read person in the room. A former cop, Frank tried to expose corruption in his department, but his efforts got him fired, which may explain why he's so cynical and curmudgeonly. He has an almost superhuman ability to understand animals. Humans...not so much. (June 17 - August 20, 2024)

Elise Jacobs is ready for a change. A new beginning. Recently divorced, she relocates to her hometown of Landover, Maine to operate a bed and breakfast she inherited from her grandmother. After growing up with the fondest memories of her childhood being spent there, she relishes the chance for a fresh start and an opportunity to revive the inn. As summer gives way to Autumn, the inn is returning to its grandeur. A handsome guest sets out to challenge Elise at every turn. She knows the wealthy narcissistic type...or does she? Luke Donovan is ready to trade banking for bon appetit with hopes of opening a bistro in a charming town he spent summers fishing with his dad and grandfather. Finding an obstinate innkeeper consuming his thoughts is more than he'd planned for a brief stay at the most idyllic home tucked within the rolling hills of an orchard.

The Bosch spinoff, follows Detective Renée Ballard (Q), who is tasked with running the LAPD's new cold case division—a poorly funded, all-volunteer unit with the largest case load in the city. Ballard approaches these frozen-in-time cases with empathy and determination. When she uncovers a larger conspiracy during her investigations, she'll lean on the assistance of her retired ally, Harry Bosch (Titus Welliver), to navigate the dangers that threaten both her unit and her life. The year is 40,000. After peaceful floating in zero-gravity, astronaut Barbarella lands on the frozen planet Lythion and sets out to find renowned scientist Durand Durand in the City of Night, Sogo, where a new sin is invented every hour. She encounters such objects as the Excessive Machine, a genuine sex organ on which an expert artist of the keyboard—in this case, Durand Durand himself—can drive a victim to death by pleasure, a lesbian queen who can make her fantasies take form in her Chamber of Dreams, and a group of ladies smoking a giant hookah which dispenses Essence of Man through a poor victim struggling in its glass globe.

Brandon is quickly making a name for himself in the podcast world and his fan base is rapidly growing. With that growth comes a new listener, Paulette Johnson, a barista at a local coffee shop. Brandon will soon learn that success comes at a price and that the word "Fan" is short for "Fanatic" - A person with an obsessive interest in, and enthusiasm for something. Paulette interjects herself into every facet of Brandon's life. Killing a former guest, ruining lunch with a potential celebrity guest, and finally going after the one woman Brandon has been given a second chance to love. Brandon's world is turned upside down as a mentally unstable Paulette does everything in her power to prove that she is Brandon's number one fan.

In The Beast In Me, since the tragic death of her young son, acclaimed author Aggie Wiggs (Danes) has receded from public life, unable to write, a ghost of her former self. But she finds an unlikely subject for a new book when the house next door is bought by Nile Sheldon, a famed and formidable real estate mogul who was once the prime suspect in his wife's disappearance. At once horrified and fascinated by this man, Aggie finds herself compulsively hunting for the truth – chasing his demons while fleeing her own – in a game of cat and mouse that might turn deadly.

The world's most powerful superheroes ('Supes') are secretly bending society to its whims, until the underdog team 'The Boys', victims of the 'Supes', conjure up a plan to take down 'The Seven' and 'Vought International' once and for all. Fighting a never ending conspiracy of corporate espionage, deep-cutting secrets and nigh-Godly figures, 'The Boys' will do whatever it takes to save the world from its corrupt 'superheroes' before they become unstoppable—or die trying. In Season 4, the world is on the brink. Victoria Neuman is closer than ever to the Oval Office and under the muscly thumb of Homelander, who is consolidating his power. Butcher, with only months to live, has lost Becca's son and his job as The Boys' leader. The rest of the team are fed up with his lies. With the stakes higher than ever, they have to find a way to work together and save the world before it's too late.

The true story of adventurous Swiss photographer Bruno Zehnder, a superb artist who spent the last 20 years of his life in Antarctica photographing Emperor penguins. He was obsessed by them – their kindness, the way they lived, their deep levels of affection for one another. Bruno spent his life trying to learn how to communicate with them and over time, the colonies grew to know him and return his fondness. He became so obsessed that he legally changed his name to Bruno Penguin and found great success, both creatively and financially with his photographs. Bruno was also involved in an incredible, decades-long romance, mainly long distance, as she did not share his desire to live in the barren cold. He put his romance off for years – always in Antarctica, always chasing penguins. And ultimately, just before moving back home, he got caught in a giant Arctic whiteout and froze to death. Before his passing in 1997, his frequent sojourns in Antarctica resulted in photographs that won several awards, including the United Nations Environmental Protection Prize and the British Broadcasting System's Wildlife Photographer of the Year award. He was also elected a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society in London. Hopkins will play Ben Windsor, a legendary art agent.

The South Side of a certain Midwestern megalopolis is nicknamed "Chiraq," because geographically it's in Chicago, but the violence level is straight out of Baghdad. In the current fifth season, The Chi delves deeply into the many joys and complications of Black love: relationships, children, career, community and self. Emmett (Jacob Latimore) and Tiff (Hannah Hall) forge ahead as co-parents, while Tiff moves in with Rob (Iman Shumpert). Kevin (Alex Hibbert) finds new love in gaming and Simone (Antonyah Allen), while Jake (Michael V. Epps) and Papa (Shamon Brown Jr.) try to resolve things with Jemma (Judae'a Brown) and Maisha (Genesis Denise Hale). New mom Kiesha (Birgundi Baker) works to build her life with baby Ronnie while pursuing her education, while Nina (Tyla Abercrombie) and Dre (Miriam A. Hyman) work at rebuilding their union as they support Lynae (Zaria Imani Primer). Jada (Yolonda Ross) assesses her life post-cancer with Suede (Bernard Gilbert) and Darnell (Rolando Boyce), who makes a decision on his future with Dom (La La Anthony). Roselyn's (Kandi Burruss) new pet project places her at odds with Tracy (Tai Davis). Shaad (Jason Weaver) gets level-up love from Deja (Carolyn Michelle Smith) and takes Bakari (Ahmad Ferguson) under his wing. Meanwhile, with Douda's (Curtiss Cook) connections and a helping hand from Shaad and Marcus (Joel Steingold), Trig (Luke James) launches a political run to help his city, but at a potential cost to him and his family. In tiny Merinac, Kansas, Chicken Mimi's and Chicken Frannie's have spent a century vying to serve up the best fried chicken in the state--and the legendary feud between their respective owners, the Moores and the Pogociellos, has lasted just as long. No one feels the impact more than thirty-five-year-old widow Amanda Moore, who grew up working for her mom at Mimi's before scandalously marrying Frank Pogociello and changing sides to work at Frannie's. Tired of being caught in the middle, Amanda sends an SOS to Food Wars, the reality TV restaurant competition that promises $100,000 to the winner. But in doing so, she launches both families out of the frying pan and directly into the fire. . .The last thing Brooklyn-based organizational guru Mae Moore, Amanda's sister, wants is to go home to Kansas. But when her career implodes, helping the fading Mimi's look good on Food Wars becomes Mae's best chance to reclaim the limelight--even if doing so pits her against Amanda and Frannie's. Yet when family secrets become public knowledge, the sisters must choose: Will they fight with each other, or for their heritage? (May 14 - November 15, 2024)

The Cleaning Lady is a one-hour darkly aspirational character drama about a whip-smart Filipina doctor, Reyna Salonga (Yung), who comes to the U.S. for a medical treatment to save her ailing son. But when the system fails and pushes her into hiding, she refuses to be beaten down and marginalized. Instead, she becomes an on-call cleaning lady for the mob. Willing to do anything to save her son, Reyna walks the tightrope of morality, breaking the law for all the right reasons — and eventually forges her own path in the criminal underworld as she starts playing the game by her own rules. In the current third season, the stakes for Thony are higher and more intense than ever, from losing her protector Arman (Canto), to Thony's efforts to bring Fiona (Milan) back to the US after she was deported to the Philippines.

Forget diamonds—the internet is forever. Social media consultant Isla Thompson learned that lesson the hard way when she went viral for all the wrong reasons. A month later, Isla is still having nightmares about the moment she ruined a young starlet's career and made herself the most unemployable influencer in Manhattan. But she doesn't have the luxury of hiding until she's no longer Instagram poison. Not when her fourteen-year-old sister, Dani, needs Isla to keep a roof over their heads. So, she takes the first job she can get: caring for Camilla, a glossy-maned, foul-tempered hellhound. After a week of ferrying Camilla from playdates to pet psychics, Isla starts to suspect that the dachshund's bark is worse than her bite—just like her owner, Theo Garrison. Isla has spent her career working to make people likable and here's Theo—happy to hide behind his reputation as a brutish recluse. But Theo isn't a brute—he's sweet and funny, and Isla should not see him as anything but the man who signs her paychecks. Because loving Theo would mean retreating to his world of secluded luxury, and Isla needs to show Dani that no matter the risk, dreams are always worth chasing.

When 25 year-old Rose Forster is attacked by her insane sister Ashley, a violent altercation ensues, leaving Ashley dead on the floor. Afraid that no one will believe the death was accidental, Rose flees the scene, changes her identity and starts a new life. Many years later, Rose is Alex McDowell, just now 40, married to Robert McDowell, who is the only person on earth who knows her dark secret. They have a twelve-year-old daughter named Charlie, who is the light of Alex's world. But trouble comes when Alex saves the life of an old woman in a park and the heroic deed goes viral, becoming a media sensation. All eyes fall on Alex, including those of a mysterious stalker, whose malicious intent is to own Alex and her daughter at any cost. As the past catches up with Alex and the killer draws nearer, those around her begin to die, one by one, until it's just Alex and her husband. Alone against the odds, they will face a final confrontation that will decide all their fates... with the life of her daughter hanging in the balance.

The black comedy tells the story of Colin and Stanley, two good-for-nothing brothers who are faced with the repayment of their dead father's debt to a notorious loan shark named Maggie. Soon enough, they unwittingly become involved in a criminal underworld and entangled in a web of blackmail and deceit with a host of insalubrious characters. Anderson will play Terry, a womanizing alcoholic who employs the brothers to stop his work colleague Dirk (Gregory) from exposing him to his wife as a cheat. Fury will play Johnny – a no-nonsense henchman to Maggie.

Set in the mid 1990s, the film follows 12-year-old Jane as she begins to rebel against her role as proxy-carer for her mother Sylvia (Hall), a recently divorced and ever so slightly fading Broadway diva. During a long weekend break between concert dates, Sylvia hosts Benton, Chris and Rahim, three male dancers from her current tour, at her anachronistically grand country house. She is also expecting the arrival of Dale, her handsome younger boyfriend. As Jane does her best to protect her mother from everything that threatens to disturb her delicate equilibrium, she moves quietly from childhood into something else-wiser, freer, and more alone.

The film is set to tell the story of Samantha Lewthwaite (Ramsey), who became known as British terrorist 'The White Widow' and one of the world's most wanted women. Girl Next Door centers on Lewthwaite (Ramsey), who fell in love with Islam long before being Muslim was politicized and militarized and became known as 'The White Widow'. What began as teenage curiosity about an "exotic" and welcoming faith as embodied by her neighbors and best friend, ended with Samantha being consumed by its more radical fringes. We follow Sam in the days following the 7/7 attacks in London in 2005 as she pieces together the inevitable outcome of her husband's involvement, believing he is with another woman when his fate is clear to us all. Left contemplating her future as a grief-stricken mum of two, we imagine the events that may have led Sam to become an ideological crusader and wonder, how much she really knew about the 7/7 plot.

Laura Cavendish (Wright) can't wait to meet the woman who's won her son's affection. Despite a successful career in television and a long, prosperous marriage, Laura's world revolves around kind, talented Daniel (Davidson). She pictures his new girlfriend, Cherry (Cooke), becoming a close friend and confidante ...one day, even a daughter-in-law. But although Cherry is beautiful and amiable, Laura can't warm to her. There's something about the possessive way she touches Daniel, the little lies Laura detects. Cherry seems to resent Laura, driving a wedge between mother and son - until one day Daniel is injured in a terrible accident. Six months later, with Daniel still in a coma and facing death, Laura makes a fateful decision - and carries out an astonishing deceit. A handsome doctor for a husband, with a trust fund and a family villa in Saint-Tropez - it was all supposed to be Cherry's. Now, instead of living with Daniel in his impeccable home, she's jobless and broke. And then Cherry discovers Laura's stunning deception. But Cherry is too clever, too ambitious to let her get away with it. She has already transformed herself into Daniel's dream woman. Now she'll become Laura's worst nightmare.

Going Dutch follows arrogant loudmouth U.S. Army Colonel (Leary), who after an epically unfiltered rant, is reassigned to the Netherlands, where he is punished with a command position at the least important army base in the world. After serving with distinction in every warzone of the last three decades, he now finds himself in charge of a base with no guns, weapons, or tactical purpose. Instead, it has a Michelin-star level commissary, a top-notch bowling alley, and the best (and only) fromagerie in the U.S. Army. Surrounded by a diverse group of underdogs, the colonel tries to reinstall military discipline and professionalism with the help of the base's previous interim leader, who happens to be his estranged daughter.

Haven is a contemporary, high-octane thriller about the heist of the century and the ordinary office worker, Zara Reed (Turner), who finds herself at the heart of it. A typical workday at a pension fund investment company, Lochmill Capital, is upended when a gang of violent thieves burst in and force Zara and her best mate Luke (Madekwe) to execute their demands. But who would steal billions of pounds of ordinary people's pensions and why? DCI Rhys (Fortune-Lloyd) is determined to find out, but as a recently relapsed gambling addict, Rhys must keep his own money problems at bay while dealing with the secret agendas and competing interests at the centre of this far-reaching crime. Set in Sydney's fictional Hartley High School, the original Heartbreak High was known for its raw and honest depiction of themes such as racism, suicide, domestic violence, drugs, homelessness and teen pregnancy – and for cementing eyebrow piercings and rollerblading as cultural phenomena. The first season centered on a discovery that made Hartley High student Amerie (Aysha Madon) an instant pariah among her classmates, and caused a mysterious and very public rift with her ride-or-die Harper (Asher Yasbincek). With her new friends – outsiders Quinni (Chloe Hayden) and Darren (James Majoos) – Amerie sought to repair her reputation while navigating love, sex, and heartbreak.

Horizon chronicles a multi-faceted, 15-year span of pre-and post-Civil War expansion and settlement of the American west. The Saga of two cultures that inevitably meet as a result of Westward expansion. It's a story of how towns came to be formed in the American West without regard for the people who had been there for thousands of years. It's a raw look at the violence and resourcefulness that people on both sides endured.

From 1972-1978, thirty-three young men were kidnapped, murdered and buried in a crawl space beneath their killer's house. And no one was the wiser. Not for all those years. Why? He was charming and funny. Had a good, All-American job. Was a community leader. He even volunteered to entertain sick kids... while dressed as a clown. 'Devil In Disguise: John Wayne Gacy' peels back the twisted layers of John Wayne Gacy's life while weaving in the heartrending stories of his mostly gay victims; exploring the grief, guilt, and trauma of their families and friends; and exposing the systemic failures, missed opportunities and societal prejudices that fueled his reign of terror. Juice is a surreal comedy that follows Jamma (Mawaan Rizwan) on his quest for attention as he navigates chaotic family dynamics and literally stumbles through love. Mum, Farida (Shahnaz Rizwan), always makes everything about her. Dad, Saif (Jeff Mirza), ignores him and brother, Isaac (Nabhaan Rizwan), steals the limelight at work – the one place Jamma feels like he's doing well. And when he finally does get the validation from boyfriend Guy (Russell Tovey), he can't handle it. When Jamma's emotions peak the world physically transforms around him. In the upcoming new series everything in Jamma's life is telling him to grow up. But as he tries to get good at love, he's haunted by family, friends and his former self.

The film tells the (mostly) true story of Henry Kissinger – a middle-aged, politically washed-up Harvard professor who, in 1968, travels to Paris at the height of its student protests and the dawn of the sexual revolution. Feeling energized, he crashes the Paris Peace Talks and changes the course of modern history. A few weeks later, Henry returns to America as the second most powerful man in the world – and even more astonishingly...as the least likely international sex symbol of the modern era. On the night of a full moon, Max Caine, 35, invites his estranged brother, Fred, 31, to their remote family home to reveal shocking news: he was attacked by a werewolf on a recent business trip to Vancouver. As the evening unfolds, it becomes clear that Max has lured Fred to the house in order to trick him into shooting him with silver bullets. Max is convinced he'll transform into a beast at midnight and will kill his beloved wife and daughter, for it is said that werewolves are tragic figures condemned to destroy the things they love the most in the world. Because schizophrenia runs in their genes, Fred believes Max is now afflicted with their family curse. But as the midnight hour approaches, the brothers' reunion takes a disturbing turn and ends in a way neither could have imagined.

A drama based on the real events surrounding the 1988 Lockerbie bombing and the joint Scots-US investigation which sought to bring the perpetrators to justice. Lockerbie will focus on the investigation into the crash on both sides of the Atlantic and the devastating effect it had on the small town and the families who lost loved ones. From the initial exhaustive search for evidence on the ground in Scotland, via the US and Malta to the trial at Camp Zeist in 2000, the drama goes right up to the most recent indictment at the end of 2022. The Long Walk takes place in the future in which 100 teenage boys embark on an annual competition known as “The Long Walk.” The rules are simple: maintain a speed above four miles per hour. Receive three warnings in an hour and you’re shot dead. The last one walking gets whatever he wants for the rest of his life. Under these grim circumstances the boys develop deep friendships despite knowing that each of their friends’ survival is a threat to their own. (July 15 - September 10, 2024)

Upon the discovery of her junior high diary, with all her dreams for the future, Lolly Blanchard (34), who runs her family's struggling diner, can't believe how her life has turned out. Her dad won't let her change anything at the diner, her sister wants to move to Bali, and her ex-boyfriend Rory Shaw is suddenly back in town, making things awkward. Then her eccentric Aunt Gert (80) gifts her with three magical lemon drops, telling Lolly if she eats one and names one of her unfulfilled dreams aloud, she'll spend an entire day in the version of her life if she had followed that dream. A final fourth drop will allow her to choose one of those lives permanently if she wants it. With her first lemon drop, Lolly spends a day running her own café as she'd always imagined, with the second she chooses a day with her late mom, and with the third she spends a day with Rory, if she had never ended things with him. As Lolly's perspective changes with each experience, she must face the messy reality of any path she might have taken and choose the one that helps her become the person she wants to be.

It's been 50 years since the FBI had been embarrassed by the famous hijacking perpetrated by the elusive D.B. Cooper. 50 years of mockery, 50 years of dead ends, 50 years of failure. Well, the reckoning has come, and it's name is special agent Isaac Tanenbaum. Flawless in his career and riding high on recent achievements, Isaac is assigned the prestigious task of tracking down D.B. Cooper, bringing him to justice, and wiping away the blemish from the FBI's history. Together, with a ragtag crew of experienced investigators, Tanenbaum will uncover that digging up the past just leaves a lot of holes in the ground. The Mandalorian (aka Din Djarin) is a lone bounty hunter, who operates in the outer reaches of the galaxy. His life takes a dramatic turn when he is tasked with capturing a mysterious and adorable creature called Grogu — otherwise known as “The Child” or “Baby Yoda.” Instead of delivering Grogu to his clients, the Mandalorian develops a strong bond with the little one and becomes determined to protect him from various threats. Their journey forms the heart of the series, exploring the Mandalorian's evolving sense of purpose and responsibility as he navigates the challenges of a post-Empire galaxy. Florence, the 1550s. Lucrezia, third daughter of the grand duke, is comfortable with her obscure place in the palazzo: free to wonder at its treasures, observe its clandestine workings, and devote herself to her own artistic pursuits. But when her older sister dies on the eve of her wedding to the ruler of Ferrara, Modena and Reggio, Lucrezia is thrust unwittingly into the limelight: the duke is quick to request her hand in marriage, and her father just as quick to accept on her behalf. Having barely left girlhood behind, Lucrezia must now enter an unfamiliar court whose customs are opaque and where her arrival is not universally welcomed. Perhaps most mystifying of all is her new husband himself, Alfonso. Is he the playful sophisticate he appeared to be before their wedding, the aesthete happiest in the company of artists and musicians, or the ruthless politician before whom even his formidable sisters seem to tremble? As Lucrezia sits in constricting finery for a painting intended to preserve her image for centuries to come, one thing becomes worryingly clear. In the court's eyes, she has one duty: to provide the heir who will shore up the future of the Ferranese dynasty. Until then, for all of her rank and nobility, the new duchess's future hangs entirely in the balance.

PRODUCER: Luc Déry - Kim McCraw - Alain Farah WRITER/DIRECTOR: Philippe Falardeau

Alain marries Virginie in the crypt of the Saint-Joseph oratory of Mont-Royal. On the surface, it will be the happiest day of his life – of their lives. Everyone is there, the bride's parents, the great friend, the narrator's parents – Lebanese from Egypt who immigrated to Quebec thirty years ago, divorced for twenty, who haven't spoken to each other for ten. But, as the celebration approaches, Alain is worse than ever. Insomnia is back, anxiety and illness too. And today, his cousin Édouard, his best man, his brother, is losing his footing, carried away by the crazy mechanics of a denial of biblical proportions. Alain prays that fate spares them, so that this great day will be one of them. one of celebration and healing. But a name resurfaces at the turn of a sentence, a cursed name brought up from the depths of his memory, where the shame and pain of the dark years lie, a name that is soon joined by a voice, a body, a story. A ghost becomes flesh, which has many faces. And everything we wanted to forget, everything we refused to see, everything we hated comes to claim its due. As we make our bed we go to bed. When Emily Lane isn't busy running her charming Christmas-themed store, "Under the Mistletoe," located in the quaint tourist town of Fletcher's Grove, she finds herself compelled to investigate not so quaint local murders. On the surface, Emily is a perfectly lovely, good-natured puzzle-solver and mystery lover. But she is hiding a secret past from everyone in town. And when Emily begins her personal investigations, Detective Constable Sam Wilner, a smart and attractive local cop - with a crush on Emily that is not completely unrequited - begins to wonder if there's more to Emily than meets the eye.

Monarch: Legacy of Monsters tracks two siblings following in their father's footsteps to uncover their family's connection to the secretive organization known as Monarch. Clues lead them into the world of monsters and ultimately down the rabbit hole to Army officer Lee Shaw (played by Kurt Russell and Wyatt Russell), taking place in the 1950s and half a century later where Monarch is threatened by what Shaw knows. The dramatic saga – spanning three generations – reveals buried secrets and the ways that epic, earth-shattering events can reverberate through our lives. (w/ "HOURGLASS")

Monsanto tells the true story of young, untried attorney Brent Wisner (Powell), who takes on a seemingly insurmountable case against the giant U.S. chemical company Monsanto on behalf of Dewayne "Lee" Johnson (Mackie). Johnson used the company's best-known product, Roundup, a wildly financially successful weed and grass pesticide killer, as part of his job as a high school groundskeeper and is now suffering illnesses. Dern will play a Monsanto's chief toxicologist who, of course, testifies that the product is safe.

Feng Xia, a 52-years-old Chinese immigrant, lives in Montreal with her husband and their two children. They look like a peaceful family, but husband and wife, are both going through their mid-life crisis. Feng Xia decides to confront a taboo that she has repressed since her youth: she's a lesbian. She meets Camille, a 30-years-old Quebecer via a lesbian dating site and she develops a secret affair with her. The two lonely women experience both friendship and love, while helping each other through their respective crisis. Feng Xia is inhabited by a heartbreaking dilemma: respecting her family commitment or letting herself be carried away by the deliverance that her new love affair gives her. She has no choice but to face her fear and the powerful morality of her culture. This confrontation leads her to blossom sexually, to experience the youthful love she missed, and ultimately, to face her new destiny. (August 15 - September 30, 2024)

Barely 30, Lynette is exhausted. Saddled with bad credit and juggling multiple jobs, some illegally, she's been diligently working to buy the house she lives in with her mother and developmentally disabled brother Kenny. Portland's housing prices have nearly quadrupled in 15 years, and the owner is giving them a good deal. Lynette knows it's their last best chance to own their own home - and obtain the security they've never had. While she has enough for the down payment, she needs her mother to cover the rest of the asking price. But a week before they're set to sign the loan papers, her mother gets cold feet and reneges on her promise, pushing Lynette to her limits to find the money they need. Set over two days and two nights, The Night Always Comes follows Lynette's frantic search - an odyssey of hope and anguish that will bring her face to face with greedy rich men and ambitious hustlers, those benefiting and those left behind by a city in the throes of a transformative boom. As her desperation builds and her pleas for help go unanswered, Lynette makes a dangerous choice that sets her on a precarious, frenzied spiral. In trying to save her family's future, she is plunged into the darkness of her past, and forced to confront the reality of her life. (May 14 - July 2, 2024)

A young mother unsatisfied with her seemingly perfect suburban life begins a torrid, erotic affair with the monster in her son's closet — a sexy, doesn't-give-a-fuck boogeyman called the Nightbeast. Every night, Amy escapes into a dream-logic realm beyond the closet door where she can live, party, and fuck the way she used to... without responsibility or repercussion. But Amy soon learns that there's no such thing as a harmless affair, even with an imaginary creature, as her two worlds increasingly begin to collide — with unexpected consequences for her family.

On Earth-90214 in the heart of New York City during the 1930s, Peter B. Parker loses his Uncle Ben to the Goblin and his carnie cronies. He then dedicates his time helping others at the houseless shelter that his Aunt May runs. While attending a rally where his Aunt May speaks out against the corrupt system that runs their city, Peter's passion for justice catches the eye of Ben Urich, a photographer at The Daily Bugle. When Goblin's Enforcers attack May and Peter, Ben defends the pair, and ultimately takes Peter under his wing at the Bugle. Peter confides in Ben about finding his uncle Ben killed and torn apart with rope marks on his body. He blames the Goblin's cronies and seeks to bring them to justice. When Peter discovers Ben is a heroin addict, drugged and unable to answer his phone, he gets a tip meant for the "Spider" that leads him to Goblin's goons at the Rooney Imports Warehouse on the pier. It's here that they're picking up a shipment of antiques previously headed to the Metropolitan Museum, and in dropping one of the containers, a bunch of spiders are let loose. One of them bites Peter and tells him a bite brings death to those of evil intent, but will bestow the curse of power on him instead. Peter receives arachnid-like abilities from the bite and becomes the Spider-Man. (aka "SPIDER-MAN NOIR")

About how the notorious Chicago mobster Sam Giancana, arranged the assassination of President John F Kennedy, as revenge for trying to bring down organized crime after the mob helped put JFK in the White House. The drama will focus on previously untold events that took place during the 48 hours before the assassination of America's 35th president in November 1963. The story will unveil the mob's version of the assassination—payback for JFK's snubbing of Giancana after he helped get Kennedy elected, and for Robert Kennedy's investigation into and attempt to dismantle organized crime. A mix of a crime story and an erotic, psychological thriller. It follows Oliver and Ciara, who, after meeting randomly in a supermarket, fall for each other fast, and dangerously hard. Fifty-six days later, homicide investigators arrive at Oliver's apartment to find an unidentified body—brutally murdered and intentionally decomposed. Did he kill her? Did she kill him? The series intercuts between an intense single day in the present investigation and the twisted trajectory of the young lovers' affair in the past. Inti Flynn (Olsen) arrives in Scotland with her twin sister, Aggie, to lead a team of biologists tasked with reintroducing fourteen gray wolves into the remote Highlands. She hopes to heal not only the dying landscape, but Aggie, too, unmade by the terrible secrets that drove the sisters out of Alaska. Inti is not the woman she once was, either, changed by the harm she's witnessed—inflicted by humans on both the wild and each other. Yet as the wolves surprise everyone by thriving, Inti begins to let her guard down, even opening herself up to the possibility of love. But when a farmer is found dead, Inti knows where the town will lay blame. Unable to accept her wolves could be responsible, Inti makes a reckless decision to protect them. But if the wolves didn't make the kill, then who did? And what will Inti do when the man she is falling for seems to be the prime suspect?

Faking it - as a princess! Unceremoniously dumped by her posh fiancé, Caro Cartwright's decided that when it comes to life (and men) - ordinary is good. Until an old friend begs her to stage a gossip-worthy royal diversion! Reluctantly, Caro packs her shamefully non-designer bags and prepares to masquerade as a European prince's latest squeeze... Used to pampered princesses, Philippe doubts Caro's ability to look the part, but soon her warmth and humour - and the odd fashion faux pas - are toppling hearts like dominoes! Meanwhile Caro's uncomfortably aware that their play-acting is increasingly convincing. It's a tempting fantasy - after all, Philippe is gorgeous - but in the real world ordinary girls don't become princesses - do they?

A romantic dramedy, revolving around the unlikely romance between a macho, blue-collar Italian widower and a retired dancer. Perlman will play recent widower Angelo who is forced to confront a deeply hidden personal truth when he meets and strikes up an unlikely friendship with openly gay dancer Edmond. Though he's never had the courage to admit it to himself, let alone his family, church and community, Angelo is gay. When Angelo's adult children and friends start to suspect he is dating a man, they do everything they can to shove him back into the closet. Navigating the fears and prejudices of everyone around him, Angelo must choose between fitting in and finally being true to himself. Better out late than never.

Sarajevo is a city where for centuries people of all faiths and origins have lived harmoniously. But war challenges that peace and turns friends against each other. In 1942, the Nazis sacked the city in search of antiquities of historic and monetary value, they were in search of the Sarajevo Haggadah. As significant a document as the dead sea scrolls, the Jewish and Muslim communities combine to work its safe passage out of the city. Becoming a symbol of unity and peace, the story of how this ancient text bound together people fighting for their lives is inspiring, touching and resonant.

An extraordinary biography of Isabella Blow (Riseborough), whose pedigree, wild style, and outrageous antics catapulted her onto the London social scene and made her a fashion icon. In 2007, the news of Isabella Blow's suicide at the age of 48 made headlines around the world—but there is more to the story of Isabella than her tragic end. The key supporter and muse of milliner Philip Treacy and designer Alexander McQueen, Blow was truly more than a muse or patron. She was a spark, an electrical impulse that set imaginations racing, an individual who pushed others to create their best work. Her fascination with clothing began early, as did a willingness to wear things—and say things—that would amuse and shock. She began her fashion career in New York City as assistant to Anna Wintour at Vogue. Over time she became famous for her work, yet it wasn't enough to assuage her devastating feelings of inadequacy. Still, in her darkest moments, even as she began a series of suicide attempts and prolonged hospital stays, Blow retained her wicked sense of humor, making her friends laugh even as they struggled to help.

Step into Fleet Ward, the psychiatric wing of an American hospital, and behold the grim underbelly of the US mental health circus. Tucked away in the heart of Central Florida's "The Villages," one of America's largest retirement communities, the ward illustrates society's knack for tossing aside the broken, the odd, and the forgotten, amongst the broken, the old, and the forgotten. Alice Armitage, an animated tenant who was once a cop, or so she claims, is wrestling with life behind padded walls after a messy bout with PTSD, a dab of self-medication, and a full-blown meltdown. Swapping her holster for a straitjacket, she's the star attraction in this circus of the damned. When a fellow inmate is murdered, Alice dons her detective hat, and takes on the case. But when her prime suspect becomes the second victim, her life begins to unravel as she realizes that she cannot trust anyone, least of all herself. In the gripping conclusion, as Alice delves deeper into the shadows of her own psyche, she unravels a twisted truth that upends everything she thought she knew.

The original film follows Alex Claremont-Diaz (Perez), who upon his mother's (Uma Thurman) election as President, is promptly cast as the American equivalent of a young royal. Handsome, charismatic, brilliant — his image is pure millennial-marketing gold for the White House. There's only one problem: Alex has a long-running feud with his royal counterpart across the pond, Prince Henry (Galitzine). And when the tabloids get hold of a photo involving an altercation between the two, U.S./British relations take a turn for the worse. Heads of family, state, and other handlers devise a plan for damage control: staging a truce between the two rivals. What at first begins as a fake, Instagramable friendship grows into something more meaningful than either Alex or Henry could have imagined. Soon Alex finds himself hurtling into a secret romance with a surprisingly unstuffy Henry that could complicate his mother's re-election campaign and upend two nations, and begs the question: Can love save the world after all?

Revival is set on one miraculous day in rural Wisconsin when the recently deceased suddenly rise from their graves. But this is no zombie story as the “revived” appear and act just like they once were. When local Officer and single mother Dana Cypress is unexpectedly thrown into the center of a brutal murder mystery of her own, she's left to make sense of the chaos amidst a town gripped by fear and confusion where everyone, alive or undead, is a suspect.

Starting over isn't easy, especially for small-town guy John Nolan who, after a life-altering incident, is pursuing his dream of being an LAPD officer. As the force's oldest rookie, he's met with skepticism from some higher-ups who see him as just a walking midlife crisis. If he can't keep up with the young cops and the criminals, he'll be risking lives including his own. But if he can use his life experience, determination and sense of humor to give him an edge, he may just become a success in this new chapter of his life. (June 18 - January 27, 2025)

A 17th-century drama set in the aftermath of the Thirty Years' War, the film sees Hüller play the titular Rose, an enigmatic soldier who surfaces in an isolated Protestant village, purporting to be the heir to a long-deserted estate. While attempting to integrate into the village society and pondering an arranged marriage with a local farmer's daughter, the soldier's true identity is questioned by both villagers and an old servant residing on the estate. Hüller's character is inspired by numerous documented accounts of women disguised as men in European history.

At 16, Emily is responsible for a freak traffic accident that takes the life of a child. At 22, Emily inadvertently causes another tragedy and is left inconsolably convinced that she is forever cursed to hurt people. But at the advice of her mother, Emily enrolls as a counselor for a summer camp dedicated to helping troubled youth. The hope is that Emily may better process her grief in the company of those grappling with similar hardships. Upon arriving at CAMP, Emily is introduced to a mysterious, but charismatic group of female counselors (Rosie, Hope, Nev, and Clara) who lure her into a secret coven of late-night parties and rituals that seem at odds with the camp's otherwise religious and conservative veneer. The first few nights of partying help distract Emily from her pain, but before long she is confronted by her past in the form of Eden, a young camper who bears a striking resemblance to the child whose death Emily blames on herself. As Emily's connection with Eden grows, so does a suffocating guilt, but salvation might lie in the strange ceremonies practiced by her new friends. The women at the camp appear to be able to channel a higher power from the forest - an entity that gives them a supernatural ability to re-shape their reality for the price of flesh and blood. Soon Emily must decide if she is to face the specters of her suffering alone, or instead indulge in the weird ways of her new friends - but at the cost of her soul. (aka “CAMP”)

In 1963 Washington, D.C., the holiday season is clouded by JFK's recent assassination. Thirteen-year-old Arthur Owens, grappling with his father's recent passing, lashes out in anger at a local “Junk Man,” resulting in four months of community service. His community's judgment leaves Arthur isolated, with schoolmates shunning him and teachers treating him as a lost cause. Assigned to collect junk, Arthur finds solace amongst the debris, some pieces stirring memories of his dad. Eventually, as Arthur witnesses these seemingly worthless objects transform into the “Junk Man's” art, he embarks on a parallel journey, seeing value in himself and more than the lost soul reflected in everyone else's eyes. Amidst themes of healing and second chances, Arthur forms an unlikely bond with the “Junk Man,” who recognizes Arthur's inherent worth. The story delves into the healing power of relationships and the importance of seeing beyond surface judgments.

A bold English adventurer. An invincible Japanese warlord. A beautiful woman torn between two ways of life, two ways of love. All brought together in an extraordinary saga of a time and a place aflame with conflict, passion, ambition, lust, and the struggle for power. Set in the year 1600, it tells the story of a bold English pilot whose ship was blown ashore in Japan, where he encountered two people who were to change his life: a warlord with his own quest for power, and a beautiful interpreter torn between two ways of life and two ways of love. The principal figures are John Blackthorne, whose dream it is to be the first Englishman to circumnavigate the globe, to wrest control of the trade between Japan and China from Portuguese, and to return home a man of wealth and position; Toranaga, the most powerful feudal lord in Japan, who strives and schemes to seize ultimate power by becoming Shogun—the Supreme Military Dictator—and to unite the warring samurai fiefdoms under his own masterly and farsighted leadership; and the Lady Mariko, a Catholic convert whose conflicting loyalties to the Church and her country are compounded when she falls in love with Blackthorne, the barbarian intruder.

Neal Maven returns to Boston from his tour in Iraq only to discover that the country he vowed to protect has little use for him now. Armed with a highly specialized set of skills he can't use and bitter toward the rest of his generation -- the men and women who remained stateside, and are therefore years ahead of him both personally and professionally -- Maven fears he is near his breaking point. And then he meets Brad Royce. Royce is everything Maven wants to be: a fellow vet, charismatic and confident, principled, wealthy, and with a beautiful woman on his arm. Not just any beautiful woman, but Danielle Vetti -- the most stunning girl from Maven's high school. Literally the girl of his dreams. Royce offers Maven a much-needed job, and Maven soon finds himself a part of Royce's team of "sugar bandits," a group of fellow veterans who use their military skills to intercept major drug deals, taking the dirty money while destroying the product -- a get-rich scheme with a clear moral imperative. Though exceedingly dangerous and certainly illegal, the efforts of these modern-day Robin Hoods provide Maven with the adrenaline charge he's craved since his decommission. Besides, Maven can't resist the chance to be in Danielle's orbit once again. Suddenly, Maven's life is better than he ever thought possible: a soldier in a civilian's world, he is once again able to do something he excels at, and rediscovers the camaraderie he's sorely lacked since his return. He can get into any club, eat at any restaurant, be with any woman he wants -- except, of course, his dream girl. It's almost too good to be true.

Kara Zor-El has seen some epic adventures over the years, but she now finds her life without meaning or purpose. Here she is, a young woman who saw her planet destroyed and was sent to Earth to protect a baby cousin who ended up not needing her. What was it all for? Wherever she goes, people only see her through the lens of Superman's fame. Just when Supergirl thinks she's had enough, everything changes. An alien girl seeks her out for a vicious mission. Her world has been destroyed, and the bad guys responsible are still out there. She wants revenge, and if Supergirl doesn't help her, she'll do it herself, whatever the cost. Now a Kryptonian, a dog, and an angry, heartbroken child head out into space on a journey that will shake them to their very core. (Release Date: June 26, 2026)

In Ted, the series, it's 1993 and Ted the bear's moment of fame has passed, leaving him living with his best friend, 16-year-old John Bennett (Burkholder), who lives in a working-class Boston home with his parents and cousin. Ted may not be the best influence on John, but when it comes right down to it, Ted's willing to go out on a limb to help his friend and his family. Whigham will play Blaire Bennett, a smart and politically correct college student who's living with her Uncle Matty, Aunt Susan and younger cousin John. She is not afraid to be outspoken and frequently clashes with her more traditionalist family. Grimes will play Matty Bennett, a blustering, blue-collar Bostonian who thinks he is the unequivocal boss in the family, and doesn't like anyone challenging him, particularly his liberal-minded niece, Blaire.

About the inspirational life of Sherpa Tenzing Norgay and his summit of Mount Everest in 1953 alongside fellow outsider New Zealander Edmund Hillary. Hiddleston will star as Sir Edmund Hillary, and Dafoe as the English expedition leader, Colonel John Hunt. Tibetan born Tenzing Norgay, alongside New Zealand mountaineer Edmund Hillary, both outsiders on a British Expedition, defied insurmountable odds to achieve what was once thought impossible, reaching the summit of the world's tallest mountain, Mount Everest. After six previous attempts, Tenzing risked everything for one final venture. He had to navigate treacherous politics and perilous weather as he embarked on the most significant climb of his life. Through it all, he did so with humor, warmth, and generosity towards his fellow climbers, but also deep reverence and respect for the sacred Mother Goddess of his Mountain, Chomolungma.

On a hillside near the cozy Irish village of Glennkill, the members of the flock gather around their shepherd, George, whose body lies pinned to the ground with a spade. George has cared for the sheep, reading them a plethora of books every night. The daily exposure to literature has made them far savvier about the workings of the human mind than your average sheep. Led by Miss Maple, the smartest sheep in Glennkill (and possibly the world), they set out to find George's killer. The A-team of investigators includes Othello, the "bad-boy" black ram; Mopple the Whale, a merino who eats a lot and remembers everything; and Zora, a pensive black-faced ewe with a weakness for abysses. Joined by other members of the richly talented flock, they engage in nightlong discussions about the crime and wild metaphysical speculations, and they embark on reconnaissance missions into the village, where they encounter some likely suspects. There's Ham, the terrifying butcher; Rebecca, a village newcomer with a secret and a scheme; Gabriel, the shady shepherd of a very odd flock; and Father Will, a sinister priest. Along the way, the sheep confront their own all-too-human struggles with guilt, misdeeds, and unrequited love. (aka "3BF")

After the death of her father (a Park Ranger), Shae returns to Joshua Tree National Park to clear out their family house and sell it. Her boyfriend Chris, a photography professor at USC, accompanies her to ostensibly capture images in the park – but, more importantly, to surprise Shae with a marriage proposal. Local family friend and retired Park Ranger Larry is suspicious that Chris is only after Shae's money – and when a mysterious younger woman named Rachel (early-20s) is seen sneaking around with Chris, the plot thickens. When Shae's former high school sweetheart Burke, another Park Ranger, arrives on the scene, it looks like he might be the one to save the day – until shocking twists leave Shae battling for her life against the wrath of a deranged psychopath.

The biopic will chart the true story of Christy Martin's rise to become America's most well known female boxer in the 1990s — the female Rocky. A naturally gifted fighter, her life transformed in 1989 when she met her manager, and later husband, Jim Martin. Breaking boundaries, she became the first woman to sign with iconic promoter Don King, and the only female boxer to appear on the cover of Sports Illustrated. Her charisma, good looks and resilience in the ring won her an avid fanbase and propelled her to become welterweight champion. But behind the well-honed public persona, she tackled personal demons, toxic relationships, and a brutal attempt on her life.

We Were Liars is a tragic love story and an amnesia thriller set on a privately owned island off the coast of Massachusetts. It centers on the wealthy, seemingly perfect Sinclair family, who spend every summer on their private island. Gummer is Carrie Sinclair, the eldest daughter of a wealthy media mogul. Carrie thinks of herself as free-spirited, but her bohemian sweaters are the finest cashmere, her funky jewelry made of ancient jade. She was once the most rebellious of her sisters, but her wild days are seemingly over. She loves her two sons ferociously, but during a turbulent summer on her parents' private island, her sobriety, and her ability to be a stable force in her boys' lives is threatened. FitzGerald portrays the cool and polished Penny Sinclair whose favorite snack is exactly six unsalted almonds, and her expensive athletic wear always matches. She breeds golden retrievers and finds it much easier to connect to dogs than to people — undoubtedly a contributing factor in the messy divorce she's currently navigating. Her sense of self-worth is a house of cards built on her family's wealth and power — and she will seemingly do anything to maintain it. King plays Bess Sinclair, the youngest Sinclair sister. Bess never has a hair out of place, and if she gets her way (which she usually does) her three children wouldn't, either. She sits on five philanthropic boards, never misses a PTA meeting, and is happily married to a man her father deems worthy of the family dynasty. At least, they seem happy, posing together in the Boston society pages. This summer, her perfect family image is dangerously close to shattering... and it may be all her fault. This is a family series based on the bestselling novel by Janette Oke following the story of young schoolteacher Elizabeth Thatcher, who has just arrived in a 19th century coal mining town in the Western Frontier, worlds away from the wealthy, high-society life she grew up with. Elizabeth arrives in the aftermath of a mine explosion that claimed the lives of most of Coal Valley's men, leaving behind their widows — including kind-hearted Abigail Stanton who befriends Mountie Bill Avery, a forensic specialist who has been called to the town to help investigate the mining explosion. As Elizabeth adapts to the frontier lifestyle, she also warms up to handsome Constable Jack Thornton.

The story centers on two 14-year-old boys, Henry and Charlie, who have been best friends since Kindergarten. Their friendship is tested when Henry makes a slew of birthday wishes, after his worst day ever, on a mysterious watch that forces them into a time loop repeating that same day over and over again. The stakes are raised when, after enjoying their new found life of no consequences, they find that they are aging and can die. They discover the watch will only let them out if they can make all of Henry's wishes come true. Defeating bullies, perfecting Henry's singing performance at the school dance, hitting softballs, passing a history test, and winning the heart of the meanest shrew in school, all push Henry and Charlie's relationship and their future to the brink. Will Henry and Charlie be able to work together to complete all these wishes on the same day or will they wake up as 50-year-old men in their teenage beds? This film, set to the classic music of the 50s, takes us back to the unforgettable John Hughes style movies, bringing us back to our young high school days, facing the familiar challenges of trying to fit in and be popular, discovering who we are, and finding love in unexpected places. Witches X is a harrowing modern horror story centered around a grunge band caught in a spiral of violence and societal prejudice. The narrative begins with a shocking incident at a concert, where a gunman attacks the audience, injuring the band members - Izzy, a BIPOC, queer, and anarchistic lead singer; Alice, a trans female drummer and pleaser; and Bridge, the group's guitarist who copes through denial. One year later the band gets together, still traumatized, to write an album. But the band's retreat quickly turns sinister. As they settle into a seemingly desolate cabin, they are plagued by ominous signs and a growing sense of unease. This tension escalates when Izzy, Alice, and Bridge realize they're being stalked, and the stalker knows where they are. Worse, the band discovers a more sinister conspiracy and a town steeped in dark secrets and religious fanaticism. As Witches X goes deeper into their music, and Izzy starts to fall in love, the narrative takes a grim turn. The climax is a chilling commentary on the extremities of human cruelty and religious perversion. A story about hatred and redemption, Witches X speaks to our times, and a world where the real horror is society, not love.

Centered on the murder of Rachel Nickell, which was witnessed by her son Alex Hanscombe on the Wimbledon Common, he and his father, André, tell their story. Based on the memoir and experiences of Alex and André Hanscombe The Witness, takes us on their journey from 1992 through to the early 2000's as they deal with the devastating impact of Rachel's brutal murder on their lives. His father André – becoming a single parent overnight – put his own grief to one side and made Alex the centre of his world. Navigating the unscrupulous media furore and the urgency of an increasingly desperate police investigation, his sole concern became the welfare of his tiny, traumatized son. Who also happened to be the only eyewitness to the attack. This is the story of how a father and son made it through the aftermath of an unimaginable tragedy, through darkness and into light.

In the late 1700's, Isabel, a European governess of mixed descent, arrives in Colonial Latin America to an hacienda in the middle of the jungle. Here, her main task is to educate two girls into becoming proper God-fearing women. Isabel struggles to find a place in the household – she looks like the other women working in the house under slaving conditions, but doesn't speak their language and, being from Europe, holds a more privileged position within the house – while still being “beneath” the family. As the patriarchal and racist structures become more evident, an invisible wilderness – a resistance – starts to grow within the women in the house, regardless of class or race. As the jungle silently starts to take over the hacienda, Isabel's Christian beliefs of what a woman should be are torn down – giving way to the prohibited wilderness growing inside her as well. As she for the first time finds belonging in her surrounding sisterhood, liberation from the patriarchal oppression comes in the form of nature and its creatures. One by one, the women welcome an unapologetic force not only into the house, but also into their bodies – an animal that would rather tear everything down than be contained.

What can you say about Sherlock Holmes? But our Sherlock is not that Sherlock, not yet. He is not yet The Great Detective. This is an origin story, of how Sherlock Holmes becomes Sherlock Holmes. Our Sherlock is 19 years old. He is young, raw, unformed, unfiltered, from a hugely dysfunctional family, a broken young man trying to find his place in this world, trying to make sense of the chaos, trying to find control again after his family was ripped apart by the death of his young sister and his mother, driven mad with grief, was committed to an asylum. The Z-Suite is set at a boutique New York ad agency where generational divides see the established C-Suite and rising Gen Z employees collide. After a company decision spirals out of control, the agency's reigning executives are pushed out and the Z-Suite employees are suddenly put in charge, ultimately testing both generations' skills and patience. Graham plays Monica Frazier, an advertising agency mogul who is fired as CEO and finds herself clawing her way back into the company she helped build.
