The feminist fairy tale, centers around two women, Cherry (Monroe) and Hero (Corrin), who are in love. Cherry is married to a man named Jerome, who, despite his marriage, makes a bet with his friend, a lecherous villain named Manfred (Galitzine), that Manfred can seduce Cherry within 100 nights. If Manfred succeeds, Jerome will give Cherry to him. Cherry, however, isn't interested and devises a plan with her lover, Hero, who over the course of 100 nights, will tell him a series of captivating stories to distract him from his seduction attempts.

The series tells the story of twenty-something Máximo Gallardo (Enrique Arrizon), whose dream comes true when he gets the job of a lifetime as a cabana boy at the hottest resort in Acapulco. In Season 3 of the series inspired by the 3Pas Studios and Pantelion Films' feature How to Be A Latin Lover, past mistakes were reconciled with exciting new beginnings. In the present story, older Máximo (Eugenio Derbez) returns to a Las Colinas he no longer recognizes. While in 1985, younger Máximo (Enrique Arrizón) continues his climb up the ladder of success while potentially jeopardizing all the relationships he's worked so hard to build. It is the zombie apocalypse and Adam and Amy have just out run a gang of flesh-eating zombies. The good news is, they're safe. Hiding out in an abandoned pizza delivery car. The bad news is, they're trapped in a car with no keys and surrounded by hungry zombies. Even worse news is that they are alone together. You see Adam and Amy used to be married. They used to be in love. They used to think they were each other's one and only. And now that they might actually be the one and only man and woman left on the planet, it's time they figure out what went wrong and give this relationship one last shot. And as painful as that might sound, it's still not the worst news yet. One of them is hiding a secret that will not only change their relationship forever, it will determine if they live or die.

Based on the true story of the Whittington brothers — Don, Bill, and Dale — all of whom were race car drivers who competed in the Indy 500 (Don and Bill even won at Le Mans). And yet the siblings saw even more action off the track, as they were also smuggling marijuana into the U.S. from South America with the help of a mysterious man known only as Bulletproof Jones. Two of the brothers were actually arrested as part of the IMSA drug smuggling scandal of the 1980s, in which several drivers were caught financing their racing activities with illegal profits from the drug trade.

The world's most powerful superheroes ('Supes') are secretly bending society to its whims, until the underdog team 'The Boys', victims of the 'Supes', conjure up a plan to take down 'The Seven' and 'Vought International' once and for all. Fighting a never ending conspiracy of corporate espionage, deep-cutting secrets and nigh-Godly figures, 'The Boys' will do whatever it takes to save the world from its corrupt 'superheroes' before they become unstoppable--or die trying. In Season 4, the world is on the brink. Victoria Neuman is closer than ever to the Oval Office and under the muscly thumb of Homelander, who is consolidating his power. Butcher, with only months to live, has lost Becca's son and his job as The Boys' leader. The rest of the team are fed up with his lies. With the stakes higher than ever, they have to find a way to work together and save the world before it's too late.

The tragic Clayface is a virtually indestructible shape-shifting monster who's both threatened Gotham City and served as an ally to Batman. In Gotham City, people are never quite what they seem—sometimes literally. As one of the most skilled and dangerous shape-shifters in the DC Universe, Clayface is a complicated and multifaceted rogue who oozes in and out of different roles with the fluidity of the mud that makes up his body. Numerous beings have held the name Clayface, including the victim of a tragic accident and a crook who unlocked the secrets of magical clay to grant himself powers. The Clayface story is constantly evolving and pulling new people into the muck and mire. With a total of eight different characters officially holding the mantle at one time or another, knowing just whom—and what—to expect from a Clayface can be a tricky affair. Virtually indestructible, criminally devious and brilliant at improvisation, even the most harmless-looking incarnations of Gotham's resident mud-based monster represent a massive potential threat—one that Batman must grapple with regularly to keep his city safe.

Everyone in Lake Eden, Minnesota, may have had their doubts, but at long last, Hannah Swensen is getting married! Hannah is thrilled to be marrying Ross Barton, her college crush. And her excitement only grows when she learns he'll be able to join her on her trip to New York City for the Food Channel's dessert chef contest. They get a taste of the Big Apple before Hannah wins the Hometown Challenge and the producers bring all the contestants to Lake Eden to tape the remainder of the show. It's nerve-wracking enough being judged by Alain Duquesne, a celebrity chef with a nasty reputation. But it's even more chilling to find him stabbed to death in the Lake Eden Inn's walk-in cooler—before he's even had a chance to taste Hannah's Butterscotch Sugar Cookies! Now Hannah has not only lost her advantage, she'll have to solve a mystery with more layers than a five-tiered wedding cake. (aka "WEDDING CAKE MURDER")

Countdown starts following a suspicious murder in broad daylight, which leads to LAPD officer Mark Meachum (Ackles) being recruited to join a secret task force of undercover agents from all branches of law enforcement to investigate. But as the truth of a more sinister plot comes into focus, the team must overcome their conflicting personal agendas to unite and save a city of millions. Camacho will play Amber Oliveras, a Special Agent, Drug Enforcement Agency with 14 years on the job. Undercover in multiple operations. She's a badass who won't take crap from anyone. She's intrigued by this new opps team and though she seems to do well enough on her own, it'll be a nice change of pace working with others. Dane will play Nathan Blythe, Special Agent in Charge who's been with the Bureau for 22 years. Military cut, trim, fit, and packing an imposing glare, he's seen a lot in his days on the job, and he has a passion for fighting for justice. Though this isn't his first task force he's led, this one is different. He had already been looking into a potential deal going on with a foreign player trying to buy off DHS officers but was denied when he tried to open an investigation. After Darden's death, he took matters into his own hands and started going around certain people and keeping things tightly locked, including this opps team. He carefully assembled and handpicked everyone on it and doesn't hesitate to light a fire under them. He wants this solved by any means necessary. (September 9 - February 17, 2025)

A tennis pro at the tiny country club run by his dad, Dusty (Johnson) is cocky, unable to recognize love when it slaps him in the face, and far too full of himself to compete without his father's begrudging protection. Dusty despises pickleball (it's a kid's game), but he hates losing even more, so when 70 year old Candace schools him hard in her stupid game he's out to prove himself.

DMV is a workplace comedy set at the place everyone dreads going most: the DMV. Our quirky and lovable characters are making minimum wage, doing a thankless job where customers are annoyed before they even walk in the door. Good thing they have each other. Meadows will play former high school English teacher Gregg, the examiner who likes to get through the driving tests, and the day, as quickly as possible. An uncanny ability to make dead-on observations of those around him, Gregg is sardonic, defeated and would love nothing more than to retire.

Set in a near future Margate, against a backdrop of soaring inequality, The Dream Lands tells the story of Chance, a young woman who discovers life and love, while being forced to fight for her family's survival in a world that's crumbling around her. It's 2039 and temperatures are soaring, seas are rising, and the political climate is equally as menacing. Chance is living a life of crime just to get by, when her community is singled out for a government rejuvenation scheme, promising to bring her coastal town back to life. But when Chance falls in love with Franky, a girl with ties to the establishment, she and those closest to her begin to realize that all may not be as it seems. The Dream Lands is a thrilling voyage of romantic awakening and self-discovery, a defiant community fighting back. Part conspiracy thriller and part relationship drama, the story blazes with the enduring power of love and hope, in a world spinning out of control.

Set in the rich farmland of the Salinas Valley, California, this often brutal novel follows the intertwined destinies of two families - the Trasks and the Hamiltons - whose generations hopelessly re-enact the fall of Adam and Eve and the poisonous rivalry of Cain and Abel. Spanning the period between the American Civil War and the end of World War I, the story highlights the conflicts of two generations of brothers; the first being the kind, gentle Adam Trask and his wild brother Charles. Adam eventually marries Cathy Ames, an evil, manipulative, and beautiful prostitute; she betrays him, joining Charles on the very night of their wedding. Later, after giving birth to twin boys, she shoots Adam and leaves him to return to her former profession. In the shadow of this heritage Adam raises their sons, the fair-haired, winning, yet intractable Aron, and the dark, clever Caleb. This second generation of brothers vie for their father's approval. In bitterness Caleb reveals the truth about their mother to Aron, who then joins the army and is killed in France. (October 14 - March 12, 2025 | w/t "TIMSHELL")

It takes place on a long-haul flight. And quite soon after take-off, the crew of the flight is telling the passengers that the entertainment system is down. They are now stuck on a 15 or 17 hour-long flight without any digital entertainment. They don't have the screens that we are so used to in our contemporary world. So, it's going to be like a study of how human beings interact in this little laboratory that is a plane. It will look at how modern human beings are wrecked under these circumstances.

Every Thursday. 9pm. Tom and Evie (Wood) watch a film together in her garage. Evie lovingly decorates the space to match the film of the week - from a yellow brick road for The Wizard of Oz to a space craft for Alien. It's magical. They're there for the love of the movies. Or at least, that's what they tell themselves. In reality, Tom is madly in love with Evie. What he doesn't know is that Evie is in love with him too. But when Tom accepts a job at the other end of the country, their happily ever after comes under threat. He's leaving in six weeks. That means Evie has six film clubs left to tell Tom how she feels, or risk losing him forever. Evie is going to have to navigate all of this amongst the chaos of her family home - her eccentric and unconventional mother, Suz, and her younger sister Izzy. A trio of women full of love, and dysfunction, in equal measure.

New lovebirds Kate and Sean are about to jump into the hellscape that is the inner-city rental market, until Kate inherits a huge mansion in the country. Moving in together for the first time the young couple are attempting domestic bliss, but unbeknown to them, the house is haunted by a collection of needy spirits who carked it in Ramshead Manor over the last 200 years. Optimistic go-getter Kate wants to revamp the manor into a boutique hotel, but lovable city boy Sean isn't so sure, he isn't built for country living. When a near-death experience gives Kate the power to see the ghosts, all their lives (and afterlives) will change forever. As Kate and Sean navigate the milestones of a new relationship, building a business and dealing with the emotional needs of six neurotic ghosts, will their relationship survive or end up as dead as their new housemates?

The psychological thriller, is set in the sweltering heat of Atlanta, Anna (Thompson) lives in haunting reclusively, fading away from her friends and career as a journalist. But when she overhears about a murder in Dahlonega – the sleepy town where she grew up – Anna is snapped back to life, pouncing on the case and searching for answers. Detective Jack Harper is strangely suspicious of her involvement, chasing her into the crosshairs of his own investigation. There are two sides to every story: His & Hers, which means someone is always lying. Bernthal plays a Sheriff's Office detective who lost his last job and is now working in his small hometown of Dahlonega, Georgia, where he lives with his sister and niece. He is married to newscaster Anna, but the two are estranged, their relationship complicated by loss and betrayal. Jack is a good man who doesn't always make good decisions and is deeply troubled by the murder case he's just picked up. Schreiber will play Richard, one of the best cameramen at WSK TV News, and he's also the husband of hot new anchor Lexy Jones, who slid into her position during the recent absence of regular anchor Anna Andrews. Richard is chosen by Anna to be her cameraman when, upon her return, she picks up the story of a murder in Dahlonega as a field reporter.

Kaboul, Montréal takes us in Afghanistan where Zarmina Latif, fifteen years old, forced to marry a sixty-five-year-old man, flees her hometown to marry an Afghan living in Montréal. Organized by her mother – who strives for a better life for her daughter - her escape comes at a cost: Zarmina’s children will have one day to marry their cousins, allowing them to live in Canada. 15 years later, the pact resurfaces. Zarmina is now a widow and her son Hakim has become the head of the family. Under his uncle’s orders, he must bring his sister Mina back to Kabul to marry her cousin. Well integrated in Montréal, Zarmina and Mina vehemently refuse. Their opposition will have tragic consequences. Kaboul, Montréal: a film that portrays characters condemned by fate to live a tragic end.

The story delves into the depths of a remote valley in the Cévennes where a community of neo-rural folk live self-sufficiently, denying themselves nothing and sharing everything. Just like in the '70s, love and brotherhood are cardinal values. Everyone finds their place, what they need and their goals right here. Everyone except Anja, that is, an elusive and perturbed child who runs away from the community one day to live in a nigh-on state of wildness in the surrounding woods. Based on actual events, a riveting survival action/thriller that tells the story of how a young John F. Kennedy struggled to save the crew of his PT Boat after it was sunk by a Japanese warship during World War II. Kennedy was the commander of patrol torpedo boat PT 109 in the South Pacific when it was rammed by a Japanese destroyer Amagin, killing two crewmen. With the crew presumed dead by allies, Kennedy led the 11 survivors in swimming to a deserted island, where the crew had to hide from passing Japanese barges. Kennedy swam over two miles to two other islands in search of help and food, then led his men to Olasana Island, which had coconut trees and drinkable water, before they were rescued. He and his shipmates engaged friendly locals and after scrawling an SOS on a coconut, they were finally located by rescuers.

In a small Tennessee town, a local serial killer was caught by the most unlikely investigators: A group of high school students, led by their teacher, Alex Campbell. Throughout the course of one school semester, the class pieced together a 30-year-old mystery and identified the killer behind at least six brutal murders. Shockingly, while the Tennessee Bureau of Investigations publicly agrees with their theory, no charges have been filed against the murderer. While some sleuthing students already have graduated, they, along with a fresh crop of current high schoolers, still want to finish the assignment, once and for all.

Following the untimely death of the sheriff of the town of Normal, Ulysses (Odenkirk) fills the void as a substitute lawman until an official replacement is named. It's a sleepy town (population: 4,890) with simple problems, yet Ulysses can't shake a nagging suspicion that life is just a little too perfect for the colorful townsfolk. When an out-of-town couple robs the lone bank, they unwittingly blow the doors off the secret to Normal's too-good-to-be true success. Everyone—from the bartender to the priest—is on the payroll and ready to kill to keep the town's secrets under wraps. And now Ulysses, who's up-till-now focused only on running away from the demons of his past, must take a stand and fight. With no choice but to form an alliance with the robbers and a disaffected loaner, it's up to Ulysses to take on the town's citizens-turned-assassins in a bone-crunching, bullet-dodging, relentless fight for survival. But the residents of Normal will stop at nothing to protect their way of life. (October 21 - December 13, 2024)

A romantic seven-day cruise is the perfect start to bakery owner Hannah Swensen’s marriage. However, with a murder mystery heating up in Lake Eden, Minnesota, it seems the newlywed’s homecoming won’t be as sweet as anticipated. After an extravagant honeymoon, Hannah’s eager to settle down in Lake Eden and turn domestic daydreams into reality. But when her mother’s neighbor is discovered murdered in the condo downstairs, reality becomes a nightmarish investigation. Victoria Bascomb, once a renowned stage actress, was active in the theater community during her brief appearance in town . . . and made throngs of enemies along the way. Did a random intruder murder the woman as police claim, or was a deadlier scheme at play? As Hannah peels through countless suspects and some new troubles of her own, solving this crime—and living to tell about it—might prove trickier than mixing up the ultimate banana cream pie. (aka “BANANA CREAM PIE MURDER”)

Red Eye, told over six parts, is set between an all-night plane flight from London to Beijing and the corridors of power within Whitehall. After attending a medical conference in Beijing and coming frighteningly close to dying in a car crash, Dr. Matthew Nolan (Armitage), arrives home and is immediately arrested at London's Heathrow Airport. Exhausted and confused, Nolan is accused of the murder of a woman who was in the car he crashed. Despite his protests that he was driving alone, Nolan is set to return to China to face charges. DC Hana Li (Lusi), is the no-nonsense, London officer charged with accompanying Nolan back to Beijing. Her resentment for this assignment, and of Nolan himself, is immediate. However, in flight, when a first death occurs, DC Li begins to suspect foul play. Further deaths confirm that Nolan is in danger, and after a call from MI5, Hana finds herself embroiled in an escalating conspiracy. Back in London, we follow Hana's sister, scrappy, reporter Jess Li (Moore), who is running her own investigation into Nolan's extradition and finds herself running for her life from an unknown assassin. And in Thames House, the head of MI5, Madeline Delaney (Sharp), breaks protocol and risks her entire career to not only help Hana and Nolan stay alive, but to expose an international conspiracy that seems to implicate both China and people in her own government.

Morgan Grant (Williams) and her sixteen-year-old daughter, Clara (Grace), would like nothing more than to be nothing alike. Morgan is determined to prevent her daughter from making the same mistakes she did. By getting pregnant and married way too young, Morgan put her own dreams on hold. Clara doesn't want to follow in her mother's footsteps. Her predictable mother doesn't have a spontaneous bone in her body. With warring personalities and conflicting goals, Morgan and Clara find it increasingly difficult to coexist. The only person who can bring peace to the household is Chris—Morgan's husband, Clara's father, and the family anchor. But that peace is shattered when Chris is involved in a tragic and questionable accident. The heartbreaking and long-lasting consequences will reach far beyond just Morgan and Clara. While struggling to rebuild everything that crashed around them, Morgan finds comfort in the last person she expects to, and Clara turns to the one boy she's been forbidden to see. With each passing day, new secrets, resentment, and misunderstandings make mother and daughter fall further apart. So far apart, it might be impossible for them to ever fall back together.

After Tova Sullivan's husband died, she began working the night shift at the Sowell Bay Aquarium, mopping floors and tidying up. Keeping busy has always helped her cope, which she's been doing since her eighteen-year-old son, Erik, mysteriously vanished on a boat in Puget Sound over thirty years ago. Tova becomes acquainted with curmudgeonly Marcellus, a giant Pacific octopus living at the aquarium. Marcellus knows more than anyone can imagine but wouldn't dream of lifting one of his eight arms for his human captors—until he forms a remarkable friendship with Tova. Ever the detective, Marcellus deduces what happened the night Tova's son disappeared. And now Marcellus must use every trick his old invertebrate body can muster to unearth the truth for her before it's too late.

On one miraculous day in rural Wisconsin, the recently deceased suddenly rise from their graves. But this is no zombie story, as the ‘revived’ appear and act just like they once were. When local officer and single mother Dana Cypress is unexpectedly thrown into the center of a brutal murder mystery of her own, she’s left to make sense of the chaos amidst a town gripped by fear and confusion where everyone, alive or undead, is a suspect. Scrofano plays Dana, who is constantly having to prove her worth to a stubborn sheriff, who just so happens to be her father. And just when she is about to leave her small town for good, the events of Revival Day change that, instead sending her into her most important case to date. Weltman plays Martha “Em” Cypress, the sheriff’s younger daughter who, having led a very sheltered life due to a recurring illness, is still figuring out her place in the world. A world that for her in particular, is now turned upside down. Elliott plays Wayne Cypress, the longtime Wausau sheriff who is determined to keep his town and family as normal and safe as possible — a tall order when the dead return to life in the small town he’s sworn to protect. McQueen plays Ibrahim Ramin, scientist from the Center for Disease Control who has been stationed in Wausau to study the bizarre phenomenon that brought people back to life. Kim North runs the North Star Santa Academy, a school that supplies perfectly trained Kris Kringles to malls and villages across the nation. But her principal competitor, The St. Nicholas School, has been eating her lunch for the last eleven years, and Kim thinks maybe it's time to sell out. A desperate Kim agrees to hire Dan, a refugee from The St. Nicholas School, as a new-hire Santa trainer, and that's when a miracle happens (no, not the miracle of love, that comes later). After they find a dazed old man with amnesia wandering in the woods, and see eight reindeer flying a sleigh away from the accident site, Kim and Dan realize that Nick might be their ace in the hole -- if anyone can get this year's dismal crop of Kringle-trainees into Macy's-ready Santa's Helpers, it's this guy.

After the death of his mother, shy and artistic Gus Shepard (18) travels to Livingston, Montana to live with his absent, woodworking father, Dan Shepard (50s). However, he is quickly distracted by an attractive and rebellious skateboarder, Bridger Owens (18), whom Gus promises to build a handcrafted board for in exchange for skating lessons. Romantic tension soon builds between the unlikely young friends while swimming, skating, sketching, and exploring the stunning nature around them. Max Stevens (22), the brash leader of the local skate crew, doesn't like that Bridger spends increasingly more time with Gus and becomes jealous: hiding his own growing feelings towards his absent best friend. An effortlessly cool Skater Girl named Tara Shae also finds Gus intriguing, but unlike the other local boys, she finds kinship in Gus for his dreams of being an artist and escaping their small hometown. Tara senses in Gus that he may also be queer like her after noticing his blossoming deep friendship with Bridger. After a boozy bonfire party in the woods, a vulnerable conversation sparks intense feelings that both Gus and Bridger can no longer deny. The boys' shared secret lessons and changes in demeanor start causing suspicion amongst their local friends and family. Their small town feels inescapable. When the boys notice leftover wood scraps from Dan's carpentry shop, they decide to create a side business selling homemade boards around town. This leads to their relationship getting exposed and both boys must come clean. The pressures of hiding their truths, fitting in, and life-changing too fast causes Gus and Bridger's fragile bond to fracture. The boys debate if life's challenges are even worth their risks and struggle to find the next step forward before their picturesque summer's end threatens to pull them apart.

The iconic hard rock band KISS concert arena anthems will be a big part, but the film will focus on that Gene Simmons and Paul Stanley going back to when they were two misfit kids from Queens who form an unlikely friendship. After enlisting guitarist Ace Frehley and drummer Peter Criss, start KISS. Trying to set themselves apart from the 'hair' bands of the day, they accented their power chords and pyrotechnics with makeup. At heart, their formative story is in the vein of The Commitments, if that Irish soul band employed kabuki makeup and spiked heels.

London's Slough House is where the washed-up MI5 spies go to while away what's left of their failed careers. The "slow horses", as they're called, have all disgraced themselves in some way to get relegated here. Maybe they messed up an op badly and can't be trusted anymore. Maybe they got in the way of an ambitious colleague and had the rug yanked out from under them. Maybe they just got too dependent on the bottle - not unusual in this line of work. One thing they all have in common, though, is they all want to be back in the action. And most of them would do anything to get there - even if it means having to collaborate with one another. Now the slow horses have a chance at redemption. In the fifth outing, everyone is suspicious when resident tech nerd Roddy Ho (Christopher Chung) has a glamorous new girlfriend, but when a series of increasingly bizarre events occur across the city, it falls to the Slow Horses to work out how everything is connected. In an age where Humans and Fairies coexist, tragedy strikes the Human Realm when its King and Queen meet an untimely death. Their young son, now the sole heir, faces the daunting task of ruling a kingdom teetering on the edge of collapse. Overwhelmed by grief and fear, the child's plight moves the Faerie Queen, who compassionately spirits him away to the Faerie State, to preserve his innocence. Yet, this well-meaning act unwittingly deepens the crisis in the Human Realm. As the balance between the two worlds crumbles, a unique band of heroes emerges: The Poet, The Knight, The Horse and The Fae Princess. United by a common cause, they embark on a journey to locate the lost Prince and restore him to his rightful throne, in hopes of rekindling the equilibrium between the Human and Faerie worlds. Kara Zor-El has seen some epic adventures over the years, but she now finds her life without meaning or purpose. Here she is, a young woman who saw her planet destroyed and was sent to Earth to protect a baby cousin who ended up not needing her. What was it all for? Wherever she goes, people only see her through the lens of Superman's fame. Just when Supergirl thinks she's had enough, everything changes. An alien girl seeks her out for a vicious mission. Her world has been destroyed, and the bad guys responsible are still out there. She wants revenge, and if Supergirl doesn't help her, she'll do it herself, whatever the cost. Now a Kryptonian, a dog, and an angry, heartbroken child head out into space on a journey that will shake them to their very core. The stoner comedy, tells the tale of two naive slackers, Sam (Paxton) and Alex (Wyman), who are hired by a frightening cartel boss to deliver a cardboard box from LA to Vegas for the tidy sum of $10k. The boys think it's their lucky day. Instructed not to look in the box, the duo can't contain their curiosity and as soon as they drive off the property they pull over and have a peek. Much to their surprise and confusion, the box contains six toads. Unbeknown to them they're Sonoran Desert Toads aka acid toads, which when licked, gets the most seasoned drug enthusiasts high out of their minds. On the road, the soaring desert temperatures cause the toads to develop heatstroke, triggering Sam and Alex to jump into rescue mode and give them CPR — and a psychedelic odyssey unfolds.

The biopic will chart the true story of Christy Martin's rise to become America's most well known female boxer in the 1990s — the female Rocky. A naturally gifted fighter, her life transformed in 1989 when she met her manager, and later husband, Jim Martin. Breaking boundaries, she became the first woman to sign with iconic promoter Don King, and the only female boxer to appear on the cover of Sports Illustrated. Her charisma, good looks and resilience in the ring won her an avid fanbase and propelled her to become welterweight champion. But behind the well-honed public persona, she tackled personal demons, toxic relationships, and a brutal attempt on her life. (September 30 - November 15, 2024)

The comedy revolves around Leanne, whose life takes an unexpected turn when her husband of 33 years leaves her for another woman. Starting over when you're a grandmother and in menopause isn't exactly what she had in mind, but with the help of her family she will navigate this new chapter with grace, dignity and Jell-o salad. Johnston will star opposite Morgan as her sister Carol, a two-time divorcee with no kids who would rather hang out at a bar than attend church. Despite their differences, Carol is fiercely loyal to her sister Leanne and is her ride-or-die.

Inspired by true events, The Waterfront dives into the flawed Buckley family as their attempts to retain control of their crumbling North Carolina fishing empire drive them to increasingly dangerous means to keep themselves afloat. McCallany will play the patriarch Harlan Buckley who has built up the Buckley fishery business with his dad, even veering into some illegal territory in the 1980s. Since his two heart attacks, Harlan hasn't changed his lifestyle, but his absence from the family business left it in the hands of his wife, Vicki, and his son, Cane — whose desperate, foolish decisions have left Harlan with no choice but to take the reins once again. Is Harlan a hero? A villain? It's a hard call. He's just a man who loves his whiskey. (September 2024 - December 2024)

Dean Youngblood was raised by his father, Blane, on a diet of toughness and hockey. When Dean is invited to join the Barrie Colts, he travels to Canada from Detroit where his skill commands respect and his arrogance earns him fast enemies. Coach Chadwick, resentful of being saddled with such a toxic player, keeps Dean benched game after game. Dean's frustration builds, culminating in a violent outburst involving rival goon Carl Racki that costs the Bulldogs a significant win. As Team Captain Sutton takes him under his wing, Dean begins to buck Blane's teachings and his growing maturity spurs a relationship with Jessie – Coach Chadwick's daughter - who gives Dean a run for his money on and off the ice. His newfound resolve draws the ire of Racki, who provokes Dean during a game by attacking and seriously injuring Sutton. As the final game of the Eastern Final approaches, so does his showdown with Racki and Dean's choice as to what kind of man he wants to be. (November 4 - December 13, 2024 | aka “THE DANGLE”)
