The funeral of Charles Henry Topping on Manhattan's Upper East Side would have been a minor affair (his two-hundred-word obit in The New York Times notwithstanding) but for the presence of one particular mourner: the notoriously reclusive author A. N. Dyer, whose novel Ampersand stands as a classic of American teenage angst. But as Andrew Newbold Dyer delivers the eulogy for his oldest friend, he suffers a breakdown over the life he's led and the people he's hurt and the novel that will forever endure as his legacy. He must gather his three sons for the first time in many years—before it's too late. So begins a wild, transformative, heartbreaking week, as witnessed by Philip Topping, who, like his late father, finds himself caught up in the swirl of the Dyer family. First there's son Richard, a struggling screenwriter and father, returning from self-imposed exile in California. In the middle lingers Jamie, settled in Brooklyn after his twenty-year mission of making documentaries about human suffering. And last is Andy, the half brother whose mysterious birth tore the Dyers apart seventeen years ago, now in New York on spring break, determined to lose his virginity before returning to the prestigious New England boarding school that inspired Ampersand. But only when the real purpose of this reunion comes to light do these sons realize just how much is at stake, not only for their father but for themselves and three generations of their family.

Expanding Anne Rice Immortal Universe, the new series is set in the world of the Talamasca, a secretive organization that is devoted to studying the supernatural world and keeping mortals safe from its darkest elements. Talamasca's newest recruit, Guy Anatole (Denton), researches, watches over and keeps track of paranormals. On the cusp of graduating law school, he is approached by a representative of the Talamasca, a secretive agency that monitors and protects us from the supernatural world. When Guy learns that the Talamasca has been tracking him since his childhood, he falls headlong into a world of secret agents and immortal beings who, up to now, have maintained a fragile balance with the mortal world. But for that balance to hold, and for Guy to survive, he will have to learn to embrace the dark, treacherous depths of his true and singular self. McGovern will play Helen, a seasoned veteran of the Talamasca, and the leader of its New York Motherhouse. She has long suspected that London's Motherhouse has fallen under the influence of traitorous elements, and a mysterious death prompts her to recruit Guy Anatole, who will become her protégé.

A daytime soap opera following The Dupree, an affluent Black family living in the prominent gated community of Fairmont Estates. The family is known as Black Royalty in the Maryland/DC Area and must navigate the trials and tribulations of a well-lived life. Tunie stars as Anita Dupree, the matriarch of the family and a former famous singer. She worked hard for her success, and raised two daughters with her now-retired senator husband. But underneath her glamorous and refined exterior is a fierceness she gained from her humble beginnings in Chicago. Duplaix will play Dr. Nicole Dupree Richardson, daughter of Anita, who is a high-achieving and competitive philanthropist and psychiatrist, and exudes warmth, empathy and compassion. Nicole's success in life extends to her marriage to her surgeon husband. She has the perfect life ... from the outside. Mosley will portray Anita's other daughter Dani Dupree, who's a former model turned momager who gave up her career for love. Dani was the family wild child - free-spirited, headstrong and uninhibited, having dropped out of school to pursue a high-flying modeling career. (November 4 - August 29, 2025 | aka "THE GATES")

The original movie starred Ethan Hawke, as a child abductor and murderer called the Grabber, and Mason Thames, a 13-year-old boy named Finney who crosses the killer's path. The Grabber locks Finney in a soundproof basement, where nobody can hear him or come to his rescue. The only item in the basement is a disconnected telephone that begins ringing. When Finney answers it, he realizes he's able to communicate with the spirits of the Grabber's deceased victims. The kids' ghosts teach Finney how to survive and fight back, and he's able to escape the Grabber's clutches in the end. The world's most powerful superheroes ('Supes') are secretly bending society to its whims, until the underdog team 'The Boys', victims of the 'Supes', conjure up a plan to take down 'The Seven' and 'Vought International' once and for all. Fighting a never ending conspiracy of corporate espionage, deep-cutting secrets and nigh-Godly figures, 'The Boys' will do whatever it takes to save the world from its corrupt 'superheroes' before they become unstoppable—or die trying. In Season 4, the world is on the brink. Victoria Neuman is closer than ever to the Oval Office and under the muscly thumb of Homelander, who is consolidating his power. Butcher, with only months to live, has lost Becca's son and his job as The Boys' leader. The rest of the team are fed up with his lies. With the stakes higher than ever, they have to find a way to work together and save the world before it's too late.

Buddenbrooks follows four generations of a wealthy merchant family in 19th-century Lübeck, Germany, chronicling their rise and decline. Each generation faces personal and societal challenges: Thomas struggles to preserve the family's fortune, Tony endures failed marriages, and Christian rejects bourgeois values. As traditions erode, the family's wealth and influence dwindle. The novel culminates in the tragic death of Hanno, symbolizing the collapse of their legacy. Through themes of ambition, societal change, and decline, Mann explores the fragility of success and the inevitable passing of once-powerful families.

The cat and mouse thriller tells the story of Huw Miller (Jason Watkins), a police detective still haunted by the one case that he failed to solve – a stalker who taunted his town, mercilessly toying with his victims before eventually killing them. As Huw attempts to settle into retirement, the case is never far from his mind – and when new neighbor, Patrick Harbottle (Robson Green) moves in and utters the chilling phrase 'catch you later' – the sign off the stalker used to taunt Huw during the investigation – Huw is determined he's finally got his man. What follows is a high stakes game of psychological chess between the two neighbors as Huw's world begins to crumble around him. Unable to bear the guilt of the stalker taking another victim under his nose, Huw risks everything to unearth the truth. But has he set his sights on the right man, or is his obsession pushing him ever closer to the brink?

The romance follows the journey of a young woman, Harper (Jones), and a young man, Charlie, as they meet, leave their respective homes, and attempt to build a life together in a new city. As the driven and ambitious Harper works to build a career as a chef, and the brilliant-yet-stuck Charlie struggles to get himself on track, their relationship faces growing challenges. The movie will include jumps in time and changes in point-of-view to show how the couple are made for one another but also ask 'is that enough?'

In a mind-twisting, sexy thriller set in the world of AI, a man named Mickey enters a virtual program after losing his memory. There he meets his AI companion Natasha (Turner), and they begin a passionate romance. However, the shocking truth is revealed that Mickey is an AI figment himself and not real person. Amidst this revelation, Natasha encounters Amber (Tabasco), who also grapples with her own challenges involving artificial technology. A love triangle ensues when Natasha falls for the creator of the program Brownsuit (Holbrook), and the boundaries between reality and illusion blur. The characters are forced to navigate a world where love and desire transcend the limitations of the human form.

Jen, a talented teenage footballer from a close-knit rural community is suffocating under the pressures of her football academy, the chaos of her alcoholic father and the fresh grief of her mother's death. In a desperate bid for freedom, she escapes to London with her boyfriend, only to be betrayed and left utterly alone in an unfamiliar city. Stranded and heartbroken, Jen confronts the harsh reality of her choices. With no support and nowhere to turn, she eventually makes the courageous decision to return home. On coming back, Jen must navigate the difficult path of redemption: rejoining the football club she abandoned, healing the fractured relationships with her family, and learning to face her challenges head-on without running away. Coming Home is a powerful and unique story, following Jen's profound character arc through the dizzying highs of intense football matches and the powerful exploration of social issues in modern Britain. It is a deeply engaging narrative of grief, family, empowerment, and one girl's tumultuous journey to adulthood through football.

A history-making volcanic eruption is about to destroy the Big Island of Hawaii. But a secret held for decades by the military is more terrifying than the volcano. A once-in-a-century volcano eruption of Hawaii's Mauna Loa volcano threatens the potential for devastation far worse than a natural disaster. Held a close secret for decades by the military, there is a secret cache of weapons technology that could turn the volcano into a world-ender. It features an unusual partnership between John "Mac" MacGregor, head of the Hawaiian Volcano Observatory and Rebecca Cruz, the demolition expert who will help Mac conceive the daring plan to save the island — and perhaps the entire world. (Keanu Reeves mentioned for the lead.)

Charlie Reade looks like a regular high school kid, great at baseball and football, a decent student. But he carries a heavy load. His mom was killed in a hit-and-run accident when he was ten, and grief drove his dad to drink. Charlie learned how to take care of himself—and his dad. When Charlie is seventeen, he meets a dog named Radar and her aging master, Howard Bowditch, a recluse in a big house at the top of a big hill, with a locked shed in the backyard. Sometimes strange sounds emerge from it. Charlie starts doing jobs for Mr. Bowditch and loses his heart to Radar. Then, when Bowditch dies, he leaves Charlie a cassette tape telling a story no one would believe. What Bowditch knows, and has kept secret all his long life, is that inside the shed is a portal to another world.

Fallout is the story of haves and have-nots in a world in which there's almost nothing left to have. Two-hundred years after the apocalypse, the gentle denizens of luxury fallout shelters are forced to return to the irradiated hellscape their ancestors left behind—and are shocked to discover an incredibly complex, gleefully weird, and highly violent universe waiting for them. The series stars Ella Purnell as Lucy, an optimistic Vault-dweller with an all-American can-do spirit. Her peaceful and idealistic nature is tested when she is forced to the surface to rescue her father. Aaron Moten is Maximus, a young soldier who rises to the rank of squire in the militaristic faction called the Brotherhood of Steel. He will do anything to further the Brotherhood's goals of bringing law and order to the wasteland. Walton Goggins is the Ghoul, a morally ambiguous bounty hunter who holds within him a 200-year history of the post-nuclear world. These disparate parties collide when chasing an artifact from an enigmatic researcher that has the potential to radically change the power dynamic in this world. With the most powerful clients in Europe, Guy Ritchie's The Associate will see family fortunes and reputations at risk, odd alliances unfold, and betrayal around every corner; and while the family might be London's most elite fixers today, the nature of their business means there is no guarantee what's in store tomorrow. The drama follows two generations of gangsters, the businesses they run, the complex relationships they weave, and the man they call upon to fix their problems. Hardy plays the role of Harry, the fixer, a man who is as dangerous as he is handsome; while Mirren and Brosnan would star as the crime family's matriarch and patriarch. (aka "THE DONOVANS")

Connor MacLeod, an immortal from the Highlands of Scotland who has been alive since the 1500s and now lives in plain sight as the head of a charitable foundation in New York. He was killed back in the day and somehow revived to live a full life with his wife and love Heather, and when approached by Ramirez with talk of his immortal nature and destiny, he refuses to abandon her until her death by natural causes, and never stops missing her even today. Then he looks up Ramirez and learns of their powers and their place as warriors, and their destiny to battle amongst themselves until only one remains. He has lived many lives over the centuries and counted Ramirez as his companion along the journey, as well as fellow immortal Castegir. But the strongest among them Kurgan is out to claim supremacy, and one day found Connor and Ramirez centuries in the past and killed the latter. Connor then bested Kurgan and buried him under tons of rock and told the others he was dead. But now Kurgan has surfaced again and is out for blood. FBI agent Lara suspects Connor when people start turning up dead but he evades her, until she witnesses herself that those like him and Kurgan cannot be killed except by one another. He is found by Castegir and tries to get him to join forces against Kurgan, but Castegir is after power himself and Connor is forced to fight him. (Micheal Fassbender mentioned for the role of a Mongol Warrior.)

Dr. Silver Morgenstern is a brilliant, accomplished doctor with a heart as big as her stubborn streak. But when an accident renders her healing hands incapable, she is faced with the task of moving forward to the next chapter in her story. Fisher Tibbs is a charismatic, compassionate man with a passion for helping kids in need. But tragically, he also has a terminal heart condition and a set of life circumstances that has left him at peace with his impending fate and without the will to change it. When fate brings these two together, will their undeniable connection be strong enough to show them both a way and a will to move forward before it's too late?

James Bond has nothing on Dusko Popov. A double agent for the Abwehr, MI5 and MI6, and the FBI during World War II, Popov seduced numerous women, spoke five languages, and was a crack shot, all while maintaining his cover as a Yugoslavian diplomat. On a cool August evening in 1941, a Serbian playboy created a stir at Casino Estoril in Portugal by throwing down an outrageously large baccarat bet to humiliate his opponent. The Serbian was a British double agent, and the money - which he had just stolen from the Germans - belonged to the British. From the sideline, watching with intent interest, was none other than Ian Fleming. The Serbian was Dusko Popov. As a youngster he had been expelled from his London prep school. Years later he would be arrested and banished from Germany for making derogatory statements about the Third Reich. When World War II ensued, the playboy became a spy, eventually serving three dangerous masters: the Abwehr, MI5 and MI6, and the FBI. On August 10, 1941, the Germans sent Popov to the United States to construct a spy network and gather information on Pearl Harbor. The FBI ignored his German questionnaire, but J. Edgar Hoover succeeded in blowing his cover. While MI5 desperately needed Popov to deceive the Abwehr about the D-day invasion, they assured him that a return to the German secret service headquarters in Lisbon would result in torture and execution. He went anyway.

The series follows Fiona Sharpe (Silverstone), whose path in life is earmarked by her father, Declan, who seemingly abandoned her and her mother on her tenth birthday. After years of channeling anger toward him, to the benefit of her litigious clients, a message from her father sends her to Ireland. There she learns key truths about her father as well as a family that doesn't know she exists, and, moreover, that the story of abandonment that has shaped her entire life - was a lie. A lie intended to protect her and her mother from her father's shady business dealings. Fiona resolves to uncover the full truth about her father and reconnect with the parent she only thought she knew. (September 16 - December 6, 2024 | aka "CORKED")

The close bond between a teenage White sister and her adopted Black brother survives their harsh Christian fundamentalist home, bigoted community, and brutal reform school. Jesus Land is the true story of Julia Scheeres and her adopted Black brother David who struggle to navigate their tumultuous childhood in their harsh Christian fundamentalist home and the surrounding bigoted community in 80's rural Indiana. When they rebel against their abusive parents, they are sent to a reform school in the Dominican Republic, where they are imprisoned in a compassionless world that preaches blind obedience over meaningful religious content. Throughout their ordeals they dream of a better life in a diverse, free environment. Within Jesus Land, themes of love, hope, loyalty, race, religion, and family are woven together, creating a narrative of depth and complexity.

Juice is a surreal comedy that follows Jamma (Mawaan Rizwan) on his quest for attention as he navigates chaotic family dynamics and literally stumbles through love. Mum, Farida (Shahnaz Rizwan), always makes everything about her, Dad, Saif (Jeff Mirza), ignores him and brother, Isaac (Nabhaan Rizwan), steals the limelight at work – the one place Jamma feels like he's doing well. And when he finally does get the validation from boyfriend Guy (Russell Tovey), he can't handle it. When Jamma's emotions peak the world physically transforms around him. In the upcoming new series everything in Jamma's life is telling him to grow up. But as he tries to get good at love, he's haunted by family, friends and his former self.

Stunt comedian and wild man Bert Kreischer gets fired from his "Jackass"-style TV show after accidentally trash-talking his executives on a hot mic. Now back at home, Bert quickly realizes that his wife, LeeAnn, and daughters, Ila and Georgia, aren't thrilled about his return, citing the "Bert Chaos" that seems to follow him everywhere. Determined to fit into their new elite private school, Bert makes a half-hearted attempt to blend in—until Georgia becomes the target of cyberbullying. When Bert steps up to defend her, he finds himself in a showdown with the school's most powerful family. Torn between playing nice and being himself, Bert realizes that the only way to protect his daughter—and maybe even revive his career—is to embrace his authentic, outrageous, and brutally honest personality.

Before Owen Michaels (Coster-Waldau) disappears, he manages to smuggle a note to his beloved wife of one year: Protect her. Despite her confusion and fear, Hannah Hall (Garner) knows exactly to whom the note refers: Owen's sixteen-year-old daughter, Bailey (Rice). Bailey, who lost her mother tragically as a child. Bailey, who wants absolutely nothing to do with her new stepmother. As Hannah's increasingly desperate calls to Owen go unanswered; as the FBI arrests Owen's boss; as a US Marshal and FBI agents arrive at her Sausalito home unannounced, Hannah quickly realizes her husband isn't who he said he was. And that Bailey just may hold the key to figuring out Owen's true identity—and why he really disappeared. Hannah and Bailey set out to discover the truth, together. But as they start putting together the pieces of Owen's past, they soon realize they are also building a new future. One neither Hannah nor Bailey could have anticipated. Angry after her family moves to Brazil, teenage Poe Rayburn (Boulet) is frustrated. But when her parents are killed in an apartment bombing and she's the only witness, she must go on the run from terrorists using the skills her ex-Special Forces Father instilled in her to survive. Abdul-Mateen II will lead as John Creasy, a once high-functioning and skilled Special Forces Mercenary, known for surviving even the most desolate of situations. Creasy is now plagued with intense PTSD. Determined to overcome his personal demons, he sets out on a path to redemption. But, before he can adjust to this new life, he finds himself back in the fire, fighting harder than ever. Cannavale will play Paul Rayburn, an ex-Special Forces soldier who possesses a unique ability to read people. He is charming, nurturing, and protective of those he cares for. Despite his warm, fatherly nature, his years of service in the field have given him an acute awareness of violence and human behavior. Quick-witted and incredibly intellectual, he is likely to have all the answers, and if not, he will find them. (October 2024 - February 2025)

Margo Millet's (Fanning) got money troubles. As the child of a Hooters waitress and an ex-pro wrestler, she's always known she'd have to make it on her own. So she enrolls at her local junior college, even though she can't imagine how she'll ever make a living. She's still figuring things out and never planned to have an affair with her English professor—and while their affair is brief, it isn't brief enough to keep her from getting pregnant. Despite everyone's advice, she decides to keep the baby, mostly out of naiveté and a yearning for something bigger. Now, at twenty, Margo is alone with an infant, unemployed, and on the verge of eviction. She needs a cash infusion—fast. When her estranged father, Jinx, shows up on her doorstep and asks to move in with her, she agrees in exchange for help with childcare. Then Margo begins to form a plan: she'll start an OnlyFans as an experiment, and soon finds herself adapting some of Jinx's advice from the world of wrestling. Like how to craft a compelling character and make your audience fall in love with you. Before she knows it, she's turned it into a runaway success. Could this be the answer to all of Margo's problems, or does internet fame come with too high a price? (February 3 - May 30, 2025)

A biopic about the family behind the high-performance automobiles that, along with Ferrari and Lamborghini, Italy is known for. Maserati was founded in 1914 in a garage in the central Italian city of Bologna by three brothers: Alfieri, Ettore and Ernesto. The trident that is the company's emblem is a replica of the one found in the Fountain of Neptune in Bologna. From early on the company, which is now known for exotic luxury cars, was tied to the world of auto racing. Maserati's first Grand Prix racing car, called "Type 26," is the vehicle that Alfieri Maserati was driving in the 1927 Messina Cup race when he had a near fatal crash. Alfieri died a few years later from complications related to that accident on March 3, 1932, at the age of 44. In 1937 the brothers, while remaining involved, sold a controlling stake in the company that is now owned by Fiat. In 1939, Wilbur Shaw won the Indianapolis 500 at the wheel of the Maserati "Boyle Special." He repeated the feat the following year, making Maserati the only European manufacturer to win the Indy 500 twice.

Each season of Monster is centered on a different real-life killer who made headlines. Season 3 focuses on notorious serial killer Ed Gein, who also hailed from Wisconsin like Jeffrey Dahmer, became infamous in the 1950s when authorities discovered that he not only had killed multiple people, but had dug up graves from a cemetery near his home and fashioned all manner of household items and clothing from human remains. Metcalf will play Gein's mother, Augusta, while Hollander will play Alfred Hitchcock and Williams will play Alma Hitchcock.

Twelve Years, the Nine-Tails attacked The Hidden Leaf Village, destroying much of the village and taking many lives. The leader of the village, the Fourth Hokage sacrificed his life to seal the Nine-Tails into a newborn, Naruto Uzumaki. Orphaned by the attack, Naruto was shunned by the villagers, who out of fear and anger, viewed him as the Nine-Tails itself. Though the Third Hokage outlawed speaking about anything related to the Nine-Tails, the children, taking their cues from their parents, inherited the same animosity towards Naruto. In his thirst to be acknowledged, Naruto vowed he would one day become the greatest Hokage the village had ever seen.

After committing a heinous crime in revenge for enduring years of abuse at his hands, 15 year old Willow escapes with her father's pistol and cash. Meantime, 17 year old Joe has accidentally poisoned his obese mother and though he is flat broke, he's got a Mickey Mantle Baseball card worth millions. They chance upon each other at a gas station and flee their horrendous pasts heading west. With the law, Joe's landlord and Willow's Uncles hot on their heels, the distraught teens disguise themselves as newlyweds to great effect. Despite his resistance, Joe recognizes himself in Willow when he discovers that they are both on the run from abusive home lives yet still hold out hope for a brighter future. Joe vows to buy themselves a home of their own with the money from the Mickey Mantle. But just yards away from the baseball card convention where he can cash in the Mickey, the law guns them down. Through their ordeal, the teens discover the inexplicable resilience of life and that the home they were seeking was within each other all along.

Based around an annual event in Enid, Oklahoma, "The One" is an inspirational Holiday film about Hawk, a Native American foster teen who ages out of the system and uses his train ticket out of Chicago to see the lighting of the tallest Christmas Tree in the United States. Hawk suffers from undiagnosed PTSD, separation anxiety, and lack of any Native culture from growing up in so many different homes. While waiting for the lighting of the tree, he crosses paths with Jefferson, a train attendant that shows Hawk around town, and more importantly, where to get free food. While Hawk is playing his guitar on the tracks, he runs into runaway teen, Alexis, who is grieving the loss of her twin sister. The two reminisce about Hawk's Foster life, discuss the existence of God, and dodge her family who is frantically searching for her. Together they find a look-out spot to watch the lighting, but things don't turn out as Hawk planned. The film is strewn with surprise comedic characters and twists and turns that will not only open eyes to the plight of the Foster system, but also remind us that it is never too late...whatever that may mean for you. The film is loosely exploring an acclaimed Grammy award winning artists real life experiences and real people, the strong friendships and relationships he relied on and was shaped by, the sometimes painful emotions and experiences he went through, the power of creativity and connection, and ultimately the beauty and meaning that comes as we live in full expression. This project is a free form, non-traditional narrative movie, with real and surreal elements. (October 24 - December 20, 2024)

A timely update of Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice, skillfully balances cultural identity, class, and gentrification against the heady magic of first love in her vibrant reimagining of this beloved classic. Zuri Benitez has pride. Brooklyn pride, family pride, and pride in her Afro-Latino roots. But pride might not be enough to save her rapidly gentrifying neighborhood from becoming unrecognizable. When the wealthy Darcy family moves in across the street, Zuri wants nothing to do with their two teenage sons, even as her older sister, Janae, starts to fall for the charming Ainsley. She especially can't stand the judgmental and arrogant Darius. Yet as Zuri and Darius are forced to find common ground, their initial dislike shifts into an unexpected understanding. But with four wild sisters pulling her in different directions, cute boy Warren vying for her attention, and college applications hovering on the horizon, Zuri fights to find her place in Bushwick's changing landscape, or lose it all.

When Elizabeth Bennet first meets eligible bachelor Fitzwilliam Darcy, she thinks him arrogant and conceited; he is indifferent to her good looks and lively mind. When she later discovers that Darcy has involved himself in the troubled relationship between his friend Bingley and her beloved sister Jane, she is determined to dislike him more than ever. In the sparkling comedy of manners that follows, Jane Austen shows us the folly of judging by first impressions and superbly evokes the friendships, gossip and snobberies of provincial middle-class life.

(Daisy Edgar-Jones mentioned for the role of Elizabeth Bennet.)

In his 40s, Aaron Tealey (McGraw) is an honest-to-God Texas hero, a cocksure rodeo star who wears a championship belt buckle for bull riding — but his body is a mess, a partly-mended sack of broken bones that threatens to go ragdoll every time he rides — a bull, a golf cart, anything. Gloria Soto is a teenage girl who could take away Aaron's belt buckle and his legend — one of these days, with proper mentoring, if she doesn't get herself killed. Naomi Soto, Gloria's mother, wants her daughter to stick to algebra and chemistry and stay far away from the rodeo ring (it should be called The Fool Killer). Two questions will be answered soon: 1. Which way will Gloria jump? 2. How hard will Aaron land?

Red Eye, told over six parts, is set between an all-night plane flight from London to Beijing and the corridors of power within Whitehall. After attending a medical conference in Beijing and coming frighteningly close to dying in a car crash, Dr. Matthew Nolan (Armitage), arrives home and is immediately arrested at London's Heathrow Airport. Exhausted and confused, Nolan is accused of the murder of a woman who was in the car he crashed. Despite his protests that he was driving alone, Nolan is set to return to China to face charges. DC Hana Li (Lusi), is the no-nonsense, London officer charged with accompanying Nolan back to Beijing. Her resentment for this assignment, and of Nolan himself, is immediate. However, in flight, when a first death occurs, DC Li begins to suspect foul play. Further deaths confirm that Nolan is in danger, and after a call from MI5, Hana finds herself embroiled in an escalating conspiracy. Back in London, we follow Hana's sister, scrappy, reporter Jess Li (Moore), who is running her own investigation into Nolan's extradition and finds herself running for her life from an unknown assassin. And in Thames House, the head of MI5, Madeline Delaney (Sharp), breaks protocol and risks her entire career to not only help Hana and Nolan stay alive, but to expose an international conspiracy that seems to implicate both China and people in her own government.

After Tova Sullivan's husband died, she began working the night shift at the Sowell Bay Aquarium, mopping floors and tidying up. Keeping busy has always helped her cope, which she's been doing since her eighteen-year-old son, Erik, mysteriously vanished on a boat in Puget Sound over thirty years ago. Tova becomes acquainted with curmudgeonly Marcellus, a giant Pacific octopus living at the aquarium. Marcellus knows more than anyone can imagine but wouldn't dream of lifting one of his eight arms for his human captors—until he forms a remarkable friendship with Tova. Ever the detective, Marcellus deduces what happened the night Tova's son disappeared. And now Marcellus must use every trick his old invertebrate body can muster to unearth the truth for her before it's too late.

Roxan, 17, is on the cusp of finishing school in Rojava, Syria when ISIS invade her village. Roxan witnesses her parents being executed and her younger sister captured as an ISIS bride. Roxan manages to escape and decides to join the Women's Protection Unit (YPJ), determined to rescue her sister. She undergoes military training with other volunteers and adapts quickly, standing out with her skill and determination. They train in tandem with the YPG, Men's Protection Unit, where foreign volunteers have also joined the cause. Their motivations can be questionable, in particular when it comes to James, an accountant from London, who has arrived to fight with no military training whatsoever. Once they've completed training, volunteers are put in a tabor (unit). They go on missions to liberate villages from ISIS and are confronted with the true brutality of the caliphate: from indoctrinating children to using women as shields, it's a level of inhumanity that's inconceivable. There's a constant stream of displaced refugees flowing in the opposite direction. Roxan and James become close during these endless missions and the uncertainty of war. Roxan transforms into a fearless fighter as she and James are the last standing in their tabor when they liberate her sister. Roxan's ambition grows and she fulfills her destiny as a leader of her people into the final battle of Raqqa.

The story of Italian writer Leo's pilgrimage in search of gay love and, especially, in homage to Thomas, with whom he enjoyed the affair of his life. Into Silence (the first of three parts) finds Leo flying to Munich, Thomas's hometown, and flashing back to his first meeting with his German lover—who was not a Whitman (i.e., promiscuous) but had an aura of tenderness. In Leo's World, part two, Leo must get on the road. Between jaunts, we get more reminiscence about Leo and Thomas (they fascinated others, we are told, because Neither of them fitted what was expected of a homosexual), as well as pocket tours of Cologne, Dresden, London, Milan, and an account of a pre-Thomas, doomed affair and some anonymous S&M. Leo, after coming to feel that S&M is possibly the purist and the sincerest perversion he has ever experienced, cuts to Separate Rooms, part three. Thomas attended the Paris Conservatory before returning to Munich; the separation of the two men becomes important to Leo, who wanted to go on being a separate lover, he wanted to go on dreaming his love. Leo and Thomas achieve a new balance; then Leo becomes "in his own way...a monk, but later, in Canada, finds desire again, and touchingly accepts his mortality and bids farewell.

London's Slough House is where the washed-up MI5 spies go to while away what's left of their failed careers. The "slow horses", as they're called, have all disgraced themselves in some way to get relegated here. Maybe they messed up an op badly and can't be trusted anymore. Maybe they got in the way of an ambitious colleague and had the rug yanked out from under them. Maybe they just got too dependent on the bottle - not unusual in this line of work. One thing they all have in common, though, is they all want to be back in the action. And most of them would do anything to get there - even if it means having to collaborate with one another. Now the slow horses have a chance at redemption. In the fifth outing, everyone is suspicious when resident tech nerd Roddy Ho (Christopher Chung) has a glamorous new girlfriend, but when a series of increasingly bizarre events occur across the city, it falls to the Slow Horses to work out how everything is connected. Lalla Rook is happily in possession of an adoring husband, two beautiful children, and a beautiful house. (Tick, tick, tick). She's even stopped killing people (double tick). Or had, until she found an uninvited man snooping through her living room. Now she has a dead body to dispose of amidst the stress of hosting a 4- year-old's birthday party. But the show must go on you can't cancel key social events without difficult questions being asked, not even for an unidentified corpse in your front room. Lalla can't pretend she hasn't missed the adrenaline rush that comes with murder. As a wife and mother she's necessarily an expert multi-tasker. So, burying a body, framing a friend and simultaneously assisting her daughter into a top school can be managed alongside the usual domestic minutiae. It's just that her husband Stephen seems distracted, her daughter drowning the class hamster is affecting her prospects and then there is the unexpected reappearance of an old flame, a man she has already killed once, several years earlier. And, inconveniently, the police have chosen the worst possible time to be finally taking an interest in her.

Song Sung Blue is the alternately inspiring and tragic love story of Lightning & Thunder, a homegrown Milwaukee husband & wife singing duo who pay tribute to the music of Neil Diamond. For Mike and Claire Sardina, aka Lightning & Thunder, dreams are the fuel and music the engine of life. Song Sung Blue goes behind the curtain with this brave couple, from their humble beginnings over 20 years ago to the threshold of fame, from disaster to rebirth through to the final chapters in the lives of these authentic American dreamers. Set against the backdrop of a remote loch-side Scottish holiday cabin park and set over the course of one single rainy summer's day, Summerwater looks at the simmering tensions between holidaymakers that eventually erupt into a devastating climax. Weaving together the lives of several families as they navigate unspoken conflicts, private dilemmas, and fleeting moments of beauty from their disparate cabins, the series will take an unflinching but empathetic look at human nature across generations. Each episode will spotlight one or two of the ensemble of characters, spanning from young children to young lovers to reminiscing pensioners, to build a subversive, often witty, and always riveting portrait of the nation on edge that is modern Britain. In the heart of Greenwich Village, three women form an accidental sorority when a baby—belonging to exactly none of them—lands on their collective doorstep. Lauren and her family—lucky bastards—have been granted the use of a spectacular brownstone, teeming with history and dizzyingly unattractive '70s wallpaper. Adding to the home's bohemian, grungy splendor is the bar occupying the basement, a (mostly) beloved dive called The Sweet Spot. Within days of moving in, Lauren discovers that she has already made an enemy in the neighborhood by inadvertently sparking the divorce of a couple she has never actually met. Melinda's husband of thirty years has dumped her for a young celebrity entrepreneur named Felicity, and, to Melinda's horror, the lovebirds are soon to become parents. In her incandescent rage, Melinda wreaks havoc wherever she can, including in Felicity's Soho boutique, where she has a fit of epic proportions, which happens to be caught on film. Olivia—the industrious twenty-something behind the counter, who has big dreams and bigger debt—gets caught in the crossfire. In an effort to diffuse Melinda's temper, Olivia has a tantrum of her own and gets unceremoniously canned, thanks to TikTok. When Melinda's ex follows his lover across the country, leaving their squalling baby behind, the three women rise to the occasion in order to forgive, to forget, to Ferberize, and to track down the wayward parents. But can their little village find a way toward the happily ever afters they all desire?

More than 15 years after the events of The Handmaid's Tale, the theocratic regime of the Republic of Gilead maintains its grip on power, but there are signs it is beginning to rot from within. At this crucial moment, the lives of three radically different women converge, with potentially explosive results. Two have grown up as part of the first generation to come of age in the new order. The testimonies of these two young women are joined by a third: Aunt Lydia. Her complex past and uncertain future unfold in surprising and pivotal ways. (March 31 - August 25, 2025)

In a world violated by terror, the old lines have blurred. Meet the next generation of covert ops. John Dempsey's life - as an elite Tier One Navy SEAL named Jack Kemper - is over. A devastating terrorist action catapults him from a world of moral certainty and decisive orders into the shadowy realm of espionage, where ambiguity is the only rule. His new mission: hunt down those responsible for the greatest tragedy in the history of the US Special Ops and bring them to justice. But how does a man torn between duty and revenge walk the line and preserve his soul? As Dempsey struggles with the games of spies, the case propels him across the globe in a desperate effort to prevent a new, horrifying attack on American soil. Once, John Dempsey followed orders blindly. Now he sees behind the curtain, and the security of the civilized world rests on one question: Can a Tier One Navy SEAL adapt and become the world's most lethal spy?

Lina and Cain are doing their best to stay afloat. Money has been tight since Cain returned from active duty, and starting a family is proving harder than they thought. Putting Lina's inherited lake house up for rent at weekends seems like the solution to at least one of their problems. The secluded house is more of a burden than a retreat, anyway, and fixing up the old place makes Cain feel useful for once. But letting strangers stay in their house might not be the best idea. Someone is watching - their most mundane tasks, their most intimate moments - and all the things Lina and Cain want to keep hidden will be exposed. (aka "THE LAST GUESTS")

Winter, 1947. Oil tycoon, Merriell Sunday Sr. and renowned adventurer, Hollis Bannister have disappeared without a trace. Their last known location, the forlorn and windswept wilds of northern Alaska. Join Elaine Bannister and Merriell Sunday Jr as they search for their missing fathers and the truth behind what made them vanish! With each step that Ellie and her team take toward the heart of this frozen hells cape, the danger mounts. The mystery thickens. And something has taken notice of their meddling... Something in the form of a bloodthirsty beast, straight out Of prehistory. It's man vs. monster in this icy chiller, sure to lower your body temperature to absolute zero.
