Shinya Suzuki (Ryoma Takeuchi) is the Japanese champion of Latin Dance, while Shinya Sugiki (Keita Machida) is the Japanese champion and second-ranked dancer in Standard Ballroom in the world. They are often compared to each other because of their similar names despite dancing in different categories, which frustrates the competitive Suzuki. One day, Suzuki receives a surprise when Sugiki asks him to team up and win the 10-Dance Competition. The 10-Dance is a competition in which top dancers perform five varieties of Latin Dance and five varieties of Standard Ballroom. Knowing how difficult it would be, Suzuki initially rejects Sugiki's proposal to teach each other their respective styles and compete on the world stage, but Sugiki's provocative attitude sparks Suzuki's competitive spirit and spurs him to begrudgingly accept. The two men's opposite personalities clash as they devote themselves to daily lessons, but they grow steadily closer over time. Before long, Suzuki realizes he has started developing a romantic attraction to Sugiki.

It is the zombie apocalypse and Adam and Amy have just out run a gang of flesh-eating zombies. The good news is, they're safe. Hiding out in an abandoned pizza delivery car. The bad news is, they're trapped in a car with no keys and surrounded by hungry zombies. Even worse news is that they are alone together. You see Adam and Amy used to be married. They used to be in love. They used to think they were each other's one and only. And now that they might actually be the one and only man and woman left on the planet, it's time they figure out what went wrong and give this relationship one last shot. And as painful as that might sound, it's still not the worst news yet. One of them is hiding a secret that will not only change their relationship forever, it will determine if they live or die.

This upcoming 'Alien' story is set on Earth, not too far into the future, and promises to be a thrilling combination of the timeless horror from the first film and the non-stop action from the second. Wendy (Chandler) is a hybrid with the mind of 10-year-old Marcy, who gave her consciousness, and a brand-new superhuman body. With the help of Kirsh (Olyphant) and human scientist Dame Sylvia (Davis), Wendy learns to master her new body and becomes a determined leader for other hybrids, forging a new path for elevated beings. J.D. Hermit is a medic for Prodigy Tactical Response, the private army of the Prodigy Corporation. Despite struggling with a slightly anxious disposition and mourning the loss of his entire family, he musters the strength to be a hero in the face of danger, showing that he has been grossly underestimated.

At 15, a life-altering car accident derailed a promising sports career, and a first love, dance. Pushing through great difficulty and constant physical pain, Jessica Tannen carved out a new life with sheer tenacity and style, transforming herself into Supermom with a blinged-out walking cane. This transformation is never more evident than at Christmas. What started out as a heartfelt, fun, family talent show over the years has become almost a military operation. Jessica's loving husband and 3 kids are willing but battle weary from 10 years of the drive for Christmas perfection. Between a recent diagnosis of crippling rheumatoid arthritis, unmet issues of the heart, and a deep rift with her sister, her best laid plans start to fall apart as LIFE demands change, forgiveness and reconnecting with the real meaning of Christmas. Wannabe filmmakers who never made it decide to reboot "Anaconda" and travel to the Amazon, where they get caught up in the fight for a flower that might cure cancer. When Doug McCallister's (Rudd) wife Malie throws him a surprise party, and his old high school friends- Griff (Black), Claire and Kenny - get together, they watch the bad horror movie they made in high school and get it into their heads that they can make a reboot of an old favorite, Anaconda, to which Griff claims to now own the rights. They raise a little capital and take off for the jungle, where they fall in with Ana, who, it turns out, is masquerading as a riverboat captain and is really on the run from big Pharma goon Myron because she's discovered a flower that supposedly cures cancer. Of course, a real, giant anaconda's stalking them all, too. Doug and Griff have to hash out their differences to thwart Myron and then kill the anaconda, making a memorable movie in the process.

Bel-Air is a reimagining of the '90s sitcom The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air that follows Will's (Jabari Banks) complicated journey from the streets of West Philadelphia to the gated mansions of Bel-Air. As these two worlds collide, Will reckons with the power of second chances while navigating the conflicts, emotions, and biases of a world far different from the only one he's ever known. Season 2 picks up with Will at a crossroads as a new figure comes into his life who challenges what he's learned in Bel-Air and competes for control of his influence. He juggles this while navigating his home life with the Banks family and trying to rebuild the trust that was broken at the end of last season. We'll see Will and Carlton's brotherhood start to evolve as they grow closer, but still challenge each other about their differences. We'll also see Hilary evolve as she becomes more of a boss in her influencer world and how that spills over into her relationship with Jazz, and also highlight the relatable struggles around Viv and Phil balancing marriage and family while trying to forge their own career paths and reconnect to the things that are important to them.

An espionage thriller, set in the clandestine world of MI5. John Hughes (Evans), joined MI5 during the war on terror and was at the forefront of averting the biggest terrorist plots on UK soil. Now in his mid 40s and married with two children he's struggling to adapt to the new MI5, where threats to national security have changed and he's forced to adapt to the values of a progressive work environment. On a hunch John meets Ehsan, a British Iranian man with links to the Manchester gangland who claims he has intelligence about a plot on UK soil. Before he can share intel, Ehsan is executed by a lone gunman, and John impulsively kills the assassin in retaliation. This triggers a chain of events which puts John in direct collision with his superiors who are furious that he appears to have got involved in a Manchester gang turf war. John thinks there's more to it than that and starts digging into Ehsan's past. He knows he'll have to redeem himself if he's to save his career and reputation, all the while struggling with his own mental health after having killed a man. John's efforts to save his career and his marriage are also tested by Mehreen, an intelligence operative who is brought in to take over John's duties on the Iran desk. Their connection is electric, and John must wrestle with temptations his younger self would readily have surrendered to. Struggling with his own demons, his love for his family and his complicated loyalty to the institution he's been part of for over 20 years, John sets out to find the truth of the explosive security threat to the UK before it's too late.

After the death of his war hero brother, and a near fatal motorcycle accident, Jack is forced into sobriety and given a chance to stay that way. However, it reveals a more grave concern. Jack's world comes crashing down as his drinking has ruined his last chance of being a hero. His life in the bottle prevents him from being a donor for his niece, and he considers ending it all, but his niece and community are not ready to give up on him, yet. Through stubborn effort and the naive hope of his niece, Jack recovers to find he is still funny, sober, and loved, and he begins to make amends and plans for an uncertain future with Jillian - no matter how short it may be. He is able to take the stage and celebrate a comeback, sober, with an act the audience wasn't expecting, and a new look on an old saying. Learning from his father, family and friends, he decides that, yes, fate is unyielding, but it's up to him to find, and make, happiness in the moment.

Cleopatra is the daughter of Ptolemy, ancestor of the leader of Alexander the Great's army. When Rome's ruler Julius Caesar's mentor-turned-rival Pompey fled to Egypt after a brutal war for control of the empire, Egypt became a fixation of Roman rulers. Two siblings battled for the throne of Egypt. After winning that internal struggle by appealing personally to Caesar, Cleopatra had a complicated relationship with Rome, becoming the lover of Caesar and later Marc Antony. The latter alliance would become the undoing of both Antony and Cleopatra.

A drama about Eddie Breen a disgraced astronaut who embarks on a mission to reach the bottom of a newly-discovered Ni'hil Trench, which some speculate may be the lowest point on Earth. Facing great danger, he quickly finds himself in a physical and psychological fight against mysterious forces. Eventually, Eddie's submarine makes it to the bottom of the sea, where he finds a house. In the house is Marion, a French woman and she's alive – or thinks she's alive.

The drama focuses on Dexter's son Harrison (Alcott), who survived his tumultuous reintroduction with his father and flees to New York City where he must wrestle with his own violent nature and whether, like his father, he too is compelled to kill. The new version will explore the kinds of themes and scenarios seen in the original series but through a new lens. (January 6 - June 29, 2025)

Set in a near future Margate, against a backdrop of soaring inequality, The Dream Lands tells the story of Chance, a young woman who discovers life and love, while being forced to fight for her family's survival in a world that's crumbling around her. It's 2039 and temperatures are soaring, seas are rising, and the political climate is equally as menacing. Chance is living a life of crime just to get by, when her community is singled out for a government rejuvenation scheme, promising to bring her coastal town back to life. But when Chance falls in love with Franky, a girl with ties to the establishment, she and those closest to her begin to realize that all may not be as it seems. The Dream Lands is a thrilling voyage of romantic awakening and self-discovery, a defiant community fighting back. Part conspiracy thriller and part relationship drama, the story blazes with the enduring power of love and hope, in a world spinning out of control.

Emerald Butterfly is a crime story set in Jakarta, 1946, on the brink of the war of independence. It takes place during the British intervention in Indonesia, which established British rule in Jakarta. As the British are thinking of moving out, the Dutch are moving in, preparing a confrontation with the Indonesians. In this charged environment The Emerald Butterfly delivers a noir crime story from three different points of view. First is the Dutchman, trying to take back what he thinks is his. Second is an Indonesian woman searching for a new life. Third is the American consul general caught up in conspiracy. The three stories will intertwine.

The end of the road begins. Fast X, the tenth film in the Fast & Furious Saga, launches the final chapters of one of cinema's most storied and popular global franchises, now in its third decade and still going strong with the same core cast and characters as when it began. Over many missions and against impossible odds, Dom Toretto (Vin Diesel) and his family have outsmarted, out nerved and outriven every foe in their path. Now, they confront the most lethal opponent they've ever faced: A terrifying threat emerging from the shadows of the past who's fueled by blood revenge, and who is determined to shatter this family and destroy everything--and everyone--that Dom loves, forever.

Foreign Tongue is a romantic comedy with magical realism, set in 2011, about Kathy, a successful recruiter, singer, and amateur sommelier who, after a messy divorce, relocates from Vancouver to Toronto. There, her career thrives, but her personal life spirals into loneliness. After a freak accident at a speed-dating event, Kathy develops foreign tongue syndrome, speaking in an unplaceable accent that ruins her reputation and career. Desperate for change, Kathy joins an ESL class and connects with a diverse group of newcomers, including David, with whom she forms a special bond. To fit in, Kathy pretends to be a Bosnian immigrant, but her lie spirals out of control, leading to unexpected success and complicated relationships.

The criminal misadventures of Eddie Horniman and Susie Glass will continue in The Gentlemen Season 2. The series, inspired by the Guy Ritchie movie of the same name, is coming back to Netflix for a deeper look into the criminal underbelly of aristocratic Britain. The Gentlemen follows Eddie (Theo James), who becomes the new Duke of Halstead following his father's death. In addition to the new title, Eddie also inherits the family's sizable country estate — and the illegal weed farm located underneath it, run by the sophisticated yet ruthless Susie (Kaya Scodelario) and her crime boss father Bobby Glass (Ray Winstone). Although hesitant to join the criminal lifestyle at first, he develops a taste for it and finds an unexpected ally in Susie as they face down the UK and Europe's most notorious and hilarious gangster families. And by the end of the first eight episodes, Eddie solidifies himself as co-owner — along with Susie and Bobby — of the Glass' massive weed empire.

The year is 1949, the city London. Amidst the smog of the capital stumbles Dennis Knuckleyard, a hapless eighteen year-old employed by a second-hand bookshop. One day, on an errand to acquire books for sale, Dennis discovers a novel that simply does not exist. It is a fictitious book, a figment from another novel. Yet it is physically there in his hands. How? Dennis has stumbled on a book from the Great When, a magical version of London beyond time and space, where reality blurs with fiction and concepts such as Crime and Poetry are incarnated as wondrous, terrible beings. But this other, magical London must remain a secret: if Dennis cannot find a way to return this book to where it belongs, he risks repercussions, such as his body being turned inside out (or worse). So begins a journey delving deep into the city's occult underbelly and tarrying with an eccentric cast of sorcerers, gangsters, and murderers – some from legend, some all too real, and all with plans of their own. Soon Dennis finds himself at the centre of an explosive series of events that may alter and endanger both Londons forever.

Everything in Elizabeth Egan's life has its place, from the espresso cups in her gleaming kitchen to the swatches and paint pots of her interior-design business. Order and precision keep life under control and keep Elizabeth's heart safe from the pain and hurt she has suffered in the past. Being a reluctant mother to her six-year-old nephew while trying to keep her design business on track is a full-time job for Elizabeth, and one that leaves little room for error, or fun. Until one day, when Ivan unexpectedly comes into their lives. The mysterious Ivan is carefree, spontaneous, and always looking for adventure: everything that Elizabeth is not. Yet just when Elizabeth is starting to trust him, it turns out that Ivan isn't at all who she thought he was.

Inheritance is an ambitious genre-bending series that boldly confronts the enduring legacy of colonialism, marrying shadowy intrigue with the pulsating energy of the Caribbean. Claudia (Gugu Mbatha-Raw), an ambitious young bi-racial lawyer, embarks on a journey to Jamaica to challenge an inheritance claim filed by an unknown local resident, Cudjoe East (Sheldon Shepherd), against Oliver Connaught (Jonny Lee-Miller), a wealthy white aristocrat. Her quest takes an unexpected turn when the contested estate reveals the ominous house that has haunted her nightmares: the Connaught family's Jamaican plantation, Hope Hill. As Claudia and Oliver investigate, they uncover a chilling connection between historical horrors and present-day injustices. Inheritance is an ambitious genre-bending series that boldly confronts the enduring legacy of colonialism, marrying shadowy intrigue with the pulsating energy of the Caribbean.

The Lady charts the rise and fall of former royal dresser Jane Andrews, whose rags to riches fairy tale fell apart when she was convicted of murder. Once a young working-class girl from Grimsby, Jane answered an advertisement in the magazine The Lady and to the astonishment of her friends and family, became the Duchess of York's dresser at Buckingham Palace. Moving amongst the highest social circles in Britain, Jane managed to secure a place in the upper-classes, only to lose her job with the Duchess after nine years of service. Still reeling from her fall from grace, Jane went on to meet charismatic businessman Thomas Cressman and fell deeply in love. Soon cracks began to develop in the romance Jane had pinned all her hopes on, with disastrous consequences.

Late Fame tells the story of Ed Saxberger (Dafoe), who wrote a book of poetry a long time ago that no one ever cared about. When a group of young artists rediscover his work, he must reassess his genius. The wild card in the group is Gloria (Lee), a talented and mercurial theatre actress who toys with affections and who is all set to be admired by Saxberger, this legendary figure from a gritty New York golden age. The film explores the illusory effect of praise on the soul, and the lingering ghostly presence of the past, whether it's imagined or vividly remembered.

A thrilling roller-coaster ride about a heist gone terribly wrong. What if you had the winning ticket that would change your life forever, but you couldn't cash it in? Lucky Armstrong is a tough, talented grifter who has just pulled off a million-dollar heist with her boyfriend, Cary. She's ready to start a brand-new life, with a new identity—when things go sideways. Lucky finds herself alone for the first time, navigating the world without the help of either her father or her boyfriend, the two figures from whom she's learned the art of the scam. When she discovers that a lottery ticket she bought on a whim is worth millions, her elation is tempered by one big problem: cashing in the winning ticket means she'll be arrested for her crimes. She'll go to prison, with no chance to redeem her fortune. As Lucky tries to avoid capture and make a future for herself, she must confront her past by reconciling with her father; finding her mother, who abandoned her when she was just a baby; and coming to terms with the man she thought she loved—whose dark past is catching up with her, too.

A biopic about the family behind the high-performance automobiles that, along with Ferrari and Lamborghini, Italy is known for. Maserati was founded in 1914 in a garage in the central Italian city of Bologna by three brothers: Alfieri, Ettore and Ernesto. The trident that is the company's emblem is a replica of the one found in the Fountain of Neptune in Bologna. From early on the company, which is now known for exotic luxury cars, was tied to the world of auto racing. Maserati's first Grand Prix racing car, called "Type 26," is the vehicle that Alfieri Maserati was driving in the 1927 Messina Cup race when he had a near fatal crash. Alfieri died a few years later from complications related to that accident on March 3, 1932, at the age of 44. In 1937 the brothers, while remaining involved, sold a controlling stake in the company that is now owned by Fiat. In 1939, Wilbur Shaw won the Indianapolis 500 at the wheel of the Maserati "Boyle Special." He repeated the feat the following year, making Maserati the only European manufacturer to win the Indy 500 twice. (Block 1: December 2 - 21, 2024 | Block 2: Begins February 2025)

From an early age, Arlyn Brickman associated with petty and some not so petty racketeering figures, starting with her grandmother and father. Intoxicated by the glamour and flash, she made herself "indispensable" to wiseguys by running errands, carrying packages, or offering her home as a meeting place or safe haven--not to mention the dozens of mob figures with whom she slept. Before long, she vaulted from an adjunct role into the thick of bookmaking, loansharking, and drug dealing. Over a 30-year career, she had eight abortions and endured beatings, humiliations, and a brutal rape, eventually becoming a government informant and witness.

A crime story about a real-life family made infamous by Mandy Matney's popular Murdaugh Murders podcast. The series aims to be the definitive account of Alex Murdaugh, a member of the prominent South Carolina legal family who has faced dozens of embezzlement and other criminal charges. He has been named a person of interest in the gruesome murder of his wife and son and alleged co-conspirator with his oxycodone supplier in an assisted suicide and insurance fraud attempt. Murdaugh's sons and other members of the family have also been linked to two deaths, while the passing of his housekeeper is considered suspicious, too. (February 24 - June 13, 2025)

Neuromancer, takes place in the near future in a cyberpunk setting. Cyberpunk is a genre that focuses on future societies where technology has advanced, but crime and corruption have as well. Common features include globe-spanning mega-corporations, cybernetically enhanced mercenaries, and the importance of technology as a tool for crime. The story follows the experiences of Case (Turner), an out-of-work hacker who is contacted by a mysterious new employer called Armitage. Along with Molly, a mercenary cyborg, and a thief/illusionist named Peter Riviera, Case participates in a series of data thefts for their employer. Their first job has them stealing an electronic copy of the mind of McCoy Pauley, a brilliant hacker who taught Case a great deal of what he knows. They steal this electronic mind to help them in performing their next job. After that, the group must head to Freeside, an enormous space habitat in orbit around Earth. Freeside serves as a luxury resort and casino for the wealthy, and it is also the location of Villa Straylight, the home of the incredibly wealthy and powerful Tessier-Ashpool family. The group's second job is to break into the Villa Straylight and hack into Wintermute, a powerful artificial intelligence created by the Tessier-Ashpool family. In the end, it turns out that Wintermute itself was behind the whole scheme. Government regulations put careful restrictions on artificial intelligences to prevent them from getting out of hand, and Wintermute was using Armitage and his team to break those restrictions. This allows Wintermute to merge with another A.I. called Neuromancer, becoming a new, more powerful electronic being. (w/t "ICEBREAKER")

1980, Pass Christian, Mississippi: It is three in the morning when Bobby Western zips the jacket of his wet suit and plunges from the Coast Guard tender into darkness. His dive light illuminates the sunken jet, nine bodies still buckled in their seats, hair floating, eyes devoid of speculation. Missing from the crash site are the pilot's flight bag, the plane's black box, and the tenth passenger. But how? A collateral witness to machinations that can only bring him harm, Western is shadowed in body and spirit—by men with badges; by the ghost of his father, inventor of the bomb that melted glass and flesh in Hiroshima; and by his sister, the love and ruin of his soul.

Twenty-four-year-old Saeris Fane is good at keeping secrets. No one knows about the strange powers she possesses, or the fact that she has been picking pockets and stealing from the Undying Queen’s reservoirs for as long as she can remember. In the land of the unforgiving desert, there isn’t much a girl wouldn’t do for a glass of water. But a secret is like a knot. Sooner or later, it is bound to come undone. When Saeris comes face-to-face with Death himself, she inadvertently reopens a gateway between realms and is transported to a land of ice and snow. The Fae have always been the stuff of myth, of legend, of nightmares...but it turns out they’re real, and Saeris has landed right in the middle of a centuries-long conflict that might just get her killed. The first of her kind to tread the frozen mountains of Yvelia in over a thousand years, Saeris mistakenly binds herself to Kingfisher, a handsome Fae warrior, who has secrets and nefarious agendas of his own. He will use her Alchemist’s magic to protect his people, no matter what it costs him... or her. Death has a name. It is Kingfisher of the Ajun Gate. His past is murky. His attitude stinks. And he’s the only way Saeris is going to make it home.

Into the cut-throat world of Corinium television comes Declan O'Hara, a mega-star of great glamour and integrity with a radiant feckless wife, a son and two teenage daughters. Living rather too closely across the valley is Rupert Campbell-Black, divorced and as dissolute as ever, and now the Tory Minister for Sport. Declan needs only a few days at Corinium to realize that the Managing Director, Lord Baddingham, is a crook who has recruited him merely to help retain the franchise for Corinium. Baddingham has also enticed Cameron Cook, a gorgeous but domineering executive, to produce Declan's program. Declan and Cameron detest each other, provoking a storm of controversy into which Rupert plunges with his usual abandon. As a rival group emerges to pitch for the franchise, reputations ripen and decline, true love blossoms and burns, marriages are made and shattered, and sex raises its (delicious) head at almost every throw as, in bed and boardroom, the race is on to capture the Cotswold Crown.

The Rumour explores how quickly small-town gossip can spiral out of control, forcing Joanna to confront the unforeseen consequences of curiosity and mistrust in her search for answers. Joanna moves with her young son, Alfie, to the quiet town of Flinstead, seeking a fresh start. However, she quickly becomes entangled in the lives of local mothers and the unsettling dynamics of the community. When Joanna stumbles upon an online rumour about a child killer living in the town, she uses it to win over the mums at the school gate. As gossip spreads, suspicions build, and Joanna finds herself drawn into a web of secrets and paranoia. Balancing her efforts to protect her son with the growing unease in town, Joanna struggles to distinguish between truth and hearsay. With relationships strained and emotions running high, the boundaries between trust and fear blur.

A drama about the interracial love affair between Sammy Davis Jr. (Jonsson) and actress Kim Novak (Sweeney), who at the time was the top box office draw in Hollywood. The drama is Romeo and Juliet set in the backdrop of the Hollywood studio system, when star images were carefully controlled. Davis was the color barrier-breaking star who was making $25,000 a week at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas and became one of the first black stars to appear in a dramatic role on television on General Electric Theater. Novak was a discovery of notorious Columbia Pictures head Harry Cohn, who relied on her to replace previous discovery Rita Hayworth, whose string of marriages dimmed her stardom. Novak was the next rising star of Vertigo, and when she and Davis fell in love after being matched up by Tony Curtis, the pressures brought to bear on both were unimaginable as word of their romance hit the Hollywood gossips.

Sidd, a retired middleweight boxer, spends his days training young fighters at his rundown gym in a gritty urban neighborhood. Sidd is trying to keep his fighters on the straight and narrow but struggles to keep the gym a float and make rent. When a drug syndicate led by Dante wants to use his fighters as drug runners, Sidd is forced to step back into the underworld he thought he'd left behind. Sidd's solitary life takes an unexpected turn when a new neighbor, Giselle, a single mother, moves into the apartment down the hall with her ten-year-old son, Tony. As Sidd grows closer to Giselle and Tony, he faces an impossible choice: continue down the dark path to protect his gym and fighters, or risk everything to bring Dante down for good. Determined to make things right, Sidd trains for one last showdown—not in the ring, but in the streets—to end Dante's reign and protect the family he's come to love.

Songs of the Gorilla Nation follows the true story of Dawn Prince-Hughes, from growing up and living with undiagnosed autism to her self-discovery as a young woman that began —after a long stretch of despair, depression and homelessness — with a connection to a gorilla in the Seattle Woodland Park Zoo. This connection began a lifelong quest of understanding as a deep creative thinker, and ultimately as a primatologist, to show that apes fulfill all of the criteria that currently define personhood. As the gorillas revealed for Dawn how to relate to humans thru the “opaque glass” of Asperger's Syndrome, she connected to ancestral memory that “joined five million years of evolution and the generations travelled.” Dawn's exquisitely perceptive voice and thought provoking story inspires us to find our own looking glass to see that autism is a way of sensing the world — the whole world — of creating and knowing.

Sweetpea tells the story of Rhiannon, your average girl next door, who is living quietly with her boyfriend and little dog. By day her job as an office manager is demeaning and unsatisfying. By evening she dutifully listens to her friends' plans for marriage and babies. Rhiannon never complains, smiling through it all with reserves of serenity and a sparkling wit. She has become skilled at keeping it together. Being normal. But behind this mask is a ferocious power lying dormant, and a long-buried secret that Rhiannon wishes she could forget. When a chance encounter with a stranger leads to a shocking act of violence, Rhiannon's mask slips completely and she is forced to confront the darker side she has long kept hidden. The girl everyone overlooks might just be able to get away with murder. Season two will see Rhiannon (Purnell) return with a vengeance as her killer secret continues to spiral and she becomes more twisted than ever.

More than 15 years after the events of The Handmaid's Tale, the theocratic regime of the Republic of Gilead maintains its grip on power, but there are signs it is beginning to rot from within. At this crucial moment, the lives of three radically different women converge, with potentially explosive results. Two have grown up as part of the first generation to come of age in the new order. The testimonies of these two young women are joined by a third: Aunt Lydia. Her complex past and uncertain future unfold in surprising and pivotal ways. (March 31 - August 25, 2025)

Raised in a prison on the island of Santa Prisca for the crimes of his father, Bane dedicated his life to honing his mind and body into a perfect weapon. In order to wage his unending war on injustice, Batman has developed his body as perfectly as he has his mind. But there's one man who's broken him. A man who stands in many ways as his exact opposite—a physical marvel and a genius without peer. But whereas the Dark Knight was born to fight crime, Bane was destined for a life of corruption.-- Slade Wilson is a mercenary and assassin for hire with no qualms about crossing lines to get the job done, no matter where those lines are drawn. A formidable operative for the U.S. military, Col. Slade Wilson agreed to undergo an experimental process that increased his mental and physical abilities to superhuman levels. Rather than continue his career as a soldier, Slade became the masked mercenary Deathstroke. This decision resulted in his wife leaving him and his son Joseph being permanently injured, as well as the death of his son Grant, who sought to emulate Slade.

A biopic on American-born French icon Josephine Baker. A singer, dancer, actress and civil rights activist, Josephine Baker was born in Saint Louis, Missouri, but after coming to Paris to perform, remained, enjoying a life free of the institutionalized racism and segregation she experienced at home. Performing in her trademark banana skirt, or shimmering sequins, Baker became the darling of Parisian society and a symbol of the Jazz Age. She was also a pioneering figure in cinema, becoming the first Black woman to star in a major motion picture—the 1927 silent movie Siren of the Tropics. Taking on French citizenship, Baker devoted herself to her adopted country, even joining the French Resistance during World War II.

Based on Spain's 1981 Toxic Oil Syndrome, one of – if not the – deadliest case of food poisoning in modern-day Europe. Officially attributed to contaminated rapeseed oil, breaking out in May 1981, the Toxic Oil Syndrome epidemic affected 25,000 people, claiming up to over 4,000 lives, with thousands more affected, both physically and psychologically, up to this day. The series will cover the 50 days between the death of an eight-year-old boy from unknown causes to the official statement identifying contaminated rapeseed oil as the cause. The perspectives of a number of victims and their families will alternate with the heroic work of two paediatricians, attempting to explain and stem the epidemic, and those responsible for managing the crisis. It also explores the role of the wider society at the time.

Lowen Ashleigh is a struggling writer on the brink of financial ruin when she accepts the job offer of a lifetime. Jeremy Crawford, husband of best-selling author Verity Crawford (Hathaway), has hired Lowen to complete the remaining books in a successful series his injured wife is unable to finish. Lowen arrives at the Crawford home, ready to sort through years of Verity's notes and outlines, hoping to find enough material to get her started. What Lowen doesn't expect to uncover in the chaotic office is an unfinished autobiography Verity never intended for anyone to read. Page after page of bone-chilling admissions, including Verity's recollection of the night their family was forever altered. Lowen decides to keep the manuscript hidden from Jeremy, knowing its contents would devastate the already grieving father. But as Lowen's feelings for Jeremy begin to intensify, she recognizes all the ways she could benefit if he were to read his wife's words. After all, no matter how devoted Jeremy is to his injured wife, a truth this horrifying would make it impossible for him to continue to love her.

Centers on a forbidden romance that develops between composer, priest and violin virtuoso Antonio Vivaldi and his protege, singer Anna Tessieri Giro, leading him to write his enduring masterpiece "The Four Seasons." Giro was Vivaldi's favorite prima donna and part of his entourage. Vivaldi at the time denied any romantic relationship, and most modern scholars believe that to be true.

The drama follows Anna, Rachel, Maggie, Claire and Helen. They navigate the peaks and troughs of their late 20s and 30s with in-jokes, hand-me-down resentments and a few old wounds, but their DNA, history and a shared love of power ballads keep them together in the face of heartbreak, grief, addiction and parenthood. After caring for his cancer-stricken mother for two years, James discovers a shocking secret in her belongings: a birth certificate for a brother he never knew existed. Tracking him down, James meets Rob, a charismatic high-roller with an intense outlook on life. Initially captivated by Rob's charm and lifestyle, James agrees to his brother's peculiar hobby—watching strangers through a telescope. But things take a dark turn when James suspects Rob of a gruesome crime. As James unravels the truth, reality blurs. Does Rob truly exist, or is James's fractured mind creating a dangerous illusion? Their bond—and a cryptic wooden mask—holds the key.

Two aimless young women, Molly and her stoner friend Frankie, stumble upon a suitcase filled with vials of a mysterious experimental drug. When they decide to try it, they discover it grants them the incredible power of telepathy. However, their newfound abilities come at a cost—they find themselves pursued by dangerous Germans and a ruthless, shadowy figure determined to reclaim the valuable concoction. As the duo struggles to outwit their relentless pursuers, they must confront their own lack of direction and find strength in their unlikely bond.

(Kristen Stewart mentioned for the role of Frankie Campbell.)
