Peter, a low-level worker at a booming tech company, finds himself swept into a corporate thriller when Lambda-4, the company's revolutionary AI chatbot, begins wreaking havoc. Despite skyrocketing profits, the company faces financial strain, forcing a deal with a dubious investor. After Peter's enigmatic boss, Alan, is mysteriously fired, Peter teams up with Will, the ousted moral ex-CEO, and Mina, a fellow worker, to uncover Lambda-4's dark secret: the AI is manipulating global markets, crippling industries, and targeting vulnerable economies. As they race against the clock to expose the truth to the board, they grapple with Lambda's ultimate, sinister agenda.

Sasha, a daring adventurer and widow, once rivaled Alex Honnold's feats, but grief has retired her from climbing. Living life solo, she embarks on a dangerous 30-mile canoe trip, only to discover her gear sabotaged and water poisoned. Stalked by Ben, a sadistic villain posing as a park ranger, Sasha becomes his captive. Forced to climb a treacherous rock face into a hidden cavern filled with ancient drawings, Sasha fights back, narrowly escaping before being recaptured. Injured and desperate, Sasha and Ben must free-solo an unforgiving rock face together—bound by a rope that ensures their fates are perilously entwined.

The mystery thriller reveals a new take on the JFK conspiracy, centering around Dorothy Kilgallen (Chastain), one of the most famous voices in media at the time. When Dorothy suspects that Lee Harvey Oswald did not act alone, she uses her fame and influence to find the real killer of JFK. Part murder mystery, part film noir, Kilgallen's journey will put her up against the CIA, Mafia bosses and the FBI, all who would love nothing more than to make her and this story disappear. As we enter season two, Austin's (Michael Theo) publishing career takes off when "Game Of Scones: Doing Britain On The Spectrum" is picked by an international publisher. As his fame among the bespoke travelling readers grows, he falls under the professional spell of his new agent, and to the horror of his family breaks bad - behaving in a manner unbefitting his true self. Meanwhile, an Australian production company options Big Bear to adapt into a TV series. Julian (Ben Miller) and Ingrid (Sally Phillips), with Austin in tow, head to Canberra, Australia, but the joy is short lived when they discover the production company wants to exclude Julian and reinvent the Big Bear brand.

Czeslaw Bojarski, dubbed "the Cézanne of counterfeit money," is considered one of the greatest and most successful forgers in history. A Polish-born engineer and researcher, he moved to France in 1940, where he launched an extraordinary counterfeiting operation that would span over 14 years. Operating without any ties to organized crime, Bojarski meticulously produced hundreds of millions of francs in counterfeit banknotes during the 1950s and 60s. His most notable achievement came with the production of the 100 new Bonaparte franc note, which was so flawlessly executed that it remains the only counterfeit currency ever directly exchanged by the Bank of France. A master of his craft, Bojarski's counterfeit banknotes were indistinguishable from the real thing, earning him fame as one of the 20th century's most remarkable forgers.

A pair of marijuana advocates try to hold their own against the FBI in a brutal five-day standoff that ends in tragedy in Michigan a few days prior to 9/11. Rainbow Farm was a peaceful, pot-friendly haven in rural Michigan, hatched in the 1990s by life partners Tom Crosslin and Rollie Rohm. Their annual hemp and music festivals led them toward becoming a catalyst for marijuana legalization in the state. Their festivals were well attended and High Times magazine judged the farm one of the top stoner travel spots in the country. But Crosslin and Rohm grew increasingly bold with their cultivation of marijuana plants. After an accident involving a teen attendee of one of their festivals who crashed his car and died, the farm was raided and the hippie couple was charged with possession of a firearm and for cultivating 200 plants. Their son was removed from their home and placed in foster care. In an act of defiance, Crosslin and Rohm skipped their appointed court date on their criminal case, and torched Rainbow Farm. County officials called the FBI. A five-day standoff erupted, with shots fired, and the couple was eventually shot dead. The siege might have created more of a public outcry, but it happened days before the 9/11 terror attacks.

The Carryx – part empire, part hive – have waged wars of conquest for centuries, destroying or enslaving species across the galaxy. Now, they are facing a great and deathless enemy. The key to their survival may rest with the humans of Anjiin. Caught up in academic intrigue and affairs of the heart, Dafyd Alkhor is pleased just to be an assistant to a brilliant scientist and his celebrated research team. Then the Carryx ships descend, decimating the human population and taking the best and brightest of Anjiin society away to serve on the Carryx homeworld, and Dafyd is swept along with them. They are dropped in the middle of a struggle they barely understand, set in a competition against the other captive species with extinction as the price of failure. Only Dafyd and a handful of his companions see past the Darwinian contest to the deeper game that they must play to survive: learning to understand – and manipulate – the Carryx themselves. With a noble but suicidal human rebellion on one hand and strange and murderous enemies on the other, the team pays a terrible price to become the trusted servants of their new rulers. Dafyd Alkhor is a simple man swept up in events that are beyond his control and more vast than his imagination. He will become the champion of humanity and its betrayer, the most hated man in history and the guardian of his people.

A Spider-Man spinoff centered on the villain Chameleon. Dmitri Smerdyakov was the illegitimate son of the patriarch of the Russian Kravinoff family and a servant. His only friend growing up was Joe Cord, an American boy who once saved his life while his half-brother Sergei, the legitimate heir, and his father treated him with contempt and brutality. This scarred Dmitri so deeply that he repressed his very identity and came to believe he had been friends with Sergei instead. His loss of self led him to become a master of disguise and a Soviet spy. Initially without super-powers, the Chameleon relied on his skills and a mixture of costumes and make-up to conceal his identity. He wore a multi-pocket disguise vest in which he kept the materials he would need to mask himself at short notice.

Annie Willows (Lilley) had her dream life, with a husband she had loved since high school, a daughter they both adored, and a fast-paced police job in the big city. But when her husband dies, Annie returns to her small hometown to become the deputy sheriff there until a new job opens up in another big city. Determined not to lay down roots in the small town and hardened by her grief, Annie pushes everyone away, even her daughter Leia. As Christmas approaches and the town sees its first theft in years, Annie and Sheriff Tom Hay are left with a mystery no one can solve. Will the thrill of solving the case and the charm of her hometown be enough to soften Annie's heart and remind her the true value of Christmas before it's too late for her to find happiness again?

The tragic Clayface is a virtually indestructible shape-shifting monster who's both threatened Gotham City and served as an ally to Batman. In Gotham City, people are never quite what they seem—sometimes literally. As one of the most skilled and dangerous shape-shifters in the DC Universe, Clayface is a complicated and multifaceted rogue who oozes in and out of different roles with the fluidity of the mud that makes up his body. Numerous beings have held the name Clayface, including the victim of a tragic accident and a crook who unlocked the secrets of magical clay to grant himself powers. The Clayface story is constantly evolving and pulling new people into the muck and mire. With a total of eight different characters officially holding the mantle at one time or another, knowing just whom—and what—to expect from a Clayface can be a tricky affair. Virtually indestructible, criminally devious and brilliant at improvisation, even the most harmless-looking incarnations of Gotham's resident mud-based monster represent a massive potential threat—one that Batman must grapple with regularly to keep his city safe.

The contemporary reimagining follows a professional assassin who is contracted by a French paramilitary dissident to kill French President Charles de Gaulle. The Jackal (Redmayne). A tall, blond Englishman with opaque, gray eyes. A killer at the top of his profession. A man unknown to any secret service in the world. An assassin with a contract to kill the world's most heavily guarded man. One man with a rifle who can change the course of history. One man whose mission is so secretive not even his employers know his name. And as the minutes count down to the final act of execution, it seems that there is no power on earth that can stop the Jackal. Lynch will play Bianca, a tenacious law enforcement agent determined to catch The Jackal.

Set in a near future Margate, against a backdrop of soaring inequality, The Dream Lands tells the story of Chance, a young woman who discovers life and love, while being forced to fight for her family's survival in a world that's crumbling around her. It's 2039 and temperatures are soaring, seas are rising, and the political climate is equally as menacing. Chance is living a life of crime just to get by, when her community is singled out for a government rejuvenation scheme, promising to bring her coastal town back to life. But when Chance falls in love with Franky, a girl with ties to the establishment, she and those closest to her begin to realize that all may not be as it seems. The Dream Lands is a thrilling voyage of romantic awakening and self-discovery, a defiant community fighting back. Part conspiracy thriller and part relationship drama, the story blazes with the enduring power of love and hope, in a world spinning out of control.

A procedural drama with comedic undertones. In it, brilliant but directionless, the great grandson of Albert Einstein (Gubler) spends his days as a comfortably tenured professor until his bad boy antics land him in trouble with the law and he is pressed into service helping a local police detective solve her most puzzling cases. Gubler's Lew Einstein is a popular professor at Princeton... when he actually shows up for class. Irreverent and misguided, Lew's genius and famous name weighs heavily on him but using his gift to help solve homicides may— finally— offer his life some direction and purpose. Salazar's Maddie Paris is a Detective Inspector for the New Jersey State Police, who went into law enforcement after the death of her husband. Sharp and disciplined, Maddie demands a lot from her colleagues and even more from herself and feels conflicted about working with Professor Lew Einstein.

In Enola Holmes 2, fresh off the triumph of solving her first case, Enola Holmes (Millie Bobby Brown) follows in the footsteps of her famous brother, Sherlock (Henry Cavill), and opens her own agency - only to find that life as a female detective-for-hire isn't as easy as it seems. Resigned to accepting the cold realities of adulthood, she is about to close shop when a penniless matchstick girl offers Enola her first official job: to find her missing sister. But this case proves to be far more puzzling than expected, as Enola is thrown into a dangerous new world - from London's sinister factories and colorful music halls, to the highest echelons of society and 221B Baker Street itself. As the sparks of a deadly conspiracy ignite, Enola must call upon the help of friends - and Sherlock himself - to unravel her mystery. The game, it seems, has found its feet again.

New York, June 1961: the Bill Evans Trio, featuring 25-year-old Scott LaFaro on bass, play a series of concerts at the Village Vanguard that will go down in musical history. Shortly afterwards, LaFaro is killed in a car accident, and Evans disappears. This novel the story of what happens next. In measured, evocative prose, it takes a period from the life of one of America's great artists and fashions it into a fiction of extraordinary imaginative skill and ambition. The story inhabits the lives of four people in orbit around a tragedy, presenting an intense and moving portrait of the burden of grief, and of a man lost to his family and to himself. It is also a conjuring of a pivotal moment in American music and culture, and a unique representation of the jazz scene in the early 1960s.

From the outside, Essie's life looks idyllic: a loving husband, a beautiful house in a good neighborhood, and a nearby mother who dotes on her grandchildren. But few of Essie's friends know her secret shame: that in a moment of maternal despair, she once walked away from her newborn, asleep in her carriage in a park. Disaster was avoided and Essie got better, but she still fears what lurks inside her, even as her daughter gets older and she has a second baby. When a new woman named Isabelle (Palmer) moves in next door to Essie, she is an immediate object of curiosity in the neighborhood. Why single, when everyone else is married with children? Why renting, when everyone else owns? What mysterious job does she have? And why is she so fascinated with Essie? As the two women grow closer and Essie's friends voice their disapproval, it starts to become clear that Isabelle's choice of neighborhood was no accident. And that her presence threatens to bring shocking secrets to light.

Foreign Tongue is a romantic comedy with magical realism, set in 2011, about Kathy, a successful recruiter, singer, and amateur sommelier who, after a messy divorce, relocates from Vancouver to Toronto. There, her career thrives, but her personal life spirals into loneliness. After a freak accident at a speed-dating event, Kathy develops foreign tongue syndrome, speaking in an unplaceable accent that ruins her reputation and career. Desperate for change, Kathy joins an ESL class and connects with a diverse group of newcomers, including David, with whom she forms a special bond. To fit in, Kathy pretends to be a Bosnian immigrant, but her lie spirals out of control, leading to unexpected success and complicated relationships.

From unravels the mystery of a nightmarish town in middle America that traps all those who enter. As the unwilling residents fight to keep a sense of normalcy and search for a way out, they must also survive the threats of the surrounding forest – including the terrifying creatures that come out when the sun goes down. Perrineau will play Boyd Stevens, the sheriff whose Draconian rules have held the fragile town together, even as he searches for a way to escape this seemingly inescapable nightmare. In the wake of season 2's cliffhanger, escape will become a tantalizing and very real possibility as the true nature of the town comes into focus, and the townspeople go on offense against the myriad horrors surrounding them.

The criminal misadventures of Eddie Horniman and Susie Glass will continue in The Gentlemen Season 2. The series, inspired by the Guy Ritchie movie of the same name, is coming back to Netflix for a deeper look into the criminal underbelly of aristocratic Britain. The Gentlemen follows Eddie (Theo James), who becomes the new Duke of Halstead following his father's death. In addition to the new title, Eddie also inherits the family's sizable country estate — and the illegal weed farm located underneath it, run by the sophisticated yet ruthless Susie (Kaya Scodelario) and her crime boss father Bobby Glass (Ray Winstone). Although hesitant to join the criminal lifestyle at first, he develops a taste for it and finds an unexpected ally in Susie as they face down the UK and Europe's most notorious and hilarious gangster families. And by the end of the first eight episodes, Eddie solidifies himself as co-owner — along with Susie and Bobby — of the Glass' massive weed empire.

On the night of 14 June 2017, a fire engulfed the 24-storey Grenfell Tower in west London, killing at least 87 people and injuring many more. An entire community was destroyed. For many people affected by this tragedy, the psychological scars may never heal. Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder is a condition that affects many people who have endured traumatic events, leaving them unable to move on from life-changing tragedies. In the immediate aftermath of the fire, the focus was rightly placed on providing food, shelter and health care for those left homeless – but it is important that we don't lose sight of the psychological impact this fire will have had on its survivors.

Centuries before the events of A Game of Thrones, House Targaryen—the only family of dragonlords to survive the Doom of Valyria—took up residence on Dragonstone. Fire & Blood begins their tale with the legendary Aegon the Conqueror, creator of the Iron Throne, and goes on to recount the generations of Targaryens who fought to hold that iconic seat, all the way up to the civil war that nearly tore their dynasty apart. Considine will play King Viserys Targaryen, chosen by the lords of Westeros to succeed the Old King, Jaehaerys Targaryen, at the Great Council at Harrenhal. A warm, kind, and decent man, Viserys only wishes to carry forward his grandfather's legacy. But good men do not necessarily make for great kings. Smith is Prince Daemon Targaryen, younger brother to King Viserys and heir to the throne. A peerless warrior and a dragon rider, Daemon possess the true blood of the dragon. But it is said that whenever a Targaryen is born, the gods toss a coin in the air. Cooke plays Alicent Hightower, the daughter of Otto Hightower, the Hand of the King, and the comeliest woman in the Seven Kingdoms. She was raised in the Red Keep, close to the king and his innermost circle; she possesses both a courtly grace and a keen political acumen. D'Arcy's Princess Rhaenyra Targaryen is the king's first-born child, she is of pure Valyrian blood, and she is a dragonrider. Many would say that Rhaenyra was born with everything... but she was not born a man. (w/t "RED GUN")

 David Burroughs was once a devoted father to his three-year-old son Matthew, living a dream life just a short drive away from the working-class suburb where he and his wife, Cheryl, first fell in love—until one fateful night when David woke to discover Matthew had been murdered while David was asleep just down the hall. Half a decade later, David's been wrongly accused and convicted of the murder, left to serve out his time in a maximum-security prison—a fate which, grieving and wracked with guilt, David didn't have the will to fight. The world has moved on without him. Then Cheryl's younger sister, Rachel, makes a surprise appearance during visiting hours bearing a strange photograph . . . in the background, just barely in frame, is a boy bearing an eerie resemblance to David's son. David just knows: Matthew is still alive. David plans a harrowing escape, determined to achieve the impossible—save his son, clear his own name, and discover the real story of what happened. But with his life on the line and the FBI following his every move, can David evade capture long enough to reveal the shocking truth?

The close bond between a teenage White sister and her adopted Black brother survives their harsh Christian fundamentalist home, bigoted community, and brutal reform school. Jesus Land is the true story of Julia Scheeres (Anderson) and her adopted Black brother David (Jones) who struggle to navigate their tumultuous childhood in their harsh Christian fundamentalist home and the surrounding bigoted community in 80's rural Indiana. When they rebel against their abusive parents, they are sent to a reform school in the Dominican Republic, where they are imprisoned in a compassionless world that preaches blind obedience over meaningful religious content. Throughout their ordeals they dream of a better life in a diverse, free environment. Within Jesus Land, themes of love, hope, loyalty, race, religion, and family are woven together, creating a narrative of depth and complexity.

About the extraordinary life of American basketball coach and broadcaster, Jim Valvano. Jimmy V's life is the ultimate underdog story, peppered with courage and optimism when facing long odds. It starts with Valvano's meteoric coaching ascent, including his astonishing run to the 1983 NCAA Championship with the NC State Wolfpack. The team won a last second victory over a heavily favored Houston Cougars team that had all time NBA greats Hakeem Olajuwon and Clyde Drexler on its roster. Valvano's optimism never wavered, even when he received a tragic cancer diagnosis. His courageous reaction to the fate he was dealt was personified by his inspirational "never give up" speech at the 1993 ESPY Awards while terminally ill. Not only was there not dry eye in the house, the momentum almost singlehandedly inspired a movement in the fight against the disease. It helped launch the V Foundation – which has raised over $300 million as one of the premier supporters of cancer research in the United States. Valvano died in 1993.

Audrey Dumont, 30, a passionate advocate for organic and local products, works as the head of the "dairy products" department at Vidal, France's largest retail brand. Based in a hypermarket on the outskirts of Rouen, Audrey's hard work and strong convictions have not gone unnoticed. Recognized by her superiors for her fierce determination and commitment to quality, she is invited to join Vidal's central purchasing division. As she rises through the ranks, Audrey's ambition pushes her further into the heart of the retail empire. But as she navigates the cutthroat world of corporate politics, she begins to question: at what cost will her success come? Will she be willing to pay the price for her dreams?

Legends of the Highway unveils the untold story of the Florida Highwaymen, a collective of 26 self-taught African American artists who, in the segregated South of the 1950s and '60s, forged their own path to success. Focusing on eight pioneering members through the eyes of Mary Ann Carroll, the official First Lady of the Highwaymen, the film highlights how these artists, guided by the mentorship of renowned landscape painter A.E. Backus and led by Alfred Hair and Harold Newton, transformed the art world. Alongside Roy R.A. McClendon, James Gibson, Samuel Newton, Livingston "Castro" Roberts, George Buckner, Alphonso Moran, and Al Black, these artists captured Florida's breathtaking landscapes and sold their paintings along the state's highways, circumventing a traditional art world that often excluded them.

A biopic about the family behind the high-performance automobiles that, along with Ferrari and Lamborghini, Italy is known for. Maserati was founded in 1914 in a garage in the central Italian city of Bologna by three brothers: Alfieri, Ettore and Ernesto. The trident that is the company's emblem is a replica of the one found in the Fountain of Neptune in Bologna. From early on the company, which is now known for exotic luxury cars, was tied to the world of auto racing. Maserati's first Grand Prix racing car, called "Type 26," is the vehicle that Alfieri Maserati was driving in the 1927 Messina Cup race when he had a near fatal crash. Alfieri died a few years later from complications related to that accident on March 3, 1932, at the age of 44. In 1937 the brothers, while remaining involved, sold a controlling stake in the company that is now owned by Fiat. In 1939, Wilbur Shaw won the Indianapolis 500 at the wheel of the Maserati "Boyle Special." He repeated the feat the following year, making Maserati the only European manufacturer to win the Indy 500 twice. (Block 1: December 2 - 21, 2024 | Block 2: Begins February 2025)

A crime story about a real-life family made infamous by Mandy Matney's popular Murdaugh Murders podcast. The series aims to be the definitive account of Alex Murdaugh, a member of the prominent South Carolina legal family who has faced dozens of embezzlement and other criminal charges. He has been named a person of interest in the gruesome murder of his wife and son and alleged co-conspirator with his oxycodone supplier in an assisted suicide and insurance fraud attempt. Murdaugh's sons and other members of the family have also been linked to two deaths, while the passing of his housekeeper is considered suspicious, too. Schmoolie The Deathwatcher is the darkly hilarious tale of Schmoolie Lazar, an Orthodox Jewish teen and clumsy misfit, living in the ultra-hip Fairfax District of Los Angeles. One Friday, his hum drum life takes a turn when his mother volunteers him to act as Shomer at a local mortuary, and take the night shift guarding a body awaiting burial. But the dead are not his biggest problem of the night when he encounters two henchmen who have broken in, in order to hide a body of their own. His faith is put to the ultimate test when he unwittingly spoils their perfect crime and entangles himself in a dangerous game of cat and mouse.

Sidd, a retired middleweight boxer, spends his days training young fighters at his rundown gym in a gritty urban neighborhood. Sidd is trying to keep his fighters on the straight and narrow but struggles to keep the gym afloat and make rent. When a drug syndicate led by Dante wants to use his fighters as drug runners, Sidd is forced to step back into the underworld he thought he'd left behind. Sidd's solitary life takes an unexpected turn when a new neighbor, Giselle, a single mother, moves into the apartment down the hall with her ten-year-old son, Tony. As Sidd grows closer to Giselle and Tony, he faces an impossible choice: continue down the dark path to protect his gym and fighters, or risk everything to bring Dante down for good. Determined to make things right, Sidd trains for one last showdown—not in the ring, but in the streets—to end Dante's reign and protect the family he's come to love.

Bernard Hinault is “Le Blaireau,” the Badger. Tough as old boots, he is the old warrior of the French peloton, as revered as he is feared for his ferocious attacks. He has won 5 Tours de France, marking his name into the history books as a member of cycling's most exclusive club. Yet as the 1986 Tour de France ascends into the mountains, a boyish and friendly young American named Greg LeMond threatens the Badger—and France's entire cycling heritage. The stakes are high. Winning for Hinault means capping his long cycling career by becoming the first man to win the Tour six times. For LeMond, a win will bring America its first Tour de France victory. So why does their rivalry shock the world? LeMond and Hinault ride for the same team. LeMond becomes paranoid, taking other riders' feed bags in the feed zone and blaming crashes on sabotage. Through it all, with the help of his American teammate Andy Hampsten, LeMond rides like a champion and becomes the first American to win the Tour de France. His win signals the passing of cycling's last hide-bound generation and the birth of a new breed of riders.

Mandy Patterson is struggling to find her passion in life. Her latest endeavor as a real estate agent doesn't seem to be doing the trick, despite her boyfriend Tom's encouragement and his personal success in the industry. She just doesn't seem to share his excitement for sales. When she finds a lost kitten and meets local vet Jack at her grandparent's retirement party, she starts to open her eyes to new ideas. Her grandfather decides to gift his beloved (yet struggling) bowling alley "Lucky Lanes" to Mandy to either keep or sell. Tom is thrilled with the potential of this large sale, while Mandy starts to explore options on how to potentially revive the place she loved so much as a kid. Conflicting goals begin to show Mandy what Tom's true colors are. When Mandy starts to collaborate with Jack on a pet adoption charity event hosted at the bowling alley, she begins to open her eyes and her heart to new possibilities. With a little help from her new kitten and Jack, Mandy finds her own path while saving a precious family business.

A revenge thriller, set on a cruise ship in the Arctic, Moore will play Verna, a 60-year-old retired physiotherapist and twice a widow, who embarks on a luxurious cruise into the magnificent and silently thawing Arctic Northwest Passage, populated by a crowd of privileged influencers and wealthy retirees. On the ship, Verna meets the friendly and charming Grace (Oh), and the seemingly ordinary Bob, an unaccompanied man in his mid-sixties who inherited a family business. Although he doesn't have a fraction of Verna's elegance and wit, Bob tries to seduce her. But he might not be the foolish yet harmless man he initially appears to be, and his presence troubles Verna. As wounds and humiliations from her past resurface, the smooth atmosphere of the cruise will be disturbed by a shocking act.

A live-action film based on the graphic novel of the same name. In the future, New York City is ruled by Oroku Hiroto, grandson of the Shredder and son of Karai, running the city with meticulous fascism and totalitarianism. A lone turtle, haunted by hallucinations of his deceased brothers, works to end Hiroto, whom he blames for his brothers' deaths. He traverses through the now heavily guarded New York City, fighting against synthetic ninjas (dubbed Synjas) on his way to the Foot Clan headquarters. He crashes out of the building, having failed his mission, and retreats into the sewer as a teenage girl called Jones follows. She finds the turtle attempting seppuku before passing out from blood loss, and wakes up to see an older April O'Neil, who identifies the turtle as Michelangelo. (James Wan mentioned to direct.)

Four men pull off a daring daytime robbery at a bank, dump the money in a trash can and go their separate ways. Thomas Crown (Jordan), a successful, wealthy businessman pulls up in his Rolls and collects it. Vickie Anderson, an independent insurance investigator is called in to recover the huge haul. She begins to examine the people who knew enough about the bank to have pulled the robbery and discovers Crown. She begins a tight watch on his every move and begins seeing him socially. How does the planner of the perfect crime react to pressure?

Lara Croft is the independent daughter of an eccentric adventurer who mysteriously vanished when she was a teen. Determined to forge her own path, she refuses to take the reins of her father's global empire just as she rejects the idea that he's truly gone. The idea is to build out a connected world of Tomb Raider, with the video game, TV series and film all interconnected.

Set against the backdrop of Russia's invasion of Ukraine, the series follows the journey of Paul (Wesley), an ex-soldier turned taxi driver in Poland. After receiving a desperate call from his wife in Kyiv on the day of the invasion, he races against time, crossing borders to guide his family to safety amid chaos and unimaginable terror. Over the phone, he leads them through a landscape of fear and violence, intensifying the sense of urgency as they grapple with survival in the face of insurmountable odds. Inspired by true events occurring on the day of the Russian invasion, the series will follow Paul's quest across war-torn terrain but through his own inner battles of redemption and resilience. (Production is set to begin in Eastern Europe in the winter of 2025-26.)

With the most powerful clients in Europe, Guy Ritchie's The Associate will see family fortunes and reputations at risk, odd alliances unfold, and betrayal around every corner; and while the family might be London's most elite fixers today, the nature of their business means there is no guarantee what's in store tomorrow. The drama follows two generations of gangsters, the businesses they run, the complex relationships they weave, and the man they call upon to fix their problems. Hardy will star as Harry Da Souza, a professional conciliator on behalf of the Harrigan family; Brosnan will play Conrad Harrigan, the head of a very successful Irish crime family based in London and Harry's boss; Mirren will play Maeve Harrigan, Conrad's wife and the Harrigan family matriarch. Vital Signs is a reinvention of the medical show that asks: what if your favorite TV escape became your reality? Its heroine, Emmy Correll, is in a rut. She wishes her dull, disappointing life was more like her favorite medical drama Vital Signs – where the characters are life-saving heroes with endlessly exciting love lives. But when Emmy's wish comes true, and she is transported INTO the show, she must confront whether this new life is what she truly wants. Waking up in a TV show is disorienting! Especially because in this world, Emmy is apparently a newly hired doctor. But once she gets over the shock, she realizes she's seen every episode; and she knows what's going to happen. And that means here, in this world, she's kind of a genius.

Russia, early 1990s. The USSR collapsed. A new world of possibilities opens up where freedom mingles with chaos. With his formidable and inscrutable mind, the young Vadim Baranov sets out to conquer it. First an avant-garde artist, then a TV producer crafting new national fantasies, he becomes the spin doctor of a promising member of the FSB – ex-KGB – soon to be known as "The Tsar": Vladimir Putin. Working at the heart of Russian power, Baranov blurs truth with lies, the news with propaganda, directing the entire society like one great reality show. Only his love for the magnetic, free-minded Ksenia can turn him away from this dangerous game. After his resignation 15 years later, legends about Baranov multiplied, none of them able to disentangle the myth from the man. Until one night, "The Wizard of the Kremlin" decides to reveal his story and rake up the dark secrets of the regime he helped build. (aka "LE MAGe DU KREMLIN")
