Avatar: The Last Airbender takes place in a world that is divided into four nations: the Water Tribes, the Earth Kingdom, the Fire Nation, and the Air Nomads. “Benders” are people that have the ability to telekinetically manipulate and control the element corresponding to their nation, using gestures based on Chinese martial arts. The “Avatar” is the only individual with the ability to bend all four elements. The four nations once lived in harmony, with the Avatar, master of all four elements, keeping peace between them. But everything changed when the Fire Nation attacked and wiped out the Air Nomads, the first step taken by the firebenders towards conquering the world. With the current incarnation of the Avatar yet to emerge, the world has lost hope. But like a light in the darkness, hope springs forth when Aang (Gordon Cormier), a young Air Nomad — and the last of his kind — reawakens to take his rightful place as the next Avatar. Alongside his newfound friends Sokka (Ian Ousley) and Katara (Kiawentiio), siblings and members of the Southern Water Tribe, Aang embarks on a quest to save the world and fight back against the onslaught of Fire Lord Ozai (Daniel Dae Kim). But with a driven Crown Prince Zuko (Dallas Liu) determined to capture them, it won't be an easy task. They'll need the help of the many allies and colorful characters they meet along the way. The Bosch spinoff, follows Detective Renée Ballard (Q), who is tasked with running the LAPD's new cold case division—a poorly funded, all-volunteer unit with the largest case load in the city. Ballard approaches these frozen-in-time cases with empathy and determination. When she uncovers a larger conspiracy during her investigations, she'll lean on the assistance of her retired ally, Harry Bosch, to navigate the dangers that threaten both her unit and her life. Taylor will play Samira Parker, a wary, impulsive, and tough woman with a burning desire for justice. Growing up, most everyone Samira knew shared a healthy distrust of the police, but her grandfather, whom Samira looked up to as a kid, was on the force and believed in using his police badge to protect and aid his community. However, being a cop now is a different kind of challenge than it was back then. Five years after leaving the police force, Samira's former mentor, Renee Ballard, convinces her to return to the LAPD's Cold Case Unit, where she works to right the wrongs of the past and bring peace to families and victims, and in the process, Samira slowly restores her own sense of justice. The film's title refers to its subject: a Presidential limousine nicknamed 'The Beast' by the Secret Service. The impenetrable tank is stocked with grenades, shotguns, armor-plating and bullet-and-bomb-proofing. When a militia of unidentified hostiles coordinates a coup against the U.S. presidency, the President (Jackson) uncovers the extent of The Beast's highly classified offensive capabilities. Separated from his wife, the President must learn to control The Beast — and the monster inside himself — in order to save his life, the life of Secret Service agent Taft (Kinnaman), and America.

In The Beast In Me, since the tragic death of her young son, acclaimed author Aggie Wiggs (Danes) has receded from public life, unable to write, a ghost of her former self. But she finds an unlikely subject for a new book when the house next door is bought by Nile Sheldon, a famed and formidable real estate mogul who was once the prime suspect in his wife's disappearance. At once horrified and fascinated by this man, Aggie finds herself compulsively hunting for the truth — chasing his demons while fleeing her own — in a game of cat and mouse that might turn deadly.

In the universe of Blue Bloods, New York City is secretly ruled by an elite class of immortal vampires. But when one of their own disappears, they are faced with an existential threat: an ancient and evil breed of vampire has returned. Amidst this chaos, 17-year-old Sky, the first half-human-half-vampire, faces her own challenges as a newcomer to the prestigious Duchesne Institute. Previously exiled from the Blue Bloods, Sky must now find her place in this society — and as she does, she begins to uncover a rising evil that threatens the very existence of The Coven. The question is: will she be the savior of vampire society or its doom?

A scoundrel from the future intent on making a name for himself in the past, Booster Gold has nevertheless exhibited his share of heroism. When opportunity arises, you have to seize it! That’s an idea that has driven Mike Carter, a college football star of the 25th Century who earned the nickname “Booster” on the field. Even though people assured him a professional career of fame and fortune was in his future, he decided he couldn’t wait and wagered on his own games. The scandal halted his dreams of professional stardom and ruined his reputation. Taking a job as a security guard in the Metropolis Space Museum, Mike saw another opportunity after studying the early age of superheroes. With future and alien technology stolen from the museum, and a time machine that was on display, he realized he could not only become a superhero himself in a past era where his criminal history was unknown, but he could also make his good deeds profitable. With his robot pal Skeets at his side, Mike time-traveled to the modern age and debuted as Booster Gold. (Kumail Nanjiani mentioned for Booster Gold. Danny McBride, John Carcieri and Jeff Fradley mentioned for the creative team.)

It's three thousand miles from the green fields of glory, where Henry "call me Hank" Thompson once played California baseball, to the Lower East Side of Manhattan, where the tenements are old, the rents are high, and the drunks are dirty. But now Hank is here, working as a bartender and taking care of a cat named Bud who is surely going to get him killed. It begins when Hank's neighbor, Russ, has to leave town in a rush and hands over Bud in a carrier. But it isn't until two Russians in tracksuits drag Hank over the bar at the joint where he works and beat him to a pulp that he starts to get the idea: Someone wants something from him. He just doesn't know what it is, where it is, or how to make them understand he doesn't have it. Within twenty-four hours Hank is running over rooftops, swinging his old aluminum bat for the sweet spot of a guy's head, playing hide and seek with the NYPD, riding the subway with a dead man at his side, and counting a whole lot of cash on a concrete floor. All because of two cowboys, two Russian mafia men, and some of the weirdest goons ever assembled in one place. All because of Bud. All because once, in another life, in another world, the only thing Hank wanted was to take third base—without getting caught. (September 9 - November 22, 2024)

The half-hour comedy based on an Eli Manning sketch that aired on ESPN+, follows a hotshot quarterback (Powell) whose college career ends after bad behavior. He then disguises himself as the talented and affable Chad Powers, who walks onto a struggling Southern football team. Zahn will play Jake Hudson, the charismatic Head Coach of the show's flagging college football program. He's about to be put out to pasture when along comes the talented oddball Chad Powers (Powell) – and with him, one last shot at glory. Mattfield will play the sweet and smart Ricky, the first female assistant football coach in Catfish History (University of Nashville) who is also the daughter of Catfish Head Coach, Jake Hudson. On the job for two months, she is fast-talking, pumped and eager to play a key role in the upcoming season. Also canny, with a good head on her shoulders, she may find Chad a tad odd, but is impressed by his tryout, later reminding him not to get too wrapped up in the newfound fandom. As a former college track star, she knows just how addictive it can be when one is idolized.

Zélie Adebola remembers when the soil of Orisha hummed with magic. Burners ignited flames, Tiders beckoned waves, and Zélie's Reaper mother summoned forth souls. Everything changed the night magic disappeared. Under the orders of a ruthless king, maji were killed, leaving Zélie without a mother and her people without hope. Now Zélie has one chance to bring back magic and strike against the monarchy. With the help of a rogue princess, Zélie must outwit and outrun the crown prince, who is hell-bent on eradicating magic for good. Danger lurks in Orisha, where snow leoponaires prowl and vengeful spirits wait in the waters. Yet the greatest danger may be Zélie herself as she struggles to control her powers—and her growing feelings for an enemy.

The Cleaning Lady is a one-hour darkly aspirational character drama about a whip-smart Filipina doctor, Reyna Salonga (Yung), who comes to the U.S. for a medical treatment to save her ailing son. But when the system fails and pushes her into hiding, she refuses to be beaten down and marginalized. Instead, she becomes an on-call cleaning lady for the mob. Willing to do anything to save her son, Reyna walks the tightrope of morality, breaking the law for all the right reasons — and eventually forges her own path in the criminal underworld as she starts playing the game by her own rules. In the current third season, the stakes for Thony are higher and more intense than ever, from losing her protector Arman (Canto), to Thony's efforts to bring Fiona (Milan) back to the US after she was deported to the Philippines.

The small town of Holly Hills takes its annual Christmas letter competition very seriously, and this year a perennial second-place contestant tries a new tactic by calling on an acclaimed novelist to help her compose her entry. Funny yet touching, the story centers on Settie Rose, family matriarch with an abundance of personality. She, her friends and their community take part in a competition every year on who has written the best holiday letter. But Settie's a horrible writer - hers is the worst. Every year. So this year she's bringing in a ringer... Juan, a struggling novelist who has written one brilliant book and needs the money. Confusion and miscommunication upon his arrival and with their neighborhood nemesis (Sue Taylor) leads to the ruse that Juan's engaged to their daughter, Lily. While he's living with and getting to know the Roses, Settie and the whole family have to keep everyone in the close-knit community off his trail long enough for him to write the perfect letter. Through various Christmas activities and family interviews, initially-reluctant Juan learns what makes this family special, notably Lily, as they help each other navigate this unusual situation and Juan overcomes his writer's block. In the end, Settie realizes she had it in her all along, once she stops trying too hard and embraces her imperfect family, which has now expanded to include Juan's.

Countdown starts following a suspicious murder in broad daylight, which leads to LAPD officer Mark Meachum (Ackles) being recruited to join a secret task force of undercover agents from all branches of law enforcement to investigate. But as the truth of a more sinister plot comes into focus, the team must overcome their conflicting personal agendas to unite and save a city of millions. Camacho will play Amber Oliveras, a Special Agent, Drug Enforcement Agency with 14 years on the job. Undercover in multiple operations. She's a badass who won't take crap from anyone. She's intrigued by this new opps team and though she seems to do well enough on her own, it'll be a nice change of pace working with others. Dane will play Nathan Blythe, Special Agent in Charge who's been with the Bureau for 22 years. Military cut, trim, fit, and packing an imposing glare, he's seen a lot in his days on the job, and he has a passion for fighting for justice. Though this isn't his first task force he's led, this one is different. He had already been looking into a potential deal going on with a foreign player trying to buy off DHS officers, but was denied when he tried to open an investigation. After Darden's death, he took matters into his own hands and started going around certain people and keeping things tightly locked, including this opps team. He carefully assembled and handpicked everyone on it and doesn't hesitate to light a fire under them. He wants this solved by any means necessary. (September 2024 - February 2025)

The story involves the members of a fossil-hunting expedition down a dark tributary of the mist-shrouded Amazon, where they enter the domain of a prehistoric, amphibious "Gill Man" — possibly the last of a species of fanged, clawed humanoids who may have evolved entirely underwater. Tranquilized, captured and brought aboard, the creature still manages to revive and escape — slaughtering several members of the team — and abducts their sole female member, spiriting her off to his mist-shrouded lair. This sparks the surviving crewmen to action — particularly those who fancy carrying the girl off themselves.

Forget diamonds—the internet is forever. Social media consultant Isla Thompson learned that lesson the hard way when she went viral for all the wrong reasons. A month later, Isla is still having nightmares about the moment she ruined a young starlet’s career and made herself the most unemployable influencer in Manhattan. But she doesn’t have the luxury of hiding until she’s no longer Instagram poison. Not when her fourteen-year-old sister, Dani, needs Isla to keep a roof over their heads. So, she takes the first job she can get: caring for Camilla, a glossy-maned, foul-tempered hellhound. After a week of ferrying Camilla from playdates to pet psychics, Isla starts to suspect that the dachshund’s bark is worse than her bite—just like her owner, Theo Garrison. Isla has spent her career working to make people likable and here’s Theo—happy to hide behind his reputation as a brutish recluse. But Theo isn’t a brute—he’s sweet and funny, and Isla should not see him as anything but the man who signs her paychecks. Because loving Theo would mean retreating to his world of secluded luxury, and Isla needs to show Dani that no matter the risk, dreams are always worth chasing.

From 1972-1978, thirty-three young men were kidnapped, murdered and buried in a crawl space beneath their killer’s house. And no one was the wiser. Not for all those years. Why? He was charming and funny. Had a good, All-American job. Was a community leader. He even volunteered to entertain sick kids... while dressed as a clown. ‘Devil In Disguise: John Wayne Gacy’ peels back the twisted layers of John Wayne Gacy’s life while weaving in the heartrending stories of his mostly gay victims; exploring the grief, guilt, and trauma of their families and friends; and exposing the systemic failures, missed opportunities and societal prejudices that fueled his reign of terror. In a forgotten patch of countryside, a woman is battling her demons: embracing exclusion yet wanting to belong, craving freedom whilst feeling trapped, yearning for family life but wanting to burn the entire house down. Given surprising leeway by her family for her increasingly erratic behavior, she nevertheless feels ever more stifled and repressed. Motherhood, womanhood, the banality of love, the terrors of desire, the brutality of 'another person carrying your heart forever': Die, My Love faces all this with a raw intensity. The project is based on the story of a whistleblower who claimed Israel was building a nuclear weapons program. (The country has always denied it has nuclear weapons). After giving The Sunday Times of London a detailed interview about the program in the 1980s, causing an international scandal, "low level" Israeli nuclear technician Mordechai Vanunu fled the country. He was then reportedly lured to Rome by a female Israeli secret service agent in a honeytrap operation where he was kidnapped and repatriated to Israel. Vanunu eventually stood trial for espionage and treason before being convicted and jailed.

Goldy Berry caterer extraordinaire has a dilemma to solve. A scheduling app mixup has caused her to double book herself catering a VIP rock concert as well as a first date (finally!) with none other than detective Tom Schultz, at the same concert. When the pushy concert manager won't take no for an answer, and not having the heart to say no to Tom after all this time, Goldy finds herself secretly playing double duty. Things get even more complicated when right as Goldy finally gets a moment to enjoy her time with Tom, a part of the stage lighting collapses on the lead singer mid act. Suddenly, Goldy's date has turned into a crime scene. With the main act dead and suspecting foul play, Tom takes charge for once wanting Goldy there to help him solve the crime.

The first season, focused on a young woman, Tasha (Buckens), who was married to middle-aged Jack. While their marriage appeared happy, Tasha was haunted by Jack's ex-wife, Jen, with whom he still had a close relationship. As a myriad of lies over fertility and infidelity ensued, the show culminated in a devastating car accident in which the couple's young daughter Emily is believed to have been killed. Season two, will pick up three years after the dramatic conclusion of series one, with Tasha hiding on the island with her daughter Emily, while Jen has moved on and is preparing to get married. Living under false identities, Tasha has started a new life for herself and Emily. However, Tasha is forced to abandon her fresh start when she learns that Jack has been released from prison early having only served a year of his sentence. Jack appears to be a changed man, but who can each of them really trust, and can anyone truly change?

Fackham Hall pokes fun at traditional period dramas like Downton Abbey and Gosford Park. Fiennes Tiffin will play a new porter who embarks on an unlikely relationship with the youngest daughter (McKenzie) of a prominent UK family. At the same time, rivalries are spilling over in the Davenport family, led by Lord and Lady Davenport (Waterston) as they also weather the epic failure of the wedding of their eldest daughter (Laird) to her caddish cousin.

Fallout is the story of haves and have-nots in a world in which there's almost nothing left to have. Two-hundred years after the apocalypse, the gentle denizens of luxury fallout shelters are forced to return to the irradiated hellscape their ancestors left behind—and are shocked to discover an incredibly complex, gleefully weird, and highly violent universe waiting for them. The series stars Ella Purnell as Lucy, an optimistic Vault-dweller with an all-American can-do spirit. Her peaceful and idealistic nature is tested when she is forced to the surface to rescue her father. Aaron Moten is Maximus, a young soldier who rises to the rank of squire in the militaristic faction called the Brotherhood of Steel. He will do anything to further the Brotherhood's goals of bringing law and order to the wasteland. Walton Goggins is the Ghoul, a morally ambiguous bounty hunter who holds within him a 200-year history of the post-nuclear world. These disparate parties collide when chasing an artifact from an enigmatic researcher that has the potential to radically change the power dynamic in this world. (November 2024 - April 2025)

The third iteration of the successful FBI brand that follows the elite operatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's International Fly Team. Headquartered in Budapest, they travel the world with the mission of tracking and neutralizing threats against American citizens wherever they may be. Not allowed to carry guns, the Fly Team relies on intelligence, quick thinking and pure brawn as they put their lives on the line to protect the U.S. and its people. The Fly Team's Special Agent Scott Forrester, their accomplished and dedicated leader, puts his missions ahead of his personal life and is rarely seen without the team's "secret weapon" - their trusty Schutzhund dog, Tank. Second in command is Special Agent Jamie Kellett, not afraid to tussle - in an alley or courtroom - and her extensive network of informants is a powerful resource. Special Agent Andre Raines shines in the field and makes good use of his accounting background in tracking criminal enterprises' moving money; and the group's newest member is Special Agent Cameron Vo, a competitive West Point grad who excels at interrogation and strategy. A key part of the mix is the unflappable Europol Agent Katrin Jaeger, a multi-linguistic liaison between the FBI Fly Team and each host country they inhabit.

Middle-aged couples Jack and Kate Burroughs, Nick and Anne Callan, and Danny and Claudia Zimmer are best friends who do everything together. As couples, they have weathered the flood of divorces that has beset their other friends. When one of the six decides to make a change in life, the other five are forced to examine their marriages, their friendships with one another, the true meaning of love, and their own personal foibles. Over the course of one year, the movie is set against the backdrop of four vacations they take together, one in each of the four seasons, with Antonio Vivaldi's associated suite of music introducing each. By their fourth vacation together, Jack feels that they need to "clear the air."

Set in Korea, it tells the story of Hannah Shin (Julia Kim Caldwell) a spirited Canadian/Korean teen with dreams of becoming a K-pop star and connecting with her Korean heritage. One summer, she accepts a job as an English tutor and flies to South Korea to work at an elite K-pop training school and ends up getting much more than she bargained for. Hannah is tasked with tutoring one of the school's top students Chan-Mi, who is proving a little challenging. In a bid to win her and the other students over, Hannah showcases her talent with some impromptu performances, but instead her talents attract the attention of the school's owner which leads to the opportunity to become a student herself. Along with singing, dancing and Korean lessons, there's a lot of drama – Kdrama, especially when Hannah discovers that her father had once been a K-pop star himself!

Based on the life of Muhammad Ali. Growing up in the South, surrounded by racial bigotry and discrimination, Ali fought not just for a living, but also for respect and rewards far more precious than money or glory. He was named Sportsman of the Century by Sports Illustrated and the BBC. Ali redefined what it meant to be an athlete by giving hope to millions around the world and inspiring us all to fight for what is important to us. This is a multifaceted portrait of Muhammad Ali only he could render: sports legend, unapologetic anti-war advocate, outrageous showman and gracious goodwill ambassador, fighter, lover, poet, and provocateur, and an irresistible force to be reckoned with.

Ronald Gladden serves jury duty on a civil trial in Los Angeles. To him there is nothing out of the ordinary in proceedings. Little does he know, however, that all the other participants - his fellow jurors, the judge, the plaintiff and defendant, everybody - are actors, the trial isn't real and everything is staged. The daughter of two astronauts, Romy Silvers is no stranger to life in space. But she never knew how isolating the universe could be until her parents' tragic deaths left her alone on the Infinity, a spaceship speeding away from Earth. Romy tries to make the best of her lonely situation, but with only brief messages from her therapist on Earth to keep her company, she can't help but feel like something is missing. It seems like a dream come true when NASA alerts her that another ship, the Eternity, will be joining the Infinity. Romy begins exchanging messages with J, the captain of the Eternity, and their friendship breathes new life into her world. But as the Eternity gets closer, Romy learns there's more to J's mission than she could have imagined. And suddenly, there are worse things than being alone.

Season 2 kicks off a year after Molly Wells (Rudolph) settles her very public divorce from tech billionaire John Novak (Adam Scott), and we find her thriving in her role as the head of her philanthropic organization, the Wells Foundation. Focused mainly on her charity work, Molly has sworn off any new relationships with men and embarks on a wellness journey. Fabulously single but not particularly independent, Molly keeps her trusty assistant Nicholas (Booster) by her side. He diligently caters to her every whim ... and occasionally feeds her a kale smoothie spiked with gin. Sofia Salinas (Rodriguez), the no-nonsense executive director of the Wells Foundation, continues to run things with compassionate efficiency, but her all-business ethos is thrown for a loop when she meets Molly's charismatic architect friend Isaac (O-T Fagbenle). The bromance between Howard (Funches) and Nicholas also continues to flourish as they support each other in their endeavors both inside and outside the workplace. Meanwhile, Arthur (Faxon) has moved past his feelings for Molly and has adopted a new devil-may-care attitude on life, a change encapsulated by a very lame leather bracelet. The Wells Foundation team, including Rhonda (Meagen Fay) and Ainsley (Stephanie Styles), must pull together as co-workers and friends as Molly strives to publicly live up to her promise of giving away all of her vast fortune. Season 3 will pick up after the Season 2 finale that saw Molly Wells and her trusted and unhinged assistant Nicholas (Joel Kim Booster) board Molly's private jet following her awkward exchange with her will-they, won't-they colleague Arthur (Nat Faxon). Where will the PJ land? Season 3 will continue to follow the antics of the beloved group of misfits at The Wells Foundation. (w/t "TARZANA")

A romantic comedy film that follows a small-town girl Sarah who gets hired to write a wedding song for a celebrity, but clashes with the singer's manager Brent. Struggling with writer's block, Sarah must find strength in her faith to create the perfect song. Sweet-hearted, small town girl Sarah Wilkins dreams of turning her hobby of writing wedding songs into a professional career. As fate would have it, she is given the opportunity to write a wedding for celebrity singer, Madeline Brooks for the biggest wedding of the year. When Sarah arrives in the big city of Tennessee to meet up with Madeline, nothing goes as planned. Madeline's rugged manager, Brent Harrington has been given the task of assisting Sarah with writing the song. Unfortunately, Sarah and Brent just don't get along, and to make matters worse Sarah has a bad case of writer's block. Everything begins to fall apart and Sarah must rely on her faith in God to find strength and direction to make the song absolutely perfect.

When the worlds media labels you and the people of your area as unemployed, terrorist harboring, drug dealing, insular, socially inept heathens, what do you do? Well you go and pick up milk and bread because life goes on innit... Welcome to the life of Man Like Mobeen, a 28 year old from Small Heath in Birmingham, who has a job, doesn't know any terrorists, is pretty excellent when it comes to social skills and...well probably dealt drugs for a bit. Mobeen has many challenges in life – the biggest one being providing for his younger sister Aqsa. He does this alone, acting as a very hairy mother, father and brother figure in the hood. He gains emotional support from possibly two of the best friends a person could have, Nathaniel 'Nate' Dixon and Arslan 'Eight' Kushi. Although when we say emotional support, we mean they add to his likelihood of an emotional breakdown every minute of every day. Mobeen's parents have done a disappearing act that would make the love child of David Blaine and Dynamo proud, leaving the (reluctant) hero with the full financial and emotional responsibility of the 'family' they've left behind in Birmingham. All Mobeen wants to do is follow his faith, lead a good life, and make sure his younger sister fulfils her potential. But can he juggle this, with his criminal reputation and murky past always chasing him?

About professional ping pong player Marty Reisman (Chalamet), who died in 2012, was a table tennis champion who started his career as a hustler in Manhattan, playing for bets and prize money. He won 22 major ping pong titles from 1946 to 2002 and won five bronze medals at the World Table Tennis Championships. At 67, he competed in the United States National Hardbat Championship and became the oldest player to win an open national competition in a racket sport. He was known as the "wizard of table tennis" and even opened for the Harlem Globetrotters with his ping pong comedy routine.

The series follows three best friends — gay gentlemen of a certain age — who, after an unexpected death, decide to spend their golden years living together in Palm Springs where the wealthiest one lives with his mother and a naked Gen Z housekeeper. As a chosen family, they prove that no matter how hard things get, there's always someone around to remind you it would be better if you got your neck done. Lane will play Bunny Schneiderman while Bomer will be Jerry Frank. Lavin will take over as Bunny's mother, Sybil Schneiderman. A successful businessman with one foot in retirement, Bunny is forever in search of love, but he first has to be convinced he's worthy of it. Like her son, Sybil's strengths are her weaknesses: wise, caring, and iconoclastic — which sometimes means she's critical, smothering and amoral. Jerry left the Mormon Church and his marriage in his early 20s after his wife informed him and the rest of the congregation that he was a homosexual. Now a latter-day saint in the literal sense of the term, Jerry is pure of heart. He is also hard of body and soft of head.

The live-action/CGI hybrid follows a young mouse named Ralph is thrown into a world of excitement when a boy and his shiny toy motorcycle check in to the Mountain View Inn. When the ever-curious Ralph spots Keith's red toy motorcycle, he vows to ride it. So when Keith leaves the bike unattended in his room one day, Ralph makes his move. But with all this freedom (and speed!) come a lot of obstacles. Whether dodging a rowdy terrier or keeping his nosy cousins away from his new wheels, Ralph has a lot going on! And with a pal like Keith always looking out for him, there's nothing this little mouse can't handle.

The spinoff will follow Tony DiNozzo (Weatherly) and Ziva David (de Pablo) as they find themselves on the run across the continent.

After Ziva's supposed death, Tony left the NCIS team to go raise their daughter. Years later, Ziva was discovered alive, leading her to complete one final mission with NCIS before she was reunited with Tony and their daughter in Paris. Since then – and where we find them – Tony and Ziva have been raising their daughter, Tali, together. When Tony's security company is attacked, they must go on the run across Europe, try to figure out who is after them and maybe even learn to trust each other again so that they can finally have their unconventional happily ever after. Welcome To the Neighborhood centers on the nicest guy in the Midwest who moves his family into a tough neighborhood in L.A. where not everyone appreciates his extreme neighborliness. McKinney will play Malcolm, chill and dryly sarcastic, he is the younger son of Calvin and Loretta. His older brother, Marty (Spears), is the “good” son, and Malcolm is the more street-smart member of the family. Malcolm believes the world doesn't see him as clearly as he sees it and under different circumstances, he would be a respected business man. But as it is, his “business” isn't something he wants to discuss with strangers like Dave and Gemma. Spears' Marty works at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory as an engineer, and he's considerably more friendly and welcoming than anyone else in his family. (August 14 - February 18, 2025)

Overcompensating is a college-set ensemble comedy about the wild, chaotic journey of Benny (Skinner), a closeted former football player and homecoming king, as he becomes fast friends with Carmen (Baram), a high school outsider on a mission to fit in at all costs. With guidance from Benny's older sister and her campus-legend boyfriend, Benny and Carmen juggle horrible hookups, flavored vodka, and fake IDs. Deeply funny and personal, the show explores the lengths to which we all overcompensate while on the path to finding out who we really are. Baram plays Carmen, a high school outsider on a mission to fit in at all costs in college, who becomes fast friends with Benny (Skinner) at orientation. Barone plays Benny's older sister, Grace, who has blossomed in college and loves managing Benny, with DiMarco as Grace's boyfriend, Peter, who looks out for Benny. Shah portrays Miles, a cute, mysterious freshman who catches Benny's eye right away. Holmes plays Hailee, Carmen's wild and iconic army brat roommate with a heart of gold. Moore portrays Gabe, the alpha best friend of DiMarco's Peter and fellow member of the prestigious F&G secret society. Thiele plays George, a confident, out, gay sophomore at Yates who wants to help Benny come out, with Verlaque as Emily, a fellow Yates freshman and the coolest, prettiest girl from Carmen's hometown. Skite'kmujua'kik is an Indigenous supernatural thriller rooted in the approach of L'nu oral storytelling and worldview. The elements in the script come from the notion that we do not see time as a line, but as a circle with multiple “realities” around us at all times. The characters interact with younger versions of themselves, their ancestors, and descendants/people from the future. This story is ultimately tied to the land. When Mi'sel and Antle venture to find their father's remains they engage with the land and the history it holds (both backwards and forwards). This relationship is where our language and culture springs from and cannot be separated from L'nuk. It is a vital component of this story, but it isn't some mystical connection—it comes from the need to survive and know a place as deeply as possible. The notion of healing inter-generational trauma is a large theme of this script. At the heart of it all is a wound that hasn't been healed, or allowed to heal. Both siblings weren't ready to address the trauma of their past. By going on this journey to put their father's remains to rest they are confronted with past versions of themselves. The story is not science-fiction genre but more in the realm of dramatic thriller with supernatural elements. (August 7 - September 20, 2024 | aka “SKITE'KMUJUA'KIK”)

The extraordinary true story of the pressure-cooker environment facing the decision-makers behind D-Day, and how their liberation of Europe was entirely at the mercy of the weather. The story will hone in on Group Captain James Stagg, Chief Meteorologist at the Supreme Headquarters Allied Expedition Force, whose job it was to inform General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces, of weather conditions that would make-or-break the Allied invasion. Despite a prolonged heat wave and the tide and moon conditions aligning, Stagg made a bold case for the invasion being delayed from June 5 to June 6 to avoid an incoming front and ensure better conditions. German meteorologists had assumed the invasion wouldn't take place when it did due to the forecast of unfavorable conditions but the decision to delay by a day ultimately meant the Allies avoided the unexpected gales that did arrive on June 5 and gave them a window of opportunity to successfully carry out the invasion. The window of opportunity for the invasion couldn't have been any smaller. Had the Allies waited any longer the Germans would have spotted the build up of troops on the British coast, and soon after the operation the French coast was lashed by some of the worst storms in decades. The fates of millions of lives and the course of the war were resting on Stagg's decision and ultimately it paid off, as Eisenhower explained to Walter Cronkite in a potent CBS interview from 1964.

A drama about an all-deaf commune, the film will feature extensive sign-language. Retreat is a thriller about identity and to what lengths people will go in order to fight for what they believe in. Grace, a deaf college dropout, has spent her life trying to fit in. In her first few weeks at university, a familiar isolation has taken hold. Then she meets Ben, a deaf man, who introduces her to ‘the village’, a deaf-only commune situated in countryside, miles from anywhere. A place where sign language is the only language, a place where she can be herself. Grace drops out of her studies to join the commune. She thinks she has found her utopia. But she then discovers the shocking lengths that the founders will go to protect their way of life from the outside world.

Ben Richards is a desperate man. With no job, no money, no way out, and a young daughter in need of proper medical attention, he must turn to the only possibility of striking it rich in this near-future dystopian America: participating in the ultra-violent TV programming of the government-sanctioned Games Network. Ben soon finds himself selected as a contestant on the biggest and the best that the Games Network has to offer: “The Running Man,” a no-holds-barred thirty-day struggle to stay alive as public enemy number one, relentlessly hunted by an elite strike force bent on killing him as quickly as possible in front of an audience all-too eager to see that happen. It means a billion dollars in prize money if he can live for the next month. No one has ever survived longer than eight days. But desperation can push a person do things they never thought possible—and Ben Richards is willing to go the distance in this ultimate game of life and death.

After a tragic car crash claims her husband and child, a former CIA remote viewer with the power to traverse alternate dimensions embarks on a perilous quest to rescue their souls from the afterlife, determined to reunite her shattered family. John Lilith awakens in a cave with his wife, Sarah, who reveals they are in the chaotic Nekidum forest, a realm from Kabbalah where lost souls linger. They must avoid a soul-consuming demon and create a portal back to the living world using sonic weapons. During the portal creation, John is gruesomely killed by a demonic spear. Meanwhile, Dr. Vale, waiting for their return, experiences strange phenomena hinting at an open gate between worlds. After three years, Sarah finally emerges, exhausted and disoriented. The previous experiment to save them was agonizingly close to success but ultimately failed. Racing against time and desperate to try again before it's too late, she must convince Dr. Vale, who fears the dangers of continuing their experiment, to help her.

The Terror: Devil in Silver tells the story of Pepper – a working class moving man, who through a combination of bad luck and a bad temper, finds himself wrongfully committed to New Hyde Psychiatric Hospital – an institution filled with the people society would rather forget. There, he must contend with patients who work against him, doctors who harbor grim secrets, and perhaps even the very Devil himself. As Pepper navigates a hellscape where nothing is as it seems, he finds that the only path to freedom is to face down the entity which thrives on the suffering within New Hyde’s walls – but doing so may prove that the worst demons of all live inside him. The next installment in the Texas Chainsaw Massacre franchise, delves into the tranquil facade of Oasis Oaks, a gated community nestled in rural Texas. Amidst the meticulously manicured lawns and vigilant security patrols, our protagonist family epitomizes suburban bliss. However, lurking just beyond the confines of this idyllic enclave lies an abandoned property, home to the infamous Leatherface and his macabre kin. As chaos descends upon Oasis Oaks, ordinary families are pitted against the savage Sawyers in a harrowing battle for survival, where the lines between good and evil blur in a chilling confrontation of familial horrors.

Tiger, set in the late 1980’s, tells the story of Tiger, a 13-14 year old girl, naturally introverted and studious, who lives with her father, Paddy, the owner of a bar who’s also a criminal. Tiger’s mother is mostly out of the picture, and Paddy alternates between being a supportive and loving father, and being an alcoholic. Faced with drastic changes in her life and changes in her relationship with her father, Tiger experiments with different ways of coping and acting out, eventually finding herself over her head.

The stoner comedy, tells the tale of two naive slackers, Sam (Paxton) and Alex (Wyman), who are hired by a frightening cartel boss to deliver a cardboard box from LA to Vegas for the tidy sum of $10k. The boys think it's their lucky day. Instructed not to look in the box, the duo can't contain their curiosity and as soon as they drive off the property they pull over and have a peek. Much to their surprise and confusion, the box contains six toads. Unbeknown to them they're Sonoran Desert Toads aka acid toads, which when licked, gets the most seasoned drug enthusiasts high out of their minds. On the road, the soaring desert temperatures cause the toads to develop heatstroke, triggering Sam and Alex to jump into rescue mode and give them CPR — and a psychedelic odyssey unfolds.

The Trading Game is billed as a propulsive, deeply compelling and human exploration of the dark side of capitalism, with Gary Stevenson's story serving as a potent allegory for our times. The autobiography charts Stevenson's rise from the streets of East London to becoming the top trader in the world for Citibank, and his subsequent descent into depression "as he fought to escape the golden handcuffs he found himself trapped in. The narrative takes readers on an unvarnished, white-knuckle journey to the dark heart of an intoxicating world and shines a piercing spotlight on the financial industry, how it's shaped the cost-of-living crisis and why the ever-growing scourge of inequality is a danger to us all.

The drama is sparked by the discovery of the lifeless body of a teenage girl in the desert outside a small town. When no one claims the body, Noelle Al Saffan, a newly divorced, true crime aficionado who recently lost a child of her own, gets obsessively involved. Despite a ticking clock that seemingly guarantees the girls' senseless death will be discarded as a cold case, Noelle is determined to identify the body and uncover the truth. She slowly unravels a mystery entangled within a traditional society in transition, where women are learning to create more space for themselves and to take control of their own destinies.

Joni Mitchell may be the most influential female recording artist and composer of the late twentieth century. A heart-wrenching story of how the blond girl with the guitar became a superstar of folk music in the 1960s, a key figure in the Laurel Canyon music scene of the 1970s, and the songwriter who spoke resonantly to, and for, audiences across the country. A Canadian prairie girl, a free-spirited artist, Mitchell never wanted to be a pop star. She was nothing more than “a painter derailed by circumstances,” she would explain. And yet, she went on to become a talented self-taught musician and a brilliant bandleader, releasing album after album, each distinctly experimental, challenging, and revealing. Her lyrics captivated listeners with their perceptive language and naked emotion, born out of Mitchell’s life, loves, complaints, and prophecies. As an artist whose work deftly balances narrative and musical complexity, she has been admired by such legendary lyricists as Bob Dylan and Leonard Cohen and beloved by such groundbreaking jazz musicians as Jaco Pastorius, Wayne Shorter, and Herbie Hancock. Her hits—from “Big Yellow Taxi” to “Both Sides, Now” to “A Case of You”—endure as timeless favorites, and her influence on the generations of singer-songwriters who would follow her, from her devoted fan Prince to Björk, is undeniable.

At 15, Gilles Villeneuve is not a teenager like the others. In his small town of Berthier, between his uncles who are mechanics and his parents' sewing company, Gilles sees big and far. First tempted by the trumpet, Villeneuve starts competing in snowmobile by chance. It is during the tough races of this new sport that he discovers his driving talents, which give him the confidence to leave his job as a mechanic to rush into car racing. But in 1972, being a penniless Quebecer and a racing driver do not go hand in hand. Gilles must convince his family, his wife Joann, and take a multitude of completely crazy financial risks in order to carve out his place in this world reserved for the rich and privileged. As obstacles arise, and despite his natural and obvious talent, Villeneuve's dream of one day finding himself in front of a Formula 1 steering wheel will constantly seem unattainable. Until an incredible opportunity presents itself: famous Formula 1 drivers including James Hunt are invited to come and race in Formula Atlantic at the Trois-Rivières Grand Prix in Canada. Gilles dominates this series but has financial problems and finds himself excluded from the competition. He will do everything in his power to put his car back on the track and prove that he has the talent to beat the best in the world. His domination will be such that Hunt tells his team about it and McLaren contacts Villeneuve who comes to compete in a first Formula 1 Grand Prix in Europe for them! It is during this Grand Prix that an old man with white hair nicknamed "Ingegnere" founder of the Scuderia and pope of motorsport, sees the young Quebecer by chance on television... his curiosity is piqued by this "piccolo Canadese" and he summons him to Maranello for a test in the most coveted racing car in the world, the F1 Ferrari. (Production will be split into two parts with winter scenes shot from February 18, 2024 before resuming again September 3 - October 23, 2024.)

The biopic will tell the story of Madonna's growth into a chart topping juggernaut and style icon with the staying power to become the all-time bestselling female artist. After leaving her Michigan home to move to New York to become a dancer, Madonna instead found her way as a solo singing artist. From the moment she began generating early hits like Like A Virgin, Borderline and Lucky Star, it was clear that Madonna was different from the rest. Her looks, dance moves and provocative persona were a perfect fit for MTV as that network hit stride. She soon found her way into movies, first glimpsed in Vision Quest, and then costarring in Desperately Seeking Susan, which introduced the smash song Into The Groove. (w/t "LITTLE SPARROW")

On the outskirts of a village by the sea, lives a Fisherwoman (Colman); smelly, single and perpetually ridiculed. One day, fed up with her stuffy, small-minded neighbors, she commissions herself a husband to be made from wicker (Patel). In an otherwise conservative town, this unconventional romance sparks outrage, jealousy and chaos.

A crime-solving procedural with a comedic twist that follows the unlikely duo of a gruff, sardonic cop and a bubbly, clever con woman. Ellis, a demoted detective, has unfortunately spent the last year on Vancouver's marine unit (i.e., he's now a "water cop"), while Toni has been living a transient life elaborately scamming everyone she meets. But when Toni gets arrested and ends up helping Ellis solve a local crime, the two are offered the opportunity to redeem themselves, with Ellis going back to detective and Toni staying out of jail. The catch? They have to work together, with each using their unique skills to solve crimes. For Ellis, that means hard-boiled shoe leather police work; for Toni, it means accents, schemes, and generally befriending everyone in sight (while driving Ellis absolutely nuts). Against the backdrop of beautiful Vancouver — with all its unique, charming, and even contradictory neighborhoods and subcultures — the two will have to learn what it means to trust another person and maybe actually become partners. The crime drama, revolves around Special Agent Will Trent of the Georgia Bureau of Investigations (GBI), who was abandoned at birth and endured a harsh coming-of-age in Atlanta's overwhelmed foster care system. But now, determined to use his unique point of view to make sure no one feels as abandoned as he was, Will Trent has the highest clearance rate in the GBI. Rodriguez's Will Trent is a gifted agent with the Georgia Bureau of Investigation. He is a loner within the law enforcement community and hides the severe dyslexia that went untreated during his traumatic childhood in foster care. But with the best clearance rate at the GBI, he could care less if people don't like him. (August 12 - March 20, 2025)

Centered on the murder of Rachel Nickell, which was witnessed by her son Alex Hanscombe on the Wimbledon Common, he and his father, André, tell their story. Based on the memoir and experiences of Alex and André Hanscombe The Witness, takes us on their journey from 1992 through to the early 2000's as they deal with the devastating impact of Rachel's brutal murder on their lives. His father André – becoming a single parent overnight – put his own grief to one side and made Alex the centre of his world. Navigating the unscrupulous media furore and the urgency of an increasingly desperate police investigation, his sole concern became the welfare of his tiny, traumatized son. Who also happened to be the only eyewitness to the attack. This is the story of how a father and son made it through the aftermath of an unimaginable tragedy, through darkness and into light.

In this tightly wound, enthralling story reminiscent of Agatha Christie's works, Lo Blacklock, a journalist who writes for a travel magazine, has just been given the assignment of a lifetime: a week on a luxury cruise with only a handful of cabins. The sky is clear, the waters calm, and the veneered, select guests jovial as the exclusive cruise ship, the Aurora, begins her voyage in the picturesque North Sea. At first, Lo's stay is nothing but pleasant: the cabins are plush, the dinner parties are sparkling, and the guests are elegant. But as the week wears on, frigid winds whip the deck, gray skies fall, and Lo witnesses what she can only describe as a dark and terrifying nightmare: a woman being thrown overboard. The problem? All passengers remain accounted for—and so, the ship sails on as if nothing has happened, despite Lo's desperate attempts to convey that something (or someone) has gone terribly, terribly wrong.

In a split second, Morgan Kincaid's life changes forever. She's on her way home from work when a complete stranger begs her to take her baby, then places the infant in her arms. Before Morgan can stop her, the distraught mother jumps in front of an oncoming train. In complete shock and totally unaware of how the woman knew her name, the police take Morgan in for questioning. She soon learns that the woman who jumped was Nicole Markham, prominent CEO of the athletic brand Breathe. She also learns that no witness can corroborate her version of events, which means she has just become a murder suspect. To prove her innocence, Morgan must frantically retrace the last days of Nicole's life. Was Nicole a new mother struggling with paranoia or was she in danger? As Morgan desperately attempts to make sense of it all, she realizes she may be in danger herself.

When young orphan Heathcliff is adopted by a wealthy gentleman, he quickly forms a close bond with his benefactor's daughter, Cathy. But over the years, their childhood friendship morphs into a desperate, twisted, possessive love, as they wrestle with the violent and tyrannical rule of Cathy's brother and the confines of social class that keep them apart. What follows is an ingenious and darkly captivating narrative of frustrated passion and tortured heartbreak reverberating through the generations, wrought with all the brutality, power, and wildness of the Yorkshire moors.

The Z-Suite is set at a boutique New York ad agency where generational divides see the established C-Suite and rising Gen Z employees collide. After a company decision spirals out of control, the agency's reigning executives are pushed out and the Z-Suite employees are suddenly put in charge, ultimately testing both generations' skills and patience. Graham plays Monica Frazier, an advertising agency mogul who is fired as CEO and finds herself clawing her way back into the company she helped build. Shamoun plays Kriska, who finds herself thrust into the CEO position of the advertising agency when Monica, played by Graham, is unexpectedly fired. As Kriska tries to learn on the fly how to run a company, she must also contend with Monica's desperate attempts to seek revenge and regain her role atop the company she built.
