In The Dark Forest, Earth is reeling from the revelation of a coming alien invasion-in just four centuries' time. The aliens' human collaborators may have been defeated, but the presence of the sophons, the subatomic particles that allow Trisolaris instant access to all human information, means that Earth's defense plans are totally exposed to the enemy. Only the human mind remains a secret. This is the motivation for the Wallfacer Project, a daring plan that grants four men enormous resources to design secret strategies, hidden through deceit and misdirection from Earth and Trisolaris alike. Three of the Wallfacers are influential statesmen and scientists, but the fourth is a total unknown. Luo Ji, an unambitious Chinese astronomer and sociologist, is baffled by his new status. All he knows is that he's the one Wallfacer that Trisolaris wants dead.

A period action drama, is set in the Old West. It follows a group of diverse, outlier families pursuing their Manifest Destiny in 1850s Oregon when a corrupt force of wealth and power, coveting their land, tries to force them out. These abandoned souls, the kind of lost souls living on the fringe of society, unite their tribes to form a family and fight back. In this bloody process, “justice” is stretched beyond the boundaries of the law. The Abandons will explore that fine line between survival and law, the consequences of violence, and the corrosive power of secrets, as this family fights to keep their land. Headey will play Fiona, a strong, devout matriarch who, unable to have her own children, took in four orphans to create her own family. Driven by a higher purpose – and a strong-willed Irish temper – her faith and love for her family trump all. Anderson will play Constance, the matriarch of the wealthy Van Ness family who inherited her husband’s mining fortune, then doubled it. Despite the town’s inherent bias against women, her money, charm, and ruthlessness created a network of political allies. For her, power, wealth, and lineage trumps all. (May 14 - October 17, 2024)

A workplace comedy about a group of teachers brought together in one of the worst public schools in the country, simply because they love teaching. The teachers will rely on each other to make it through the day, and find a way to counteract the school district’s bullshit attitude toward educating children. The eternally optimistic Janine is in her second year teaching at an underfunded, underserved elementary school in her hometown of Philadelphia, where she comes up against jaded but devoted teachers, children in challenging situations and a principal who’s basically out to lunch.

It is the zombie apocalypse and Adam and Amy have just out run a gang of flesh-eating zombies. The good news is, they’re safe. Hiding out in an abandoned pizza delivery car. The bad news is, they’re trapped in a car with no keys and surrounded by hungry zombies. Even worse news is that they are alone together. You see Adam and Amy used to be married. They used to be in love. They used to think they were each other’s one and only. And now that they might actually be the one and only man and woman left on the planet, it’s time they figure out what went wrong and give this relationship one last shot. And as painful as that might sound, it’s still not the worst news yet. One of them is hiding a secret that will not only change their relationship forever, it will determine if they live or die.

Adolescence tells the story of 13-year-old Jamie who commits a terrible crime. With the help of his dad Chris, psychologist Briony, and Detective Inspector Bascombe we delve into Jamie's troubled mind. The story revolves around Jamie who fatally stabs his classmate. In the aftermath he is arrested and denies the murder. Although there is seemingly video evidence of Jamie he maintains that he is innocent throughout. Jamie is not a popular kid in school and is bullied and labelled as an 'incel' online by his classmates. Jamie's behavior can be strange, making others feel uncomfortable in his presence. He speaks like someone far beyond his years, but in moments we can still see clear glimpses of a very young, scared and innocent child shining through. (May 2024 - August 2024)

Avatar: The Last Airbender takes place in a world that is divided into four nations: the Water Tribes, the Earth Kingdom, the Fire Nation, and the Air Nomads. "Benders" are people that have the ability to telekinetically manipulate and control the element corresponding to their nation, using gestures based on Chinese martial arts. The "Avatar" is the only individual with the ability to bend all four elements. The four nations once lived in harmony, with the Avatar, master of all four elements, keeping peace between them. But everything changed when the Fire Nation attacked and wiped out the Air Nomads, the first step taken by the firebenders towards conquering the world. With the current incarnation of the Avatar yet to emerge, the world has lost hope. But like a light in the darkness, hope springs forth when Aang (Gordon Cormier), a young Air Nomad — and the last of his kind — reawakens to take his rightful place as the next Avatar. Alongside his newfound friends Sokka (Ian Ousley) and Katara (Kiawentiio), siblings and members of the Southern Water Tribe, Aang embarks on a quest to save the world and fight back against the onslaught of Fire Lord Ozai (Daniel Dae Kim). But with a driven Crown Prince Zuko (Dallas Liu) determined to capture them, it won't be an easy task. They'll need the help of the many allies and colorful characters they meet along the way. Band is a diverse ensemble of passionate teens who navigate the chaos of adolescence while finding unity and belonging in their school's marching band. Star player Axel (Garcia), his fiercely loyal best friend Sasha (Eilers), sexy newcomer Simon (Fitzalan), heartthrob drummer Evan (Hall), friends, and lovers march under the watchful eye of their fearless leader Cole (Hickey) and his right-hand Zadie (Adams). As the adults navigate their personal lives and school politics while hiding secrets of their own, they will, alongside their students, ultimately confront their individual struggles and shared dreams. Amidst the highs and lows of coming of age in the 21st century, our teens will learn that their greatest strength lies in embracing differences, forging an unbreakable bond of chosen family and finding a hopeful tune of unity in a world of contrasts.

Gwen, a talented and offbeat teenage girl, is instructed by the narrow-minded administrators at her school to cover her artsy nude drawings with bathing suits in order to gain acceptance to the prestigious Art Camp. Her low-life but loving father, Joe, owns a strip club and offers to pay for the art school, but in exchange, the girl must gather dirt on her alcoholic, bed-hopping mother, Dora, for their custody battle. Torn between her estranged, immature parents, Gwen befriends her schoolmate, William, a nerdy, black teen raised by white parents, who is bent on a harebrained plan to form an advocacy group that will educate adoptees like himself about their African-American roots. William inspires Gwen to threaten legal action based on her constitutional right to free speech, allowing her to keep her nude drawings intact. Newly empowered, Gwen takes control of her life and she and William sneak away from the dysfunctional, bickering adults in their life to enjoy their newfound independence. The English language adaptation is set around an elite boarding school where everything, including the pecking order, is determined by underground gambling. In BET, the boarding school's hierarchy is upturned when Yumeko, a mysterious transfer student arrives from Japan with a dark secret and a gambling prowess that puts her in the crosshairs of the powerful Student Council. Ultimately, her revenge quest threatens to upend the school's status quo entirely. (May 21 - June 30, 2024 | aka "KAKEGURUI")

When a prominent Manhattan lawyer is murdered, two estranged sisters - one the dead man's widow, the other his ex - must set aside mistrust and old resentments...but can they escape their past? Though Chloe (Biel) was the younger of the two Taylor sisters, she always seemed to be in charge. She was the honor-roll student with big dreams and an even bigger work ethic. Nicky (Banks) was always restless...and more than a little reckless - the opposite of her ambitious little sister. She floated from job to job and man to man and stayed close to home in Cleveland. For a while, it seemed like both sisters had found happiness. Chloe earned a scholarship to an Ivy League school and moved to New York City, where she landed a coveted publishing job. Nicky married promising young attorney Adam Macintosh and gave birth to a baby boy they named Ethan. The Taylor sisters became virtual strangers. Now, more than 15 years later, their lives are drastically different - and Chloe is married to Adam. When he's murdered by an intruder at the couple's East Hampton beach house, Chloe reluctantly allows her teenaged stepson's biological mother - her estranged sister, Nicky - back into her life. But when the police begin to treat Ethan as a suspect in his father's death, the two sisters are forced to unite...and to confront the truth behind family secrets they have tried to bury in the past. Taking its name from the 1934 ballad written by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart, the film watches as Hart attempts to save face while celebrating his former partner Rodgers' great success on the night of his musical Oklahoma!'s Broadway opening. A prolific American songwriting duo known for their contributions to musical theater, Rodgers and Hart collaborated between 1919 and the early 1940s, with Rodgers serving as composer, and Hart as lyricist. During their time together, they created 28 stage musicals and penned more than 500 songs in total. In addition to "Blue Moon," iconic tunes from the duo include "My Funny Valentine," "The Lady is a Tramp," and "Bewitched, Bothered, and Bewildered," to name just a few. The partnership between Rodgers and Hart ended primarily due to Hart's increasing struggles with alcoholism and mental health issues, which made it challenging for him to work consistently. In 1943, Rodgers began a new collaboration with Oscar Hammerstein II to work on Oklahoma!, which was deemed revolutionary for its seamless integration of music, lyrics, and dance into the storytelling, setting a new standard for musical theater. The success of the show established Rodgers and Hammerstein as one of the most successful duos in musical theater history, leading to such other iconic works as Carousel, South Pacific, The King and I and The Sound of Music.

Boarders follows five talented black inner-city teens transported to an alien world – a British boarding school – after gaining scholarships to the prestigious St. Gilbert's. They set out to make the most out of the opportunity, despite their places only being offered as a poorly-disguised PR exercise to improve the reputation of the school. Series two sees a new era for St Gilbert's, with headmaster Bernard – who had brought the scholarship students into the school – suspended following a school rebellion. Now acting headmistress Carol Watlington-Geese (who also happens to be the mother of Jaheim's nemesis, Rupert) is at the helm – and she wants them gone.

Ian, the charismatic host of an online supernatural travel show with a large following, has recently come under scrutiny for fabricating some of the show's most prominent moments. When the next planned location withdraws from the season due to Ian's unfavorable media attention, the crew decides to make an unscheduled stop at a Bigfoot Museum in a rural mountain town. Recognizing that the museum alone won't provide enough content for the show, Ian is determined to discover where he and the group can actually encounter a Bigfoot. Locals at the museum direct them to a forested campsite known for Bigfoot activity. As night falls on the camp and mysterious howls begin to pierce the darkness, the crew soon realizes that tonight may be their last.

Everyone knows that Colin Bridgerton is the most charming man in London. Penelope Featherington has secretly adored her best friend's brother for...well, it feels like forever. After half a lifetime of watching Colin Bridgerton from afar, she thinks she knows everything about him, until she stumbles across his deepest secret...and fears she doesn't know him at all. Colin Bridgerton is tired of being thought nothing but an empty-headed charmer, tired of everyone's preoccupation with the notorious gossip columnist Lady Whistledown, who can't seem to publish an edition without mentioning him in the first paragraph. But when Colin returns to London from a trip abroad he discovers nothing in his life is quite the same - especially Penelope Featherington! The girl haunting his dreams. But when he discovers that Penelope has secrets of her own, this elusive bachelor must decide...is she his biggest threat - or his promise of a happy ending? (w/t "VAUXHALL")

It's something parents do every morning: Rachel Klein drops her daughter at the bus stop and heads into her day. But a cell phone call from an unknown number changes everything: it's a woman on the line, informing her that she has Kylie bound and gagged in her back seat, and the only way Rachel will see her again is to follow her instructions exactly: pay a ransom, and find another child to abduct. This is no ordinary kidnapping: the caller is a mother herself, whose son has been taken, and if Rachel doesn't do as she's told, the boy will die.

Criminal is described as an interlocking universe of crime stories. Criminal tells the interweaving saga of several generations of families tied together by the crimes and murders of the past. Jenkins will play Ivan, Leo's dad's best friend, who has always been an uncle figure to him. He used to be a robber and criminal, but is now currently suffering from dementia. Leo is trying to care for him but realizes he's more work than he can handle. Arjona plays Greta, a sharp-tongued top-level car thief and driver and the widowed mother of Angie. Ever since her husband died in a bank job gone bad, Greta has been battling with herself about how to escape the only life she's ever known – and the only place she's ever thrived. The problem is, she's good at this. She's looking for a big score, a lump of money she can use like a gun to shoot her and Angie out of this life and into another one.

The fascinating story behind the making of Bruce Springsteen's most surprising album, Nebraska, revealing its pivotal role in Springsteen's career. Without Nebraska, Bruce Springsteen might not be who he is today. The natural follow-up to Springsteen's hugely successful album The River should have been the hit-packed Born in the U.S.A. But instead, in 1982, he came out with an album consisting of a series of dark songs he had recorded by himself, for himself. But more than forty years later, Nebraska is arguably Springsteen's most important record—the lasting clue to understanding not just his career as an artist and the vision behind it, but also the man himself. Nebraska is rough and unfinished, recorded on cassette tape with a simple four-track recorder by Springsteen, alone in his bedroom, just as the digital future was announcing itself. And yet Springsteen now considers it his best album. Nebraska expressed a turmoil that was reflective of the mood of the country, but it was also a symptom of trouble in the artist's life, the beginnings of a mental breakdown that Springsteen would only talk about openly decades after the album's release.

Within the Directorate General for External Security (DGSE), a department called the Legends Office (LBDL) trains and directs remotely the so-called clandestine agents, immersed in foreign countries, whose mission is to identify people likely to be recruited as sources of information. Operating in the shadows, "under legend", that is to say under a fabricated identity from scratch, they live for many years in permanent concealment. Guillaume Debailly, alias Paul Lefebvre, alias Malotru, returns from a six-year clandestine mission in Syria, but in violation of security rules, he does not seem to have abandoned his legend and the identity under which he lived in Damascus. His love affair with the Syrian Nadia El Mansour will seriously complicate things and in particular lead him to play a double game between the DGSE and the CIA.

Dexter: Original Sin follows Dexter (Gibson) in 1991 Miami, as a student transitioning into a serial killer in training. When his bloodthirsty urges can no longer be ignored, Dexter finds solace and understanding in Harry. As his only confidant, he teaches Dexter a Code that's designed to help him find and kill people who deserve to die—all while avoiding getting caught by law enforcement. This is a particular challenge for young Dexter as he begins a forensics internship at the Miami Metro Police Department. (June 5 - November 28, 2024 | aka "DEXTER: ORIGINS")

Set in a near future Margate, against a backdrop of soaring inequality, The Dream Lands tells the story of Chance, a young woman who discovers life and love, while being forced to fight for her family's survival in a world that's crumbling around her. It's 2039 and temperatures are soaring, seas are rising, and the political climate is equally as menacing. Chance is living a life of crime just to get by, when her community is singled out for a government rejuvenation scheme, promising to bring her coastal town back to life. But when Chance falls in love with Franky, a girl with ties to the establishment, she and those closest to her begin to realize that all may not be as it seems. The Dream Lands is a thrilling voyage of romantic awakening and self-discovery, a defiant community fighting back. Part conspiracy thriller and part relationship drama, the story blazes with the enduring power of love and hope, in a world spinning out of control. (Early-August 2024 - Mid-December 2024)

A stunning and surprisingly contemporary tale of lust, betrayal, and murder. The revenge thriller follows the recently widowed Duchess who falls in love with her steward Antonio. Their union sets in motion a conflict with her cruel and vengeful brothers, The Cardinal and Ferdinand, who enlist the spy Bosola to keep her from escaping their control. The Duchess, born of riches, wants the freedom to marry for love, rather than position. Bosola, born of rags, dreams of nothing more than raising his social status. When their lives intersect, both suffer the cost of their desires.

Centers on Jan Randall (Sarandon), whose brain — affected with inoperable cancer — makes her deeply afraid of being trapped inside. Refusing to take medications that would reduce her final days to a hospital bed, she moves into a tent in her backyard. Determined to give her one last gift, her husband John courageously takes her on a trip around the world — on foot, in their own hometown, for what is truly the trip of a lifetime. Sarandon's Jan Randall is adventurous, confident and strong-willed. She retired after a successful career as a journalist, with both local and national recognition, and is fashionable without trying, bringing humanity and passion into everything she does. Macy plays John Randall, who is recently retired from the accounting department of a furniture company. He stays close to home and his life is practical. He likes things tidy and simple, with ironed jeans and a no-risk outlook on life...and his favorite color is beige. Cross will play Monica Freeman, the estranged sister to Jan Randall, who is deeply contemptuous of John and determined to secure for her sister all the comforts modern medicine can provide.

Audrey Moss has a busy life as an emerging visual artist in Manhattan. Upon the recent passing of her grandmother Molly, she returns to her hometown of Cold Spring, Minnesota to help her mother Kay wind-down the family business, a very popular antique store. ...Molly loved to find lost objects, jewelry and the like, just so she could return the items to see the look of joy on the faces of the rightful owners. She always included Audrey in this sleuth-like hobby and they created a special and lasting bond. So, Molly left her granddaughter one last adventure: to find the owners of five lost treasures Molly has left in Audrey's care, all before Christmas Day. She recruits former childhood friend Finn to assist in the search. He's a private investigator by trade, so a perfect match. Not only do they find the owners of these lost treasures, Audrey uncovers an attraction to Finn she didn't realize was there.

It is the summer of 1950 - and a series of inexplicable events has struck Buckshaw, the decaying English mansion that Flavia's family calls home. A dead bird is found on the doorstep, a postage stamp bizarrely pinned to its beak. Hours later, Flavia finds a man lying in the cucumber patch and watches him as he takes his dying breath. For Flavia, who is both appalled and delighted, life begins in earnest when murder comes to Buckshaw. "I wish I could say I was afraid, but I wasn't. Quite the contrary. This was by far the most interesting thing that had ever happened to me in my entire life". To Flavia the investigation is the stuff of science: Full of possibilities, contradictions, and connections. Soon her father, a man raising his three daughters alone, is seized, accused of murder. And in a police cell, during a violent thunderstorm, Colonel de Luce tells his daughter an astounding story - of a schoolboy friendship turned ugly, of a priceless object that vanished in a bizarre and brazen act of thievery, of a Latin teacher who flung himself to his death from the school's tower 30 years before. Now Flavia is armed with more than enough knowledge to tie two distant deaths together, to examine new suspects, and begin a search that will lead her all the way to the King of England himself. Of this much the girl is sure: Her father is innocent of murder - but protecting her and her sisters from something even worse. (August 12 - October 4, 2024)

For All Mankind explores what would have happened if the global space race had never ended. The series presents an aspirational world where NASA astronauts, engineers and their families find themselves in the center of extraordinary events seen through the prism of an alternate history timeline - a world in which the USSR beats the US to the moon. The propulsive third season of the alternate-reality series takes viewers to a new decade, moving into the early '90s with a high-octane race to a new planetary frontier: MARS. The Red Planet becomes the new front in the Space Race not only for the U.S. and the Soviet Union, but also an unexpected new entrant with a lot to prove and even more at stake. Our characters find themselves going head-to-head as their ambitions for Mars come into conflict and their loyalties are tested, creating a pressure cooker that builds to a climactic conclusion. Middle-aged couples Jack and Kate Burroughs, Nick and Anne Callan, and Danny and Claudia Zimmer are best friends who do everything together. As couples, they have weathered the flood of divorces that has beset their other friends. When one of the six decides to make a change in life, the other five are forced to examine their marriages, their friendships with one another, the true meaning of love, and their own personal foibles. Over the course of one year, the movie is set against the backdrop of four vacations they take together, one in each of the four seasons, with Antonio Vivaldi's associated suite of music introducing each. By their fourth vacation together, Jack feels that they need to "clear the air."

Chloe leads a team of software engineers who are working hard on a mysterious universal language translator that might just change the world. Her efforts are part of her company's Liaison Program, which pairs liaisons – experts and academics from various fields – with counterparts to test the translator's effectiveness. To retain the integrity of the testing, it is forbidden for liaisons and their counterparts to interact outside approved networks. Oddly, Chloe has witnessed liaisons forming deep, personal connections with their counterparts. Yearning for the same connection, Chloe requests a transfer to the liaisons. The day her transfer request is declined, Chloe receives an unauthorized message from a counterpart named Shawn, who is working on the counterparts' translator code. Shawn has found a way to covertly bypass the program's safeguards and proposes they collaborate on the translator directly. It's a risky move that could get them both fired, but it gives Chloe a much-needed edge in her work. Besides, interacting with Shawn seems the next best thing to officially being a liaison, so Chloe agrees to work secretly with Shawn. Over long days and nights working together via their ever-improving translator, Chloe and Shawn fuse into a close-knit team. For the first time in a long time, Chloe feels a growing connection with another human being. But like many of the liaisons, Chloe starts yearning for face-to-face contact with her new friend. She decides to risk her job and the program itself in order to find Shawn and meet him in person. Chloe's search for Shawn slowly uncovers a deeper mystery behind the Liaison Program. Through it, she learns how vital and urgent human connections really are.

The show is an epic drama that follows the millionaire titans of New York City in the 1880s. In Season 2, the Gilded Age was a period of immense economic change, of huge fortunes made and lost, and of fierce rivalry between old money and new. Nowhere is that rivalry more apparent than on East 61st Street, where Marian Brook and her thoroughly old money aunts, Agnes van Rhijn and Ada Brook, live opposite the stupendously rich George and Bertha Russell. The Russells are both fiercely ambitious, he financially, she socially, and they are determined to reach the highest echelons of New York. Meanwhile in Brooklyn, Marian's friend and confidant Peggy Scott forges her own path in the world of the Black elite. In this glittering world on the brink of the modern age, will the established rules of society prevail, or will the game change entirely?

Laura Cavendish (Wright) can't wait to meet the woman who's won her son's affection. Despite a successful career in television and a long, prosperous marriage, Laura's world revolves around kind, talented Daniel (Davidson). She pictures his new girlfriend, Cherry (Cooke), becoming a close friend and confidante ...one day, even a daughter-in-law. But although Cherry is beautiful and amiable, Laura can't warm to her. There's something about the possessive way she touches Daniel, the little lies Laura detects. Cherry seems to resent Laura, driving a wedge between mother and son - until one day Daniel is injured in a terrible accident. Six months later, with Daniel still in a coma and facing death, Laura makes a fateful decision - and carries out an astonishing deceit. A handsome doctor for a husband, with a trust fund and a family villa in Saint-Tropez - it was all supposed to be Cherry's. Now, instead of living with Daniel in his impeccable home, she's jobless and broke. And then Cherry discovers Laura's stunning deception. But Cherry is too clever, too ambitious to let her get away with it. She has already transformed herself into Daniel's dream woman. Now she'll become Laura's worst nightmare.

Set against the backdrop of a thriving distillery town in the Scottish Highlands, Glenrothan, the film will tell the story of two estranged brothers reuniting in the land of their birth. The last time they spoke was on the day of their mother's funeral when, following a violent exchange with their father, the younger of the two left their Highland home for America. Forty years later the brothers finally re-unite, back on Scottish soil and in the village that houses the family business - the Glenrothan Distillery.

Based on the life of Muhammad Ali. Growing up in the South, surrounded by racial bigotry and discrimination, Ali fought not just for a living, but also for respect and rewards far more precious than money or glory. He was named Sportsman of the Century by Sports Illustrated and the BBC. Ali redefined what it meant to be an athlete by giving hope to millions around the world and inspiring us all to fight for what is important to us. This is a multifaceted portrait of Muhammad Ali only he could render: sports legend, unapologetic anti-war advocate, outrageous showman and gracious goodwill ambassador, fighter, lover, poet, and provocateur, and an irresistible force to be reckoned with.

A Mexican boy who lives undocumented in the United States, who is led by a series of situations to become a boxing hero. Liborio, is an adolescent boy born in northern Mexico who at a young age was forced to swim across the Rio Grande and reach the United States. With vague memories of his origin, without identity and feeling lost, he finds a first refuge in the books that he secretly reads while watching the Chief's Bookstore. One day he sees Aileen pass by and falls completely in love with her, defending her from the harassment of a gang will cause the burning of the bookstore and the flight of Liborio. Alone and completely engulfed by physical and emotional pain, he must face a hostile landscape to which he does not belong. With nothing to lose, he is convinced to try boxing. And there he will find his voice, his brilliance and his identity. Liborio becomes wild, brusque, impatient, innocent, and good enough to take blows and deal them. The drama tells the story of life in the dystopia of Gilead, a totalitarian society in what was formerly part of the U.S. Facing environmental disasters and a plunging birthrate, Gilead is ruled by a twisted religious fundamentalism that treats women as property of the state. Season 5 follows June (Elisabeth Moss) in the aftermath of Commander Waterford's (Joseph Fiennes) murder and the consequences she must face for her role in the gruesome slaying. At a minimum, she will have to face off with his widow Serena (Yvonne Strahovski), and on some level Gilead. But mainly, she will be forced to redefine her identity and purpose, now forever changed. Meanwhile, Commander Lawrence (Bradley Whitford) works with Nick (Max Minghella) and Aunt Lydia (Ann Dowd) as he tries to reform Gilead and rise in power. But who knows what the Commander and Nick—who helped June get her hands on Waterford for the kill—have up their sleeves? Still in Canada, June, with the help of Luke (O.T. Fagbenle) and Moira (Samira Wiley), fight Gilead from a distance as they continue their mission to save and reunite with Hannah. (w/t "THE LIGHT")

Amateur ghost hunters Brian and Jane are looking forward to their upcoming wedding at a famous haunted inn, but their plans are stalled when Angelique, a ghost in an 18th century wedding dress, mistakes Brian for her long dead fiancé Malcolm. As soon as Angelique learns that the young couple's wedding is scheduled for the same date as her own interrupted ceremony, she vows to put a stop to the festivities. Angelique's growing distress over the upcoming nuptials begin to adversely affect her ghostly powers, causing lights to flicker, storms to brew, and alcohol to turn to vinegar. To calm Angelique and save their wedding from disaster, Jane and Brian try various methods to unlock the centuries old binds that keep the spirits apart, with unexpected and hilarious consequences. True love ultimately prevails, bridging the gap across time and space to allow Angelique and Malcolm to finally say "I do" alongside Jane and Brian.

Reed is a young man in his mid-20s trapped in a soul-crushing office job under the oppressive rule of his boss, Scott. His daily routine consists of menial tasks, constant belittlement, and a growing sense of insignificance. Eventually, Reed has a mental breakdown in front of his coworkers and is fired on the spot. He returns home to stay with his parents and their retirement community in Arizona. To show them that he's getting his life back on track, Reed hires Tess, a self-employed sex worker, for a week of companionship. Tess brings a mix of practicality and emotional intelligence, offering Reed fleeting moments of connection and introspection. The story reaches a climax when Reed's desperation to find meaning leads to increasingly erratic behavior. From awkward social encounters to self-destructive acts, Reed's journey is a darkly comedic exploration of his search for identity and fulfillment in a world that often feels indifferent.

A legal drama-meets-murder investigation with a dual-timeline mystery, The Holdout is set in Los Angeles and follows a woman (Adams) who finds herself playing multiple roles – juror, attorney, investigator, and suspect. Ten years after Maya Seale turns the tide in a hugely controversial verdict, a fellow juror is found dead in her hotel room, all evidence points to her. Now, she must prove her own innocence – by getting to the bottom of a case that is far from closed. As the present-day murder investigation weaves together with the story of what really happened during their deliberation, told by each of the jurors in turn, the secrets they have all been keeping threaten to come out – with drastic consequences for all involved.

The Hostel series is described as being a modern adaptation and an elevated thriller that's also a reinvention of the horror franchise that launched in 2006 and spawned two sequels. The original movie revolved around three backpackers as they headed to a Slovak city that promised to meet their hedonistic expectations, with no idea of the hell that awaited them.

A century before the events of Game of Thrones, two unlikely heroes wandered Westeros... a young, naïve but courageous knight, Ser Duncan the Tall (Claffey), and his diminutive squire, Egg (Sol Ansell). Set in an age when the Targaryen line still holds the Iron Throne and the memory of the last dragon has not yet passed from living memory, great destinies, powerful foes, and dangerous exploits all await these improbable and incomparable friends. Knight's Camp follows four bubble-wrapped teens at a medieval-themed summer camp. On the eve of the camp's famous Battle of Twin Bridge re-enactment, the teens ignite an old legend and are accidentally transported to the real battle in 1297 A.D., where they are tasked with saving one of their ancestors to preserve the future of their family lineage. Set in Scotland, the pic explores the juxtaposition between the lives of modern-day teenagers and the brutal reality of bygone medieval times.

In a remote corner of the North Atlantic, a group of friends fall down on their luck after their coal mining jobs dissolve due to a major fire. In a moment of questionable good luck, they get hired by an uncle to come work on his lobster boat. With money in their pockets and food on the table, the monotony of pulling up lobster pots turns upside down when the catch turns from lobster to bricks of hash, and later, kilos of cocaine. Soon, relationships get tested by outsiders and each other after an anonymous tip to Federal Agents brings an undercover officer to the otherwise sleepy town. The friends have to decide whether to stay the course or run for their lives before the paranoid and suspicious Uncle Huey turns from ships captain to undertaker.

In a dystopian future, fifty teenage boys join a brutal competition called The Long Walk; a walking marathon in which the last one alive is the winner. The walkers get three warnings if they stop along the Walk before they're shot by the supervising soldiers. For some, death comes naturally. Young Raymond Garraty starts the walk with a group of other boys who become his friends until their numbers drop and they must look out for themselves. (July 22 - September 17, 2024)

Henry, a disillusioned architect and recent father of twins, meets Alex, a dissatisfied dental hygienist with two grown daughters. The two share the same lunch hour, and a rather innocuous friendship begins. But once they upgrade from eating at the counter to sharing a booth in back, things start to spin out of control. Can they resist their impulses and preserve the institution of marriage? Or will their appetite for danger and excitement cloud their judgement and reduce them to a bowl of split pea soup?

It tells the story of Emilia Sauri. A woman who is born into a family ahead of her time and grows up amid the unpredictable and bloody Mexican Revolution. The series tells the parallel story of the growth of a country and the growth of Emilia. Two revolutions: History and public policy told from the intimate life of a woman, her family and her loves. Emilia was born in 1893, daughter of Diego Sauri, an apothecary who taught her everything he knew about remedies and gave her the passion to become a doctor; and Josefa Veytia, a traditional woman except for the fact that she has fallen in love with a man who has his feet firmly planted in the twentieth century. Along with them, Emilia grows up with her aunt Milagros: an independent woman who refuses to marry, is active in the political struggle of her time and teaches Emilia to be as free as she is; and Doctor Cuenca, the city doctor who teaches Emilia her first medical knowledge at a time when a woman wanting to be a doctor was unthinkable. By 1910, when Madero became a candidate and the Mexican Revolution began in earnest, Emilia was 17 years old and fell in love with those who would be the two great loves of her life: Daniel Cuenca, her childhood friend, already a revolutionary. Eager for change and war; and Antonio Zavala, a doctor whose main concern is peace. Mal de Amores is a romantic and erotic story, but it is not limited to being the story of a woman who chooses between two men. This is the story of a woman who chooses herself. A woman who becomes a doctor in the middle of a world at war, which perhaps is why she allows it; a woman who has to reconcile her desire to have it all: passion and peace at the same time. In that, she couldn't be a more contemporary woman. Emilia's story takes place between 1910 and 1920, from the ages of 17 to 27, Emilia grows together with her country until they both become who they should be.

The Morning Show explores the cutthroat world of morning news and the lives of the people who help America wake up in the morning. Told through the lens of two complicated women working to navigate the minefield of high-octane jobs while facing crises in both their personal and professional lives, The Morning Show looks at the power dynamics between women and men, and women and women, in the workplace. Season 3 left the fate of UBA once again up in the air after Alex (Aniston) manages to take down Paul Marks (Hamm) by logjamming the sale of UBA to his tech company, Hyperion. But now, it appears UBA will be merging with another media company to keep the network afloat, which could spell layoffs and restructuring to come in Season 4.  The biopic will tell the true story of the relationship between Welsh schoolmaster Philip Burton (Jones) and a wild young schoolboy called Richard Jenkins (Lawtey). Richard dreamed of becoming an actor, but his ambitions were in danger of being derailed by a combination of family trouble, the pressure of war, and his own lack of discipline. Mr. Burton recognized the raw talent in his pupil, and made it his mission to fight for him, becoming his tutor, strict taskmaster and eventually his adoptive father. Richard Jenkins would go on to become Richard Burton, the iconic actor nominated for seven Oscars and known for his turbulent marriage to Elizabeth Taylor.

Jackie does not like surprises. Chaos is the enemy! The best way to get her successful, busy parents to notice her is to be perfect. The perfect look, the perfect grades - the perfect daughter. And then... Surprise number one: Jackie's family dies in a freak car accident. Surprise number two: Jackie has to move cross-country to live with the Walters - her new guardians. Surprise number three: The Walters have 12 sons. (Well, 11, but Parker acts like a boy anyway.) Now Jackie must trade in her Type A personality and New York City apartment for a Colorado ranch and all the wild Walter boys who come with it. Jackie is surrounded by the enemy - loud, dirty, annoying boys who have no concept of personal space. Okay, several of the oldest guys are flat-out gorgeous. But still annoying. She's not stuck-up or boring - no matter what they say - but proving it is another matter. How can she fit in and move on when she needs to keep her parents' memory alive by living up to the promise of perfect? (July 22 - December 3, 2024)

A prequel to the long-running procedural, about young Leroy Jethro Gibbs. Narrated by Mark Harmon, NCIS: Origins begins in 1991, years prior to the events of NCIS, and follows a young Gibbs. In the series, Gibbs starts his career as a newly minted special agent at the fledgling NCIS Camp Pendleton office where he forges his place on a gritty, ragtag team led by NCIS legend Mike Franks. Molino will play Special Agent Lala Dominguez, a former Marine who navigates her 1990s male-dominated field with a steely resolve and a dark sense of humor. When a tormented Leroy Jethro Gibbs joins her team, the ensuing story between these two enigmatic outsiders is filled with sparks and turns that will keep the audience guessing. Schmid's Special Agent Mike Franks is a proud Texan who all but showers in his cowboy boots and sports a perfectly coiffed mustache that's as thick as his skin. As showcased on NCIS, Franks is a born leader with an unwavering moral compass who's determined to find justice by any means necessary.

The story follows Oliver (Jogia) and Ciara (Cameron), who, after meeting randomly in a supermarket, fall for each other fast, and dangerously hard. 56 days later, homicide investigators arrive at Oliver's apartment to find an unidentified body — brutally murdered and intentionally decomposed. Did he kill her? Did she kill him? Intercutting between an intense single day in the present investigation and the twisted trajectory of the young lovers' affair in the past, the series is both a crime story and an erotic, psychological thriller. Tyler, Channing, and Sammy Clauster have descended on their childhood home, with significant others and four-year-old twins in tow, for another good old-fashioned Christmas. Overwhelming holiday magic, as always, comes courtesy of their mom, Claire (Pfeiffer). They know she's thrilled to cook, wrap gifts, decorate, accommodate, play games, over-prepare every Christmas Eve Eve tradition, and still let Dad be known as the Fun One. It's her thing, right? Maybe the family should have paid closer attention. Because this year, something is a little off-key—and it's not just the carols.

Overcompensating is a college-set ensemble comedy about the wild, chaotic journey of Benny (Skinner), a closeted former football player and homecoming king, as he becomes fast friends with Carmen, a high school outsider on a mission to fit in at all costs. With guidance from Benny's older sister and her campus-legend boyfriend, Benny and Carmen juggle horrible hookups, flavored vodka, and fake IDs. Deeply funny and personal, the show explores the lengths to which we all overcompensate while on the path to finding out who we really are. (July 8 - September 20, 2024)

In this second installment in the series, Percy, Poseidon's 13-year-old demigod son, is desperate to rescue his friend Grover, captive of the bloodthirsty Cyclops Polyphemus, and to retrieve the healing Golden Fleece. The sheepskin is needed to restore the protection around Camp Half-Blood, the only safe haven for the children of gods and humans, heroes-in-training in our modern world. However, the camp has already been compromised and the quest for the Golden Fleece has been awarded to the bully Clarisse. Encouraged by Hermes, Percy sets off for the Bermuda Triangle anyway with his friend Annabeth and classmate Tyson, who turns out to be a half-brother and a Cyclops as well. The third chapter of the Power franchise, Power Book III: Raising Kanan is a prequel that takes viewers back to the '90s and the early years of the now-deceased iconic Power character Kanan Stark, portrayed in the original series by Curtis “50 Cent” Jackson. Miller will play Raquel Thomas. To the streets, Raquel “Raq” Thomas is cold, hard, and fierce; a successful and deadly woman taking names in a man's world. She is tough, resolute, ruthless and yet, Raq is still capable of love. Great love. The sole recipient of that affection is her son, Kanan – he is everything to her. As much as she cares for him though, there are many instances where one wonders if she loves him for who he is, or if she loves him merely as an extension of herself. The middle child of three, Raq also carries the heavy burden as the earner for her two brothers. Raq is the sun, and everyone else in her universe exists in her orbit. The extraordinary true story of the pressure-cooker environment facing the decision-makers behind D-Day, and how their liberation of Europe was entirely at the mercy of the weather. The story will hone in on Group Captain James Stagg, Chief Meteorologist at the Supreme Headquarters Allied Expedition Force, whose job it was to inform General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces, of weather conditions that would make-or-break the Allied invasion. Despite a prolonged heat wave and the tide and moon conditions aligning, Stagg made a bold case for the invasion being delayed from June 5 to June 6 to avoid an incoming front and ensure better conditions. German meteorologists had assumed the invasion wouldn't take place when it did due to the forecast of unfavorable conditions but the decision to delay by a day ultimately meant the Allies avoided the unexpected gales that did arrive on June 5 and gave them a window of opportunity to successfully carry out the invasion. The window of opportunity for the invasion couldn't have been any smaller. Had the Allies waited any longer the Germans would have spotted the build up of troops on the British coast, and soon after the operation the French coast was lashed by some of the worst storms in decades. The fates of millions of lives and the course of the war were resting on Stagg's decision and ultimately it paid off, as Eisenhower explained to Walter Cronkite in a potent CBS interview from 1964.

In his 40s, Aaron Tealey (McGraw) is an honest-to-God Texas hero, a cocksure rodeo star who wears a championship belt buckle for bull riding — but his body is a mess, a partly-mended sack of broken bones that threatens to go ragdoll every time he rides — a bull, a golf cart, anything. Gloria Soto is a teenage girl who could take away Aaron's belt buckle and his legend — one of these days, with proper mentoring, if she doesn't get herself killed. Naomi Soto, Gloria's mother, wants her daughter to stick to algebra and chemistry and stay far away from the rodeo ring (it should be called The Fool Killer). Two questions will be answered soon: 1. Which way will Gloria jump? 2. How hard will Aaron land? (August 19 - December 18, 2024)

Isabella Johnson is the only daughter of the Johnson family and she has never been the favorite. Her oldest brother, James Johnson, was always the family's crown prince and heir to the Johnson family fortune. Isabella was pressured to marry the playboy heir to the Stevens family and James' best friend, Paul Stevens. After a drunken, reluctant, marital one-night stand that results in a pregnancy, Paul divorces her the next day, having never found her attractive in the first place. She returns to her parents home but they chase her out as well, believing she was not even good enough to keep her husband. Her brother, James, was never there for her either and he never picks up his phone when his sister calls. Feeling completely alone and abandoned, she gets in her car and drives off into the night, still thinking about the divorce papers she just signed that state, "No child born out of the short marriage will be acknowledged as the heir to the Stevens fortune." With a small inheritance and a love for cooking, both of which she got from her grandmother, she starts a new life and small restaurant in a new city. Six years later, her small restaurant has grown into an empire as she finds herself the CEO of the most famous restaurant group in the States. Having grown into a strong, confident and attractive woman, she is ready to go back to her home city to take revenge on her family and ex-husband.

An epic drama that revolves around the friendship between the future Bolshevik revolutionary Simon Arshaki Ter-Petrosyan, also known as Kamo, and his childhood friend Soso, who would go on to become the dictator Joseph Stalin. Spanning 30 years between 1891 and Kamo's death in 1922, the Georgian-language "Revolution" is a portrait of the birth of the world's most murderous dictator told through the eyes of his best friend, ally, devoted disciple and henchman. It follows the story of the two men who grew up together in the small town of Gori: Stalin, or Soso as he was then known, who was born into extreme poverty, and Kamo, who was raised in a wealthy merchant family. After Soso leaves Gori to attend a seminary, the two are reunited in their late teens in Tiflis (modern-day Tbilisi), where the charismatic Soso has become an agitator and leader in the new revolutionary movement to bring down the monarchy. As the red political agitators becomes increasingly powerful in Georgia, Kamo is dragged alongside Soso into a world of gangland violence, murder and social upheaval.

After losing 20 straight games and running dead last in the four-team Triple A-level Northern Ontario Senior Hockey Organization (NOSHO), the Sudbury Bulldogs are faced with being completely shut down. Veteran player Shore ("Shoresy") in an attempt to save the team makes a bet with team general manager Nat that the team will never lose again if he's given a chance to take control. With the help of new coach Sanguinet, a roster of new players, and the dissolution of the team on the line, Shoresy sets out to prove that the Bulldogs can play as a team, get bums in seats, and make a name for themselves. Neal Maven returns to Boston from his tour in Iraq only to discover that the country he vowed to protect has little use for him now. Armed with a highly specialized set of skills he can't use and bitter toward the rest of his generation -- the men and women who remained stateside, and are therefore years ahead of him both personally and professionally -- Maven fears he is near his breaking point. And then he meets Brad Royce. Royce is everything Maven wants to be: a fellow vet, charismatic and confident, principled, wealthy, and with a beautiful woman on his arm. Not just any beautiful woman, but Danielle Vetti -- the most stunning girl from Maven's high school. Literally the girl of his dreams. Royce offers Maven a much-needed job, and Maven soon finds himself a part of Royce's team of "sugar bandits," a group of fellow veterans who use their military skills to intercept major drug deals, taking the dirty money while destroying the product -- a get-rich scheme with a clear moral imperative. Though exceedingly dangerous and certainly illegal, the efforts of these modern-day Robin Hoods provide Maven with the adrenaline charge he's craved since his decommission. Besides, Maven can't resist the chance to be in Danielle's orbit once again. Suddenly, Maven's life is better than he ever thought possible: a soldier in a civilian's world, he is once again able to do something he excels at, and rediscovers the camaraderie he's sorely lacked since his return. He can get into any club, eat at any restaurant, be with any woman he wants -- except, of course, his dream girl. It's almost too good to be true.

The Terror: Devil in Silver tells the story of Pepper – a working class moving man, who through a combination of bad luck and a bad temper, finds himself wrongfully committed to New Hyde Psychiatric Hospital – an institution filled with the people society would rather forget. There, he must contend with patients who work against him, doctors who harbor grim secrets, and perhaps even the very Devil himself. As Pepper navigates a hellscape where nothing is as it seems, he finds that the only path to freedom is to face down the entity which thrives on the suffering within New Hyde’s walls – but doing so may prove that the worst demons of all live inside him. Stella and Ellie Steckler are only a year apart, but their different personalities make their relationship complicated. Stella is single-minded, driven, and she keeps to herself. Cross-country running is her life and she won't let anything get in the way of being the best. Her sister Ellie is a talented runner too, but she also lets herself have fun. She has friends. She goes to parties. She has a life off the course. The sisters do have one thing in common, though: the new girl, Mila Keene. Both Stecklers' lives are upended when Mila comes to town. At first, Ellie and Stella view the new star athlete as a threat. But soon Ellie can't help but be drawn to her warm, charming personality. After her best friend moved away and her first boyfriend betrayed her, Ellie's been looking for a friend to share her secrets. Stella finds herself noticing the ways she and Mila are similar. Mila is smart and strong - she's someone Stella can finally connect with. As the two get closer, Stella becomes something she vowed she'd never be: distracted. With regionals approaching and college scouts taking notice, the pressure is on. Each girl has their future on the line and they won't let friendships get in their way. But then, suddenly, Mila goes out on a training run and never returns. No one knows what happened, but all eyes are on the Steckler sisters.

The Thursday Murder Club started out with a group of septuagenarians working on old murder cases culled from the files of club founder Elizabeth Best's friend Penny Gray, a former police officer who's now comatose in the village's nursing home. Elizabeth used to have an unspecified job, possibly as a spy, that has left her with a large network of helpful sources. Joyce Meadowcroft is a former nurse who chronicles their deeds. Psychiatrist Ibrahim Arif and well-known political firebrand Ron Ritchie complete the group. They charm Police Constable Donna De Freitas, who, visiting to give a talk on safety at Coopers Chase, finds the residents sharp as tacks. Built with drug money on the grounds of a convent, Coopers Chase is a high-end development conceived by loathsome Ian Ventham and maintained by dangerous crook Tony Curran, who's about to be fired and replaced with wary but willing Bogdan Jankowski. Ventham has big plans for the future—as soon as he's removed the nuns' bodies from the cemetery. When Curran is murdered, DCI Chris Hudson gets the case, but Elizabeth uses her influence to get the ambitious De Freitas included, giving the Thursday Club a police source. England, 1936. After a scandalous celebrity divorce, British tennis star Nevile Strange (Oliver Jackson-Cohen) and his ex-wife Audrey (Ella Lily Hyland) make the unthinkable decision to spend a summer together at Gull's Point, their childhood home and the coastal estate of Nevile's aunt, Lady Tressilian (Anjelica Huston). With unfinished business between the former childhood sweethearts, plus the presence of Nevile's new wife Kay (Mimi Keene), tensions are running high. Add to this a long-suffering lady's companion, a mysterious gentleman's valet, an exiled cousin with a grudge, a venerable family lawyer, an inquisitive orphan and a French con man, and soon there will be murder. A troubled detective must rediscover his purpose to untangle a toxic web of jealousy, deceit and dysfunction. Can he solve the crime before another victim meets their death?

When Cheryl "No Mercy" Stewart, a two-time former boxing champion and recovering alcoholic attempts to reconnect with the 19-year-old son she abandoned, she is met with a wall of resentment. The only thing stopping Keith Stewart, a street hustler and promising young fighter, from a world boxing title is his bad attitude. When he suffers an unnecessary loss because of his gambling-addicted trainer, he's forced to turn to the only person who has what it takes to get him to the top— his mother. Determined to right past wrongs and reclaim her glory, Cheryl trains her estranged son. Despite her struggles of addiction, and the threat of Child Protective Services taking her 7-year-old daughter away, Cheryl attempts to make boxing history and do what no other mother has ever done – train her son to a world championship title. The show would serve as a prequel to the 2006 film. In the Battle of Thermopylae of 480 BC an alliance of Greek city-states fought the invading Persian army in the mountain pass of Thermopylae. Vastly outnumbered, the Greeks held back the enemy in one of the most famous last stands of history. Persian King Xerxes led a Army of well over 100,000 (Persian king Xerxes before war has about 170,000 army) men to Greece and was confronted by 300 Spartans, 700 Thespians, and 400 Thebans. Xerxes waited for 10 days for King Leonidas to surrender or withdraw but left with no options he pushed forward. After 3 days of battle all the Greeks were killed. The Spartan defeat was not the one expected, as a local shepherd, named Ephialtes, defected to the Persians and informed Xerxes that the separate path through Thermopylae, which the Persians could use to outflank the Greeks, was not as heavily guarded as they thought.

Vee has talent and the drive to become a real star. To make her dream become a reality, she's leaving home in Transylvania to attend a prestigious music school in America – which poses a few challenges considering Vee is a vampire. Keeping her secret is one thing, and avoiding members of the Van Helsing family is another, but proving her skills at a school full of artists is another challenge entirely. With the help of some new friends and her annoyingly protective ghost Demi, Vee is ready to take on the world. (aka "VAMPIRINA")

The Way Home is a family drama that follows the lives of three generations of women within the Landry family — and it comes with a time travel twist. Kat Landry, her 15-year-old daughter Alice and Kat's estranged mother Del (MacDowell) are all strong, willful and independent. More than 20 years prior, life-changing events created a chasm in their family that time has yet to repair. Kat and Del still aren't on speaking terms. Alice has never met her grandmother and is unaware of the reasons for their fractured family. When the three generations come together under one roof for the first time in more than two decades, a surprising discovery unexpectedly sets the trio on a path toward healing and helps them find their way back to each other.

Abby and Leila are your typical sixteen-year-old pot heads. When their exasperated parents run out of patience with them, they are sent to Tall Pines, a correctional school in rural Oregon run by an unregulated, murderous cult. Once there, they face an existential battle to retain their friendship, their sanity - and their lives. At the same time, Detective Dempsey (Martin), struggling with a troubled past of their own, moves to Tall Pines at the bequest of their wife, who grew up there and wishes to return home to raise their soon to be born child. But when Dempsey discovers the truth about Tall Pines, and their wife's deeper connections to the evils the town protects, they must work with our two potheads turned heroes to take it down from the inside. We Were Liars is a tragic love story and an amnesia thriller set on a privately owned island off the coast of Massachusetts. It centers on the wealthy, seemingly perfect Sinclair family, who spend every summer on their private island. Gummer is Carrie Sinclair, the eldest daughter of a wealthy media mogul. Carrie thinks of herself as free-spirited, but her bohemian sweaters are the finest cashmere, her funky jewelry made of ancient jade. She was once the most rebellious of her sisters, but her wild days are seemingly over. She loves her two sons ferociously, but during a turbulent summer on her parents' private island, her sobriety, and her ability to be a stable force in her boys' lives is threatened. FitzGerald portrays the cool and polished Penny Sinclair whose favorite snack is exactly six unsalted almonds, and her expensive athletic wear always matches. She breeds golden retrievers and finds it much easier to connect to dogs than to people — undoubtedly a contributing factor in the messy divorce she's currently navigating. Her sense of self-worth is a house of cards built on her family's wealth and power — and she will seemingly do anything to maintain it. King plays Bess Sinclair, the youngest Sinclair sister. Bess never has a hair out of place, and if she gets her way (which she usually does) her three children wouldn't, either. She sits on five philanthropic boards, never misses a PTA meeting, and is happily married to a man her father deems worthy of the family dynasty. At least, they seem happy, posing together in the Boston society pages. This summer, her perfect family image is dangerously close to shattering... and it may be all her fault. This is a family series based on the bestselling novel by Janette Oke following the story of young schoolteacher Elizabeth Thatcher, who has just arrived in a 19th century coal mining town in the Western Frontier, worlds away from the wealthy, high-society life she grew up with. Elizabeth arrives in the aftermath of a mine explosion that claimed the lives of most of Coal Valley's men, leaving behind their widows — including kind-hearted Abigail Stanton who befriends Mountie Bill Avery, a forensic specialist who has been called to the town to help investigate the mining explosion. As Elizabeth adapts to the frontier lifestyle, she also warms up to handsome Constable Jack Thornton. (July 15 - November 5, 2024)
