A story that follows the aftermath of real-world plane crash of Swissair Flight 111 and its impact on the families of the victims and the employees who lost friends and colleagues in the incident. "Swissair 1-1-1 is declaring Pan Pan Pan. We have smoke in the cockpit." Seventeen minutes after the pilot's distress call, Swissair Flight 111—a New York-to-Geneva-bound jet—crashed into the Atlantic Ocean off Peggys Cove, Nova Scotia, killing all 229 people on board. 111 tells the dramatic story of that September 2, 1998 tragedy and explores its far-reaching human consequences.

It is the zombie apocalypse and Adam and Amy have just out run a gang of flesh-eating zombies. The good news is, they're safe. Hiding out in an abandoned pizza delivery car. The bad news is, they're trapped in a car with no keys and surrounded by hungry zombies. Even worse news is that they are alone together. You see Adam and Amy used to be married. They used to be in love. They used to think they were each other's one and only. And now that they might actually be the one and only man and woman left on the planet, it's time they figure out what went wrong and give this relationship one last shot. And as painful as that might sound, it's still not the worst news yet. One of them is hiding a secret that will not only change their relationship forever, it will determine if they live or die.

Wannabe filmmakers who never made it decide to reboot "Anaconda" and travel to the Amazon, where they get caught up in the fight for a flower that might cure cancer. When Doug McCallister's (Rudd) wife Malie throws him a surprise party, and his old high school friends- Griff (Black), Claire and Kenny - get together, they watch the bad horror movie they made in high school and get it into their heads that they can make a reboot of an old favorite, Anaconda, to which Griff claims to now own the rights. They raise a little capital and take off for the jungle, where they fall in with Ana, who, it turns out, is masquerading as a riverboat captain and is really on the run from big Pharma goon Myron because she's discovered a flower that supposedly cures cancer. Of course, a real, giant anaconda's stalking them all, too. Doug and Griff have to hash out their differences to thwart Myron and then kill the anaconda, making a memorable movie in the process.

Birth of a Family tells the story of four siblings who meet for the first time in their 50s. Separated from each other and their mother while they were babies, these Sixties Scoop survivors spend a long weekend in the Rockies, slowly building a family bond forged with tears, laughter, anger, love, and confusion. Connie, Gwen, Marianne and Anthony arrive at Calgary airport on a spring day, and by the time they catch their return flights their lives have been irrevocably transformed. Connie is single, a consummate planner who spearheaded the gathering and aches to see everyone and everything gel. Gwen is a straight-shooting single mother whose steely manner masks a deep-seated vulnerability. Raised in Belgium, Marianne has no real sense of what it means to be Indigenous, a hole she doesn't know how to fill. Anthony is soft-spoken, long-haired and preparing to be a grandfather for the first time as he struggles to find his place as the big brother to three strong women. Two impactful outings shape the siblings' time together. During a Saturday morning excursion to the SkyWalk Connie's crippling fear of heights is revealed, setting the stage for her sisters and brother to bond as she teeters on the verge of falling apart. The next day the siblings gather at the Indigenous arts market where Marianne had bought a pair of earrings on her own. When Alma, the elder who sold them, learned that Marianne was a Sixties Scoop survivor she invited her to return with her family to meet her husband. Their time with Simon is life changing. He names their pain and encourages them to mend their broken lives. It is granite-strong Gwen who is soon shattered by self-doubt and self-hatred. The wordless embrace Gwen, Connie, Marianne and Anthony then share speaks volumes.

The original movie starred Ethan Hawke, as a child abductor and murderer called the Grabber, and Mason Thames, a 13-year-old boy named Finney who crosses the killer's path. The Grabber locks Finney in a soundproof basement, where nobody can hear him or come to his rescue. The only item in the basement is a disconnected telephone that begins ringing. When Finney answers it, he realizes he's able to communicate with the spirits of the Grabber's deceased victims. The kids' ghosts teach Finney how to survive and fight back, and he's able to escape the Grabber's clutches in the end. (November 4 - January 16, 2024 | Release Date: October 17, 2025)

Andy is a third-generation biker who's going nowhere fast. After discovering his dad dead, he attempts the takeover of his dad's drug dealing business only to find himself in over his head and in debt with local gangster, Roddy, after losing his loaned stash of pills. Andy turns to his dad's Army buddy, Jed, to rebuild his dad's vintage motorcycle that will pay back the money in time. All the while, Andy rekindles a romance with an old flame and rising country singer, Tabitha. Andy's sister, Julie, dates Roddy and dances at his strip club. When she unexpectedly gets pregnant, it pushes her to decide what kind of future she wants for her and her unborn child. When she chooses to run away, Andy's life is put into increasing danger. Through the rebuild with Jed, Andy is forced to reckon with his idealization of his iconoclastic father and slowly learns that if he's going to chart his own path, he needs to form his own identity. His final confrontation with Roddy proves to be explosive and life-altering for the two. (September 12 - October 7, 2024)

Sophie Beckett (Yerin Ha) never dreamed she'd be able to sneak into Lady Bridgerton's famed masquerade ball - or that Prince Charming would be waiting there for her! Though the daughter of an earl, Sophie has been relegated to the role of servant by her disdainful stepmother. But now, spinning in the strong arms of the debonair and devastatingly handsome Benedict Bridgerton (Luke Thompson), she feels like royalty. Alas, she knows all enchantments must end when the clock strikes midnight. Who was that extraordinary woman? Ever since that magical night, a radiant vision in silver has blinded Benedict to the attractions of any other - except perhaps this alluring and oddly familiar beauty dressed in housemaid's garb whom he feels compelled to rescue from a most disagreeable situation. He has sworn to find and wed his mystery miss, but this breathtaking maid makes him weak with wanting her. Yet if he offers her his heart, will Benedict sacrifice his only chance for a fairy tale love?

It's three thousand miles from the green fields of glory, where Henry “call me Hank” Thompson once played California baseball, to the Lower East Side of Manhattan, where the tenements are old, the rents are high, and the drunks are dirty. But now Hank is here, working as a bartender and taking care of a cat named Bud who is surely going to get him killed. It begins when Hank's neighbor, Russ, has to leave town in a rush and hands over Bud in a carrier. But it isn't until two Russians in tracksuits drag Hank over the bar at the joint where he works and beat him to a pulp that he starts to get the idea: Someone wants something from him. He just doesn't know what it is, where it is, or how to make them understand he doesn't have it. Within twenty-four hours Hank is running over rooftops, swinging his old aluminum bat for the sweet spot of a guy's head, playing hide and seek with the NYPD, riding the subway with a dead man at his side, and counting a whole lot of cash on a concrete floor. All because of two cowboys, two Russian mafia men, and some of the weirdest goons ever assembled in one place. All because of Bud. All because once, in another life, in another world, the only thing Hank wanted was to take third base—without getting caught. (September 9 - November 22, 2024)

The half-hour comedy based on an Eli Manning sketch that aired on ESPN+, follows a hotshot quarterback (Powell) whose college career ends after bad behavior. He then disguises himself as the talented and affable Chad Powers, who walks onto a struggling Southern football team. Zahn will play Jake Hudson, the charismatic Head Coach of the show's flagging college football program. He's about to be put out to pasture when along comes the talented oddball Chad Powers (Powell) – and with him, one last shot at glory. Mattfield will play the sweet and smart Ricky, the first female assistant football coach in Catfish History (University of Nashville) who is also the daughter of Catfish Head Coach, Jake Hudson. On the job for two months, she is fast-talking, pumped and eager to play a key role in the upcoming season. Also canny, with a good head on her shoulders, she may find Chad a tad odd, but is impressed by his tryout, later reminding him not to get too wrapped up in the newfound fandom. As a former college track star, she knows just how addictive it can be when one is idolized. (August 19 - October 16, 2024)

Set during the last months of WWII, audiences are dropped into a rustic disciplinary camp for troubled youths in Washington state in the summer of 1944. Seeking to escape his own demons from the war, wounded US Navy veteran A.J. Ackerman has been assigned counselor duty to a handful of troubled teens, including camp newcomer Ian McKenzie (Skerritt), the rebellious son of a recently killed fighter pilot. Conflicts erupt as A.J. works to tame the boys' teenage anger and angst — channeling his own pain into something good, something that will last — while battling the corrupt camp director, Henry Hyatt, who aims his jealous, impotent rage squarely at A.J.. Ian and his cabin-mates bond through shared rites of passage, learning the importance of hard work, discipline and honor from a mentor whom they soon discover is harboring his own secrets — both honorable and heartbreaking. The summer culminates in their efforts to build a massive stone chimney, a symbolic struggle that transforms them, and A.J., forever. The film reminds us of the vast collateral damage of war: from the men and women who serve and die or return changed forever, to the families waiting anxiously at home — no one escapes. Immersed in Cornerstone, we experience the pain, fear and love of a small group of teenage boys coming of age in a world at war. And we marvel at the heroism of a mortally damaged man who transforms his tortured existence into a memorial of lasting leadership. This powerful story will resonate across generations, reminding audiences that what we leave behind can be what matters most.

Countdown starts following a suspicious murder in broad daylight, which leads to LAPD officer Mark Meachum (Ackles) being recruited to join a secret task force of undercover agents from all branches of law enforcement to investigate. But as the truth of a more sinister plot comes into focus, the team must overcome their conflicting personal agendas to unite and save a city of millions. Camacho will play Amber Oliveras, a Special Agent, Drug Enforcement Agency with 14 years on the job. Undercover in multiple operations. She's a badass who won't take crap from anyone. She's intrigued by this new opps team and though she seems to do well enough on her own, it'll be a nice change of pace working with others. Dane will play Nathan Blythe, Special Agent in Charge who's been with the Bureau for 22 years. Military cut, trim, fit, and packing an imposing glare, he's seen a lot in his days on the job, and he has a passion for fighting for justice. Though this isn't his first task force he's led, this one is different. He had already been looking into a potential deal going on with a foreign player trying to buy off DHS officers but was denied when he tried to open an investigation. After Darden's death, he took matters into his own hands and started going around certain people and keeping things tightly locked, including this opps team. He carefully assembled and handpicked everyone on it and doesn't hesitate to light a fire under them. He wants this solved by any means necessary. (September 9 - February 17, 2025)

The fascinating story behind the making of Bruce Springsteen's most surprising album, Nebraska, revealing its pivotal role in Springsteen's career. Without Nebraska, Bruce Springsteen might not be who he is today. The natural follow-up to Springsteen's hugely successful album The River should have been the hit-packed Born in the U.S.A. But instead, in 1982, he came out with an album consisting of a series of dark songs he had recorded by himself, for himself. But more than forty years later, Nebraska is arguably Springsteen's most important record—the lasting clue to understanding not just his career as an artist and the vision behind it, but also the man himself. Nebraska is rough and unfinished, recorded on cassette tape with a simple four-track recorder by Springsteen, alone in his bedroom, just as the digital future was announcing itself. And yet Springsteen now considers it his best album. Nebraska expressed a turmoil that was reflective of the mood of the country, but it was also a symptom of trouble in the artist's life, the beginnings of a mental breakdown that Springsteen would only talk about openly decades after the album's release. (Jeremy Strong mentioned for the role of Jon Landau and Stephen Graham for Douglas 'Dutch' Springsteen. | October 28 - January 17, 2025 | w/t "HUSKER")

Set in a near future Margate, against a backdrop of soaring inequality, The Dream Lands tells the story of Chance, a young woman who discovers life and love, while being forced to fight for her family's survival in a world that's crumbling around her. It's 2039 and temperatures are soaring, seas are rising, and the political climate is equally as menacing. Chance is living a life of crime just to get by, when her community is singled out for a government rejuvenation scheme, promising to bring her coastal town back to life. But when Chance falls in love with Franky, a girl with ties to the establishment, she and those closest to her begin to realize that all may not be as it seems. The Dream Lands is a thrilling voyage of romantic awakening and self-discovery, a defiant community fighting back. Part conspiracy thriller and part relationship drama, the story blazes with the enduring power of love and hope, in a world spinning out of control.

Years ago, bookseller and mystery aficionado Malcolm Kershaw compiled a list of the genre's most unsolvable murders, those that are almost impossible to crack—which he titled “Eight Perfect Murders”—chosen from among the best of the best including Agatha Christie's A. B. C. Murders, Patricia Highsmith's Strangers on a Train, Ira Levin's Deathtrap, A. A. Milne's The Red House Mystery, Anthony Berkeley Cox's Malice Aforethought, James M. Cain's Double Indemnity, John D. MacDonald's The Drowner, and Donna Tartt's The Secret History. But no one is more surprised than Mal, now the owner of the Old Devils Bookstore in Boston, when an FBI agent comes knocking on his door one snowy day in February. She's looking for information about a series of unsolved murders that look eerily similar to the killings on Mal's old list. And the FBI agent isn't the only one interested in this bookseller who spends almost every night at home reading. The killer is out there, watching his every move—a diabolical threat who knows way too much about Mal's personal history, especially the secrets he's never told anyone, even his recently deceased wife. To protect himself, Mal begins looking into possible suspects . . . and sees a killer in everyone around him. But Mal doesn't count on the investigation leaving a trail of death in its wake. Suddenly, a series of shocking twists leaves more victims dead—and the noose around Mal's neck grows so tight he might never escape.

New York, June 1961: the Bill Evans Trio, featuring 25 year old Scott LaFaro on bass, play a series of concerts at the Village Vanguard that will go down in musical history. Shortly afterwards, LaFaro is killed in a car accident, and Evans disappears. This novel the story of what happens next. In measured, evocative prose, it takes a period from the life of one of America's great artists and fashions it into a fiction of extraordinary imaginative skill and ambition. The story inhabits the lives of four people in orbit around a tragedy, presenting an intense and moving portrait of the burden of grief, and of a man lost to his family and to himself. It is also a conjuring of a pivotal moment in American music and culture, and a unique representation of the jazz scene in the early 1960s.

Fallout is the story of haves and have-nots in a world in which there's almost nothing left to have. Two-hundred years after the apocalypse, the gentle denizens of luxury fallout shelters are forced to return to the irradiated hellscape their ancestors left behind—and are shocked to discover an incredibly complex, gleefully weird, and highly violent universe waiting for them. The series stars Ella Purnell as Lucy, an optimistic Vault-dweller with an all-American can-do spirit. Her peaceful and idealistic nature is tested when she is forced to the surface to rescue her father. Aaron Moten is Maximus, a young soldier who rises to the rank of squire in the militaristic faction called the Brotherhood of Steel. He will do anything to further the Brotherhood's goals of bringing law and order to the wasteland. Walton Goggins is the Ghoul, a morally ambiguous bounty hunter who holds within him a 200-year history of the post-nuclear world. These disparate parties collide when chasing an artifact from an enigmatic researcher that has the potential to radically change the power dynamic in this world. Middle-aged couples Jack and Kate Burroughs, Nick and Anne Callan, and Danny and Claudia Zimmer are best friends who do everything together. As couples, they have weathered the flood of divorces that has beset their other friends. When one of the six decides to make a change in life, the other five are forced to examine their marriages, their friendships with one another, the true meaning of love, and their own personal foibles. Over the course of one year, the movie is set against the backdrop of four vacations they take together, one in each of the four seasons, with Antonio Vivaldi's associated suite of music introducing each. By their fourth vacation together, Jack feels that they need to "clear the air."

Derek is a college student who is staying at his family's upper middle-class home for the summer to help care for his ailing mother. He is lured out for the night by his childhood best friend, Tyon, and his new buddy, Kevin. In a "borrowed" new Dodge Charger the three young men depart the suburbs, heading for a nearby party to meet some pretty girls and – with any luck – a fun night of debauchery. Halfway to their destination, the guys find themselves re-routed through a very wealthy, very gated community. They become lost within its walls, and among its affluent residents. Before they can find their way out they witness a man murder a woman inside his home. Temporarily managing to evade the murderer's pursuit, the three begin a terrifying journey through the community, contending with the various forces hunting them as well as dealing with the widening rifts between them. As the night wears on, the tensions rise along with the body count. Alliances and assumptions on all sides will be stretched to the breaking point. If justice is going to prevail, the community's darkest secrets must be forced into the light. But our three young protagonists have the truth on their side. And within "The Gates" – absolutely nothing is more dangerous. (September 16 - October 9, 2024)

In a violent time where respect was taken at the tip of a sword, and gladiators were the rockstars of their era, two women will stake their claim in a sport of death dominated by men to fulfill their respective destinies. Nadja the slave girl, as sensuous as she is savage, captured and forced into training to become a gladiator. She fights hard and well, intent on attaining a long sought freedom. Liza, the Queen, as passionate as she is powerful, married into royalty but her adventurous spirit leads her down the path of the gladiator. Mindful of her husband, the King she shields her identity and fights in secrecy. (September 17 - October 8, 2024)

Set against the backdrop of a thriving distillery town in the Scottish Highlands, Glenrothan, the film will tell the story of two estranged brothers reuniting in the land of their birth. The last time they spoke was on the day of their mother's funeral when, following a violent exchange with their father, the younger of the two left their Highland home for America. Forty years later the brothers finally re-unite, back on Scottish soil and in the village that houses the family business – the Glenrothan Distillery.

The Grays is a contemporary take on the Oscar Wilde classic The Picture Of Dorian Gray, about our fascination with eternal youth set against the backdrop of the modern beauty industry. In a twist on the gothic novel, the series revolves around siblings Basil and Doran Gray. In the 1891 novel, Basil is Dorian's artist friend who is infatuated with his beauty. After Dorian sells his soul, Basil paints a portrait of him that ages and gets distorted while Dorian — keeping his youthful, beautiful looks — descends into self-indulgent sensualism and hedonism and eventually kills Basil, along with others who try to intervene.

Before La La was a strong woman balancing a growing career, a high-profile marriage, and motherhood, she suffered through bad dates, tumultuous relationships, and backstabbing friends. She learned the hard way how to rise above it all to live the life she loves. And now, for the first time, she channels her most rewarding and challenging lessons into a personal playbook, providing empowering, go-to advice for healthy relationships and a happy life. With her attitude of no nonsense and no judgments, La La is the one her friends come to for relationship advice. She tells it like it is, sharing her personal experiences and revealing intimate details about her marriage and past relationships, to illustrate what she's learned the hard way.

One week before Hanukkah, corporate lawyer Tory unexpectedly finds herself out of a job... and, for the first time in years, has time on her hands (and doubts in her head about the career she spent so many years building). Passing the time by helping her Bubby get ready for Hanukkah, Tory goes on a quest to find the last box of “good” Hanukkah candles in Chicago. Little does she know that the handsome doctor from Florida who she “fights” for the last box (Jay) will lead her straight to an Old Town bar called Rocky’s... a detour that will change the course of her life. (But don’t tell her parents, or her Bubby, that she’s not working at the law firm anymore. Tory’s not ready to see the disappointment on their faces. Bragging about her is their full-time job – and Tory’s convinced they’d be devastated if they knew the truth. She’ll tell them after Hanukkah.) At Rocky’s, Tory meets Jay’s grandfather Sam, a widowed retiree whose seat at the corner of the bar has been “his” for decades. Around Sam (the grandfather Tory never had but always wanted), we meet a group of regulars who run the gamut from a frustrated accountant writing the Great American Novel on cocktail napkins, to a “cook” who’s secretly a gourmet chef, to a waitress following her dream of auditioning for Chicago’s Second City. Tory’s so charmed by Sam and his friends (and, eventually, Jay) that she ends up not only bartending that night to help them out in a pinch... she stays behind the bar for all eight nights of Hanukkah, helping turn Rocky’s from a sleepy local haunt past its prime, into a wildly popular Hanukkah pop-up bar called “Hanukkah on the Rocks.” The 8-night Hanukkah party bridges the generations, brings the neighborhood together, and makes Tory happier than she’s been in years. With Hanukkah-themed food, drinks, and games getting bigger and better as each night passes, Tory not only transforms the bar, she also transforms herself and everyone around her, encouraging them to take a chance on their own dreams. Her connection and romance with Jay makes him realize that Sam doesn’t belong in Florida... Jay belongs in Chicago. Tory realizes her calling has always been to help people – she just got a little off-course. With Jay (and Sam) by her side, Tory finds the courage to tell her family the truth, open her heart to change, and let the lights of Hanukkah illuminate all of their paths, guiding them toward a brighter future.

Harriet and Wyn have been the perfect couple since they met in college—they go together like salt and pepper, honey and tea, lobster and rolls. Except, now—for reasons they’re still not discussing—they don’t. They broke up five months ago. And still haven’t told their best friends. Which is how they find themselves sharing a bedroom at the Maine cottage that has been their friend group’s yearly getaway for the last decade. Their annual respite from the world, where for one vibrant, blissful week they leave behind their daily lives; have copious amounts of cheese, wine, and seafood; and soak up the salty coastal air with the people who understand them most. Only this year, Harriet and Wyn are lying through their teeth while trying not to notice how desperately they still want each other. Because the cottage is for sale and this is the last week they’ll all have together in this place. They can’t stand to break their friends’ hearts, and so they’ll play their parts. Harriet will be the driven surgical resident who never starts a fight, and Wyn will be the laid-back charmer who never lets the cracks show. It’s a flawless plan (if you look at it from a great distance and through a pair of sunscreen-smear sunglasses). After years of being in love, how hard can it be to fake it for one week...in front of those who know you best?

The Kalevala is the great Finnish epic, which like the Iliad and the Odyssey, grew out of a rich oral tradition with prehistoric roots. During the first millennium of our era, speakers of Uralic languages (those outside the Indo-European group) who had settled in the Baltic region of Karelia, that straddles the border of eastern Finland and north-west Russia, developed an oral poetry that was to last into the nineteenth century.

In the early 1990s, at the height of the international war on drugs, the government agency in charge of Britain's borders, Her Majesty's Customs and Excise, realized that they were losing the battle against drug smuggling. Their solution was extraordinary. In a top-secret operation, a small team of British Customs employees were sent undercover. Their task – to infiltrate Britain's most dangerous drug gangs. They were not trained spies. These were ordinary men and women, plucked from ordinary lives around the U.K, put through a basic training regime then told to build new identities in the criminal underworld. These identities were called Legends.

On the night of a city shutdown due to race riot, well-to-do couple Lucas and Julia try to enjoy a celebratory meal for Lucas' recent promotion. The couple's evening is interrupted by the appearance of a wounded young black man, Tyson, with a gunshot wound at their door. Julia takes him in, sympathetic to his plight but Lucas is suspicious of Tyson's intentions. Tyson claims he was the victim of a stray bullet, but the facts of his story don't seem to add up to Lucas. When police officer Hank shows up he shows the couple a picture of a man wanted for shooting a cop - and it looks like Tyson. Tyson overhears Hank and escapes. When Hank figures out Lucas and Julia have been aiding the wanted man, he gives Lucas an ultimatum - present Tyson or face charges for aiding a wanted suspect, an accusation that could get Lucas disbarred.

Season 2 kicks off a year after Molly Wells (Rudolph) settles her very public divorce from tech billionaire John Novak (Adam Scott), and we find her thriving in her role as the head of her philanthropic organization, the Wells Foundation. Focused mainly on her charity work, Molly has sworn off any new relationships with men and embarks on a wellness journey. Fabulously single but not particularly independent, Molly keeps her trusty assistant Nicholas (Booster) by her side. He diligently caters to her every whim ... and occasionally feeds her a kale smoothie spiked with gin. Sofia Salinas (Rodriguez), the no-nonsense executive director of the Wells Foundation, continues to run things with compassionate efficiency, but her all-business ethos is thrown for a loop when she meets Molly's charismatic architect friend Isaac (O-T Fagbenle). The bromance between Howard (Funches) and Nicholas also continues to flourish as they support each other in their endeavors both inside and outside the workplace. Meanwhile, Arthur (Faxon) has moved past his feelings for Molly and has adopted a new devil-may-care attitude on life, a change encapsulated by a very lame leather bracelet. The Wells Foundation team, including Rhonda (Meagen Fay) and Ainsley (Stephanie Styles), must pull together as co-workers and friends as Molly strives to publicly live up to her promise of giving away all of her vast fortune. Season 3 will pick up after the Season 2 finale that saw Molly Wells and her trusted and unhinged assistant Nicholas (Joel Kim Booster) board Molly's private jet following her awkward exchange with her will-they, won't-they colleague Arthur (Nat Faxon). Where will the PJ land? Season 3 will continue to follow the antics of the beloved group of misfits at The Wells Foundation. (January 27 - May 16, 2025 | w/t "TARZANA")

Retired NFL coach John Madden teams up with Harvard programmer Trip to create the first football video game after getting fired by the Oakland Raiders. Struggling to find programmers familiar with football, Madden takes on the task of teaching them. Meanwhile, Madden's rival Joe Montana is also developing a game, creating a race against time. The unlikely duo faces challenges and competition but remains determined to leave a lasting legacy in the gaming industry. This 1980s story revolves around camaraderie and the quest to build a groundbreaking football video game despite the odds, as Madden and Trip embark on an unexpected journey.

About professional ping pong player Marty Reisman (Chalamet), who died in 2012, was a table tennis champion who started his career as a hustler in Manhattan, playing for bets and prize money. He won 22 major ping pong titles from 1946 to 2002 and won five bronze medals at the World Table Tennis Championships. At 67, he competed in the United States National Hardbat Championship and became the oldest player to win an open national competition in a racket sport. He was known as the “wizard of table tennis” and even opened for the Harlem Globetrotters with his ping pong comedy routine. (September 30 - December 19, 2024 | aka “UNTITLED ITTF PROJECT”)

It's 1942, and London remains under constant threat of enemy attack as the second world war rages on. In the Bethnal Green neighborhood, Nellie Morris counts every day lucky that she emerges from the underground shelters unharmed, her loving family still surrounding her. Three years into the war, she's grateful to hold onto remnants of normalcy—her job as assisting the mayor and nights spent at the local pub with her best friend. But after a chance encounter with Ray, an American airman stationed nearby, Nellie becomes enchanted with the idea of a broader world. Just when Nellie begins to embrace an exciting new life with Ray, a terrible incident occurs during an air raid one evening, and the consequences are catastrophic. As the truth about that night is revealed, Nellie's world is torn apart. When it seems all hope is lost, Nellie finds that, against all odds, love and happiness can triumph.

In Obituary, 24-year-old Elvira Clancy is feeling unfulfilled, although she adores her job writing obituaries. When her newspaper falls on hard times, her boss tells her he is unable to keep her on the payroll and she finds herself being paid per obituary overnight... When she "accidentally" kills a nasty piece of work in the town, she discovers she might have an untapped bloodlust! She relishes using ever more crafty methods to kill off the town's unpleasant residents while making them look like accidents. Unfortunately, a wrench lands in the works – the paper hires a suspicious new crime correspondent with a penchant for conspiracy theories, and she really, really likes him.

The contemporary drama about intertwining digital and real lives. Only Love Exists is the story of Teresa, a medical assistant who cares for patients in her work and engages with the fears and desires of others on the internet. Over time, the virtual world starts to encroach into her real life as Teresa indulges more and more in her own desires somewhere on the border of the two dimensions. After a brush with death, Teresa becomes more acutely aware of the physical world around her, where beauty and oppression coexist, the synopsis says. Through the act of caring for a friend, Teresa begins a journey of salvation.

Two best friends. Ten summer trips. One last chance to fall in love. Poppy and Alex. Alex and Poppy. They have nothing in common. She's a wild child; he wears khakis. She has insatiable wanderlust; he prefers to stay home with a book. And somehow, ever since a fateful car share home from college many years ago, they are the very best of friends. For most of the year they live far apart—she's in New York City, and he's in their small hometown—but every summer, for a decade, they have taken one glorious week of vacation together. Until two years ago, when they ruined everything. They haven't spoken since. Poppy has everything she should want, but she's stuck in a rut. When someone asks when she was last truly happy, she knows, without a doubt, it was on that ill-fated, final trip with Alex. And so, she decides to convince her best friend to take one more vacation together—lay everything on the table, make it all right. Miraculously, he agrees. Now she has a week to fix everything. If only she can get around the one big truth that has always stood quietly in the middle of their seemingly perfect relationship. What could possibly go wrong?

Having recently moved both herself and her formidable perfume bottle collection into a tiny bungalow in Los Angeles, mid-list author Astrid Dahl finds herself back in the Zoom writer's group she cofounded, Sapphic Scribes, after an incident that leaves her and her career lightly canceled. But she temporarily forgets all that by throwing herself into a few sexy distractions—like Ivy, a grad student researching 1950s lesbian pulp who smells like metallic orchids, or her new neighbor, Penelope, who smells like patchouli. Penelope, a painter living off Urban Outfitters settlement money, immediately ingratiates herself in Astrid's life, bonding with her best friends and family, just as Astrid and Ivy begin to date in person. Astrid feels judged and threatened by Penelope, a responsible older vegan, but also finds her irresistibly sexy. When Astrid receives an unexpected call from her agent with the news that actress and influencer Kat Gold wants to adapt her previous novel for TV, Astrid finally has a chance to resurrect her waning career. But the pressure causes Astrid's worst vice to rear its head—the Patricia Highsmith, a blend of Adderall, alcohol, and cigarettes—and results in blackouts and a disturbing series of events.

Who has not at one time wanted to go back and change the course of events? And what if you were given a second chance, a Plan B? The day when Philippe discovers an incredible small company called Plan B that offers the possibility of going back in time, he does not hesitate. Since, the love of his life and companion for the past six years, has left him his life has lost its meaning. With the tremendous power he wields thanks to Plan B, he attempts to save his relationship, his law firm despite his shady business partner/friend and his dysfunctional family. He goes as far as manipulating them to achieve his goals. But Philippe soon realizes that even the smallest choice has repercussions – as uncontrollable as they are unexpected – on his life and the lives of others. And even though Philippe can stop tragic events before they happen, he cannot erase the memories and the emotions associated with them. Nothing will ever be without consequence again. This high concept is a gripping and intimate psychological drama that follows a man on a desperate and relentless quest to save his small world, and who comes to the realization that he is its own worst enemy. And you? Would you be willing to risk... a Plan B? (September 9 - December 3, 2024)

After Tova Sullivan's husband died, she began working the night shift at the Sowell Bay Aquarium, mopping floors and tidying up. Keeping busy has always helped her cope, which she's been doing since her eighteen-year-old son, Erik, mysteriously vanished on a boat in Puget Sound over thirty years ago. Tova becomes acquainted with curmudgeonly Marcellus, a giant Pacific octopus living at the aquarium. Marcellus knows more than anyone can imagine but wouldn't dream of lifting one of his eight arms for his human captors—until he forms a remarkable friendship with Tova. Ever the detective, Marcellus deduces what happened the night Tova's son disappeared. And now Marcellus must use every trick his old invertebrate body can muster to unearth the truth for her before it's too late.

Resident Alien follows a crash-landed alien named Harry (Alan Tudyk) whose secret mission is to kill all humans. In season two, Harry is once again stranded on Earth where he must confront the consequences of having failed his people's mission to destroy the human race. The second half of Season 2 picks up in the immediate aftermath of the shocking action Asta (Sara Tomko) took to save Harry's life. They must deal with the emotional fallout of the night all while searching for the alien baby – a search that leads to big realizations for each of them. Meanwhile, Sheriff Mike (Corey Reynolds) and Deputy Liv (Elizabeth Bowen) solve a big case, Ben (Levi Fiebler) and Kate (Meredith Garrettson) attempt to sell Patience on a new resort, and D'arcy (Alice Wetterlund) fights the challenge of a lifetime. Patch Simmons has decided that this is the year he will get a boyfriend, so it's goodbye to his French pen-pal Jean-Pierre and hello to the world! Unfortunately, the only other "out" boys in his school year are dating each other, so finding a boyfriend isn't going to be easy... Until fate finally intervenes and two new mysterious boys join drama club: Peter, who's just moved from New York (very chic) and his best friend, Sam. Patch is confident that one of them (although either of them will do!) will be his first boyfriend. So armed with his single mum's outdated self-help books, his over-supportive best friend Jean and an alarming level of self-confidence, Patch is confident that this mission will be a complete success. Whether or not they actually like boys or him is a problem for later.

In Ted, the series, it's 1993 and Ted the bear's moment of fame has passed, leaving him living with his best friend, 16-year-old John Bennett (Burkholder), who lives in a working-class Boston home with his parents and cousin. Ted may not be the best influence on John, but when it comes right down to it, Ted's willing to go out on a limb to help his friend and his family. Whigham will play Blaire Bennett, a smart and politically correct college student who's living with her Uncle Matty, Aunt Susan and younger cousin John. She is not afraid to be outspoken and frequently clashes with her more traditionalist family. Grimes will play Matty Bennett, a blustering, blue-collar Bostonian who thinks he is the unequivocal boss in the family, and doesn't like anyone challenging him, particularly his liberal-minded niece, Blaire. The Trades is an exciting, hilarious new half-hour comedy series set in a working-class town where the stress and high risks of working in a refinery are balanced by the comedic, high-wire and outrageous antics of its plant workers. The giant flare stack of the Conch Industries refinery burns over Imperial Valley, Nova Scotia, like a beacon of economy, ingenuity, and incendiary personalities. Here is where we find Todd Stool, proud pipe-fitter for Union 519, who for over 20 years has worked his way up from apprentice to (almost) site manager – a job that he fully expects to be his when current site manager, Bennett, falls into a drug induced coma in the pilot. But unfortunately for Todd, Conch corporate office sends Chelsea – an aspiring hotshot executive – to Imperial Valley to clean shop, and unbeknownst to everyone (including Chelsea), shut down its operations. The cast of hilarious tradespeople and refinery workers create a community of pranksters, laborers, friends and enemies. Enter Todd's sister, Audrey, who finds the motivation to leave her tedious life in retail for a career path in the trades. She applies to Imperial Valley as an apprentice carpenter, which stresses Todd out and disrupts the flow of his crew. It only gets more complicated when Audrey strikes up a special friendship with Chelsea, and tensions rise between the tradespeople and management. But what started out as rivalry between Todd and Chelsea slowly becomes common ground as Todd realizes he might be the only pipe-fitter in town who can stop an extinction event which threatens every citizen in Imperial Valley.

Under Salt Marsh is a gripping crime thriller set in the fictional Welsh town of Morfa Halen, a tight-knit community precariously nestled between towering mountains and a fast-encroaching sea that threatens its very existence. As a once-in-a-generation storm begins to gather far out at sea, former detective turned teacher Jackie Ellis (Reilly) discovers the body of her 8-year-old pupil, Cefin, seemingly drowned. The discovery sends shockwaves through the community, reviving the ghost of an unsolved cold case that rocked the town three years prior – the disappearance of Jackie’s niece, Nessa, which cost her career. Cefin’s death summons Jackie’s former partner, Detective Eric Bull, back to Morfa Halen to lead the investigation into a community he failed once before. Convinced the cases are linked, Jackie and Bull must reconcile and race to uncover long-buried secrets inside Morfa, before the storm breaks and all the evidence is gone for good. An intimate and cinematic story, Under Salt Marsh takes audiences into the heart of a community bound by nature and fractured by an unthinkable crime. (August 2024 - December 2024)

The biopic will chart the true story of Christy Martin’s rise to become America’s most well known female boxer in the 1990s — the female Rocky. A naturally gifted fighter, her life transformed in 1989 when she met her manager, and later husband, Jim Martin. Breaking boundaries, she became the first woman to sign with iconic promoter Don King, and the only female boxer to appear on the cover of Sports Illustrated. Her charisma, good looks and resilience in the ring won her an avid fanbase and propelled her to become welterweight champion. But behind the well-honed public persona, she tackled personal demons, toxic relationships, and a brutal attempt on her life. (September 30 - November 15, 2024)

1938. Hitler's expansionist policies are arousing both anger and admiration, not least in Helsinki's Wednesday Club. The members of this relaxed gentleman's club are old friends of lawyer Claes Thune. But this year it is apparent that the political unrest in Europe is having an effect on the cohesion of the group. Thune has recently divorced and is at something of a loss, running his law practice with no great enthusiasm. Luckily he has the assistance of an efficient new secretary, Matilda Wiik. But behind her polished exterior Mrs Wiik is tormented by memories of the Finnish Civil War, when she experienced horrors she has been trying to forget ever since. And one evening, with the Wednesday Club gathered in Thune's office, she hears a voice she hoped she would never hear again. She is suddenly plunged back into the past. But this time she is no longer a helpless victim.

Passionate about conservation and fleeing an argument with her mother, newly qualified London vet Charlotte Walker has taken up a fellowship on the tiny South Atlantic island of Tuga de Oro to study the endangered gold coin tortoises in the jungle interior. She can claim the best of reasons for this year in paradise—What better motivation than to save a species?—but the reality is more complex. For Charlotte has secretly come to believe that she has her own connection to this remote and eccentric community, and she is finally determined to solve the mystery that has dominated her life. But she will have little time for any of her declared or covert investigations. She is inconveniently attracted to the new island doctor. And not only do Tuga's tortoises need attention but so too do the island's dogs, goats, and donkeys—not to mention the islanders themselves, determined to win Charlotte over with cake and homemade jam until she relents and becomes vet to all their animals.

"WHAT DID YOU DO" Feature Film

STATUS: November 1 LOCATION: Austin, TX
DIRECTOR: Stephen Romano CD: Jeff Hardwick

A recently discharged young soldier hired to guard a mysterious prisoner in a safe house realizes he's caught in the center of an eccentric gangster's deadly game. Alice, a rugged and thoughtful ex-military man, is hired by Reggie, an eccentric crime boss, for a mysterious job: babysitting Jack, an angry man duct-taped to a chair in a remote safe house. Each night, Alice is relieved by a crew that seems to be preparing for torture, yet each morning Jack is unharmed. As Alice and Jack bond through deep conversations, Alice realizes he's being tested by Reggie, who wants to recruit him into his criminal organization. Reggie threatens Alice's estranged wife, Marion, and his mother, Donna, if he refuses the offer. When Alice finally asks Jack what he did, the shocking revelation propels Alice into a deadly confrontation with Reggie's ruthless syndicate. In a final, brutal struggle, Alice, Jack, and Marion fight for survival as they face the consequences of their choices and the full wrath of Reggie's criminal empire.
