SONY PICTURES ENTERTAINMENT INC. 10202 W. Washington Blvd. Culver City, CA 90232 310-244-4000In "28 Years Later," it's been almost three decades since the rage virus escaped a biological weapons laboratory, and now, still in a ruthlessly enforced quarantine, some have found ways to exist amidst the infected. One such group of survivors lives on a small island connected to the mainland by a single, heavily-defended causeway. When one of the group leaves the island on a mission into the dark heart of the mainland, he discovers secrets, wonders, and horrors that have mutated not only the infected but other survivors as well.

It is the zombie apocalypse and Adam and Amy have just out run a gang of flesh-eating zombies. The good news is, they're safe. Hiding out in an abandoned pizza delivery car. The bad news is, they're trapped in a car with no keys and surrounded by hungry zombies. Even worse news is that they are alone together. You see Adam and Amy used to be married. They used to be in love. They used to think they were each other's one and only. And now that they might actually be the one and only man and woman left on the planet, it's time they figure out what went wrong and give this relationship one last shot. And as painful as that might sound, it's still not the worst news yet. One of them is hiding a secret that will not only change their relationship forever, it will determine if they live or die."THE AGENCY OF THINGS UNSEEN" Feature FilmBROTHERHOOD STUDIOS*julianna@brotherhoodstudiosproductions.comSTATUS: February 16 LOCATION: Austin, TX

In the wake of his wife's death, widowed filmmaker Noah becomes consumed by grief. With the subtle influence of his friend Darius, Noah meets Miya, a young woman who unknowingly becomes the focus of his obsession. As Noah's fixation deepens, what begins as a quiet connection spirals into a nightmarish descent of manipulation and terror. The Audition is a gripping horror tale of obsession, grief, and the chilling consequences of unchecked desire.

Bel-Air is a reimagining of the '90s sitcom The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air that follows Will's (Jabari Banks) complicated journey from the streets of West Philadelphia to the gated mansions of Bel-Air. As these two worlds collide, Will reckons with the power of second chances while navigating the conflicts, emotions, and biases of a world far different from the only one he's ever known. Season 2 picks up with Will at a crossroads as a new figure comes into his life who challenges what he's learned in Bel-Air and competes for control of his influence. He juggles this while navigating his home life with the Banks family and trying to rebuild the trust that was broken at the end of last season. We'll see Will and Carlton's brotherhood start to evolve as they grow closer, but still challenge each other about their differences. We'll also see Hilary evolve as she becomes more of a boss in her influencer world and how that spills over into her relationship with Jazz, and also highlight the relatable struggles around Viv and Phil balancing marriage and family while trying to forge their own career paths and reconnect to the things that are important to them. The Lincoln County War may be officially over, but both Billy the Kid and Sheriff Pat Garrett (Alex Roe) have important issues to resolve — there is a reckoning to come. Billy is still at large, and Garrett is out to capture him, dead or alive. And with a bounty on his head, Billy has the opportunity to quit New Mexico altogether and pursue a future with Dulcinea (Nuria Vega), the love of his life. But he has unfinished business with Garrett, who has betrayed him, and decides to stay. Meanwhile Jesse Evans (Daniel Webber), Billy's longtime friend, rival, and enemy, also remains in Lincoln, searching for a newfound purpose and perhaps atonement for his sins. As the final chapter in the saga comes to a close, Billy will fight like hell to try to finally find the justice that has long eluded him, even if it means he'll die trying. In Can You Keep a Secret? Dawn French plays widower Debbie Fenton — granny, lawn bowler, tinpot dictator — who will stop at nothing to make sure her family's protected. Unfortunately, most of the time the person they really need protecting from is her. When her hermit-like husband William (Mark Heap) unexpectedly dies, she makes an outlandish decision that will put the family under more pressure than ever before. Because Debbie isn't actually a widower and William didn't really die — he was just mistakenly declared dead and the two retirees found themselves staring down the barrel of an opportunity too good to pass up. Just a few months hiding out in the loft waiting for the life insurance to pay out and then they can live out their golden years in peace. This all proves a bit much for their easily frazzled son Harry who — despite his emotional shortcomings — has managed to acquire a family of his own and a potentially life changing insurance payout from his father's 'death'. Reunited with a dad he's just buried and the reality that his parents have turned into a pensioner version of Bonnie and Clyde, Harry suddenly has a lot more to juggle. Sandwiched between two generations of toddlers, Harry finds himself navigating a very common stage of life — only this time, it's criminal.

Season 1 began with the unjust arrest of an innocent man and escalated into a multi-layered conspiracy of manipulated evidence. Detective Inspector Rachel Carey is drafted in to investigate the case and she quickly learns that the truth can sometimes be a matter of perspective. The next installment of The Capture will again question if we can really believe what we see. Britain is under siege: hacked news feeds, manipulated media, and interference in politics. Entrenched in the UK's own 'Correction' unit, DCI Rachel Carey (Grainger) finds herself in the middle of a new conspiracy - with a new target. But how can she solve this case when she can't even trust her closest colleagues?

Unpopular at school and subjected to her mother's religious fanaticism at home, Carrie White does not have it easy. But while she may be picked on by her classmates, she has a gift she's kept secret since she was a little girl: she can move things with her mind. Doors lock. Candles fall. Her ability has been both a power and a problem. And when she finds herself the recipient of a sudden act of kindness, Carrie feels like she's finally been given a chance to be normal. She hopes that the nightmare of her classmates' vicious taunts is over . . . but an unexpected and cruel prank turns her gift into a weapon of horror so destructive that the town may never recover.

Zélie Adebola (Mbedu) remembers when the soil of Orisha hummed with magic. Burners ignited flames, Tiders beckoned waves, and Zélie's Reaper mother summoned forth souls. Everything changed the night magic disappeared. Under the orders of a ruthless king, maji were killed, leaving Zélie without a mother and her people without hope. Now Zélie has one chance to bring back magic and strike against the monarchy. With the help of a rogue princess, Zélie must outwit and outrun the crown prince, who is hell-bent on eradicating magic for good. Danger lurks in Orisha, where snow leoponaires prowl and vengeful spirits wait in the waters. Yet the greatest danger may be Zélie herself as she struggles to control her powers—and her growing feelings for an enemy. Crossed is set in a post-apocalyptic world ravaged by a brutal pandemic that marks its victims with a cross-like rash on their faces. Those infected — known as the Crossed — are transformed into sadistic killers who retain their intellect but succumb to their darkest and most violent impulses. Imagine the worst crimes against humanity, the cruelest affronts to decency, and the most harrowing nightmares, all unleashed without restraint. Civilization crumbles in a single terrifying moment as people gleefully descend into unimaginable acts of violence. For the survivors, there is no help, no hope, and no escape — only a constant struggle for survival. The story follows a small, desperate group of people as they fight to stay alive and protect a child in a world where humanity is all but lost, and every moment brings new horrors.

The Cry of the Guards unfolds over the course of one night near a vast building site in sub-Saharan Africa. As project supervisor Horn is welcoming his young partner Léone into the hut he shares with young and impetuous engineer Cal, a black man called Alboury appears outside the railings surrounding their quarters. Inflexible, hovering like a ghost in the darkness, he is determined to stay there until they return the body of his brother to him, who was killed on the site. (aka "THE FENCE")

Doctor Stephen Strange (Cumberbatch) has been sought out by a multiversal organization called The Black Priests. Clea (Theron) is a member of this organization. The Black Priests' HQ will be in the Nothing Space of Destroyed Universes, which exists within the space of two dead universes caused by an incursion. Doctor Strange finds himself summoned by a cross-dimensional entity known as The Black Priests, a group that operates within the multiverse. Clea is an active member within this enigmatic organization. The central headquarters of The Black Priests is situated within the Nothing Space of Destroyed Universes. This realm exists between the remnants of two deceased universes, both casualties of a cataclysmic incursion event. Revelations come to light that unveil the impending demise of the Multiverse itself. The underlying cause of this impending decay traces back to a series of incursions spanning the entire Multiverse. Among these, the most recent disruption was triggered by none other than Doctor Strange. This sequel will delve into a concept briefly touched upon in the preceding film: Doctor Strange's inadvertent role as a potential threat to the stability of the entire Multiverse. (Denzel Washington mentioned for the role of Dormammu.)

About a pilot living in a world filled with loss - and what he is willing to risk to rediscover, against all odds, connection, love, and grace.

Hig (Elordi) survived the flu that killed everyone he knows. His wife is gone, his friends are dead, he lives in the hangar of a small abandoned airport with his dog, his only neighbor a gun-toting misanthrope. In his 1956 Cessna, Hig flies the perimeter of the airfield or sneaks off to the mountains to fish and to pretend that things are the way they used to be. But when a random transmission somehow beams through his radio, the voice ignites a hope deep inside him that a better life - something like his old life - exists beyond the airport. Risking everything, he flies past his point of no return - not enough fuel to get him home - following the trail of the static-broken voice on the radio. But what he encounters and what he must face - in the people he meets, and in himself - is both better and worse than anything he could have hoped for.

In many ways, Reeve LeClaire looks like a typical twenty-two year old girl. She's finally landed her own apartment, she waitresses to pay the bills, and she wishes she wasn't so nervous around new people. She thinks of herself as agile, not skittish. As serious, not grim. But Reeve is anything but normal. Ten years ago, she was kidnapped and held captive. After a lucky escape, she's spent the last six years trying to rebuild her life, a recovery thanks in large part to her indispensable therapist Dr. Ezra Lerner. But when he asks her to help another girl rescued from a similar situation, Reeve realizes she may not simply need to mentor this young victim—she may be the only one who can protect her from a cunning predator who is still out there, watching every move.

A procedural drama with comedic undertones. In it, brilliant but directionless, the great grandson of Albert Einstein (Gubler) spends his days as a comfortably tenured professor until his bad boy antics land him in trouble with the law and he is pressed into service helping a local police detective solve her most puzzling cases. Gubler's Lew Einstein is a popular professor at Princeton... when he actually shows up for class. Irreverent and misguided, Lew's genius and famous name weighs heavily on him but using his gift to help solve homicides may—finally—offer his life some direction and purpose. Salazar's Maddie Paris is a Detective Inspector for the New Jersey State Police, who went into law enforcement after the death of her husband. Sharp and disciplined, Maddie demands a lot from her colleagues and even more from herself and feels conflicted about working with Professor Lew Einstein.

In a small Norwegian village, two neighboring families, each with a partner of non-Norwegian nationality, navigate complex cultural dynamics as their differing views on society, values, and child-rearing emerge. The story intensifies when a Romanian family becomes entangled in a legal trial after an alleged incident of physical abuse. This case, which took place before the pandemic, attracted national attention and the support of various religious communities, highlighting issues of privacy, tolerance, and personal integrity. The film delves into the challenges of coexistence, cultural differences, and the scrutiny of societal systems in intimate family matters.

Foreign Tongue is a romantic comedy with magical realism, set in 2011, about Kathy, a successful recruiter, singer, and amateur sommelier who, after a messy divorce, relocates from Vancouver to Toronto. There, her career thrives, but her personal life spirals into loneliness. After a freak accident at a speed-dating event, Kathy develops foreign tongue syndrome, speaking in an unplaceable accent that ruins her reputation and career. Desperate for change, Kathy joins an ESL class and connects with a diverse group of newcomers, including David, with whom she forms a special bond. To fit in, Kathy pretends to be a Bosnian immigrant, but her lie spirals out of control, leading to unexpected success and complicated relationships. (January 20 - February 15, 2025)

Professor Davis has just given his college psychology class an assignment. Pick a topic and study it firsthand through experience. One group of five students believe they have thought of the perfect topic for their project, studying serial killers to see what turns a normal person into a murderer. David, the smartest, yet most socially challenged student in the group, studies FBI Profiling techniques and soon the group decides that they have enough knowledge and information to catch the serial killer that is loose in their town. Using Tiffany, the only female in the group as bait, they lay a trap for the killer that almost gets her killed and everyone else thrown in jail. The group stumbles onto some information which leads them to the killer's hideout and after a near-fatal encounter, the group manages to capture him and take him to a holding shack in the woods. At the holding shack, they torture the killer to learn the location of a missing girl, and for what they believe to be justice. But things do not go as planned and one of the students ends up dead. The group then finds themselves caught in the middle of a bloody web of lies and deceit, where each student must decide whose life is more important, their own, or one of the other group members.

Savvy Sheldon spends a lot of time tiptoeing around the cracks in her life: her high-stress and low-thanks job, her clueless boyfriend and the falling-apart kitchen she inherited from her beloved grandma—who taught her how to cook and how to love people by feeding them. But when Savvy's world starts to crash down around her, she knows it's time for some renovations. Starting from the outside in, Savvy tackles her crumbling kitchen, her relationship with her body, her work-life balance (or lack thereof) and, last but not least, her love life. The only thing that doesn't seem to require effort is her ride-or-die squad of friends. But as any home-reno-show junkie can tell you, something always falls apart during renovations. First, Savvy passes out during hot yoga. Then it turns out that the contractor she hires is the same sexy stranger she unintentionally offended by judging based on appearances. Worst of all, Savvy can't seem to go anywhere without tripping over her ex and his latest "upgrade." Savvy begins to realize that maybe she should've started her renovations the other way around: beginning with how she sees herself before building a love that lasts.

Based on the life of Muhammad Ali. Growing up in the South, surrounded by racial bigotry and discrimination, Ali fought not just for a living, but also for respect and rewards far more precious than money or glory. He was named Sportsman of the Century by Sports Illustrated and the BBC. Ali redefined what it meant to be an athlete by giving hope to millions around the world and inspiring us all to fight for what is important to us. This is a multifaceted portrait of Muhammad Ali only he could render: sports legend, unapologetic anti-war advocate, outrageous showman and gracious goodwill ambassador, fighter, lover, poet, and provocateur, and an irresistible force to be reckoned with. The incredible true story of a Trans woman who took on the British Government and won. This is the true story of how a silenced voice shouted loud enough to change the lives of every LGBTQIA+ person in Britain. Elizabeth (Liz) Bellinger (Root) had married her husband Michael (Eccleston) at Southwark register office in South London in 1981, one of the few transgender people in Britain who had gone through a marriage ceremony. For nearly 20 years only her husband knew her secret however in 1998 she launched a campaign to have her marriage legally recognized and in 2000 the case went to court. The drama starts with Elizabeth's meeting with barrister Ashley Bayston (Friel) and the resulting complex legal obstacle course they undertook over the coming three years.

David Burroughs was once a devoted father to his three-year-old son Matthew, living a dream life just a short drive away from the working-class suburb where he and his wife, Cheryl, first fell in love—until one fateful night when David woke to discover Matthew had been murdered while David was asleep just down the hall. Half a decade later, David's been wrongly accused and convicted of the murder, left to serve out his time in a maximum-security prison—a fate which, grieving and wracked with guilt, David didn't have the will to fight. The world has moved on without him. Then Cheryl's younger sister, Rachel, makes a surprise appearance during visiting hours bearing a strange photograph . . . in the background, just barely in frame, is a boy bearing an eerie resemblance to David's son. David just knows: Matthew is still alive. David plans a harrowing escape, determined to achieve the impossible—save his son, clear his own name, and discover the real story of what happened. But with his life on the line and the FBI following his every move, can David evade capture long enough to reveal the shocking truth? (April 14 - August 29, 2025)

Set in the proverbial boomtowns of West Texas, Landman is a modern day tale of fortune seeking in the world of oil rigs. The series is an upstairs/downstairs story of roughnecks and wildcat billionaires fueling a boom so big, it's reshaping our climate, our economy and our geopolitics. Tommy Norris (Thornton) works for an oil company in Texas, and that means he spends his days negotiating with folks, most of them greedy as hell. In control of a moving river of money, Tommy points the cash nozzle wherever it needs to be pointed - in order to keep a moving river of oil in constant motion, up and out of the ground. A man with a truck and a cellphone and a complicated family life, Tommy himself is in constant motion, fueled by coffee and talk and trouble -- lots of coffee, lots of talk, lots of trouble. The engrossing tale of the post-apocalypse centered on the relationship between Joel (Pedro Pascal), a smuggler in this new world, and Ellie (Bella Ramsey), a teenager who may be a key to a cure for the deadly pandemic. Joel, a hardened survivor, is hired to smuggle the 14-year-old girl out of an oppressive quarantine zone. What starts as a small job soon becomes a brutal, heartbreaking journey, as they both must traverse across the U.S. and depend on each other for survival. Kaitlyn Dever's Abby is a skilled soldier whose black-and-white view of the world is challenged as she seeks vengeance for those she loved. Young Mazino will appear as Jesse, a pillar of his community who puts everyone else's needs before his own, sometimes at terrible cost. Isabela Merced will play Dina, Ellie's new romantic interest and Jesse's ex. Dina is a free-wheeling spirit whose devotion to Ellie will be tested by the brutality of the world they inhabit. Lorenzo Ligas (Argentero), Milan's most brilliant yet controversial criminal lawyer, is admired for his charisma and courtroom prowess. However, his inability to separate duty from pleasure leads to his dismissal from a prestigious firm. Determined to reclaim his status, Ligas teams up with Marta (Messerklinger), an idealistic young trainee. Together, they take on the city's most hopeless cases, seeking justice for the marginalized. As they navigate complex legal battles, Ligas must confront his own flaws and redefine his path. In a world where everyone is innocent until proven guilty, Ligas is determined to offer the best defense possible.

A thrilling roller-coaster ride about a heist gone terribly wrong. What if you had the winning ticket that would change your life forever, but you couldn't cash it in? Lucky Armstrong is a tough, talented grifter who has just pulled off a million-dollar heist with her boyfriend, Cary. She's ready to start a brand-new life, with a new identity—when things go sideways. Lucky finds herself alone for the first time, navigating the world without the help of either her father or her boyfriend, the two figures from whom she's learned the art of the scam. When she discovers that a lottery ticket she bought on a whim is worth millions, her elation is tempered by one big problem: cashing in the winning ticket means she'll be arrested for her crimes. She'll go to prison, with no chance to redeem her fortune. As Lucky tries to avoid capture and make a future for herself, she must confront her past by reconciling with her father, finding her mother, who abandoned her when she was just a baby; and coming to terms with the man she thought she loved—whose dark past is catching up with her, too. Margo Millet's (Fanning) got money troubles. As the child of a Hooters waitress (Pfeiffer) and an ex-pro wrestler (Offerman), she's always known she'd have to make it on her own. So she enrolls at her local junior college, even though she can't imagine how she'll ever make a living. She's still figuring things out and never planned to have an affair with her English professor—and while their affair is brief, it isn't brief enough to keep her from getting pregnant. Despite everyone's advice, she decides to keep the baby, mostly out of naiveté and a yearning for something bigger. Now, at twenty, Margo is alone with an infant, unemployed, and on the verge of eviction. She needs a cash infusion—fast. When her estranged father, Jinx, shows up on her doorstep and asks to move in with her, she agrees in exchange for help with childcare. Then Margo begins to form a plan: she'll start an OnlyFans as an experiment, and soon finds herself adapting some of Jinx's advice from the world of wrestling. Like how to craft a compelling character and make your audience fall in love with you. Before she knows it, she's turned it into a runaway success. Could this be the answer to all of Margo's problems, or does internet fame come with too high a price? (February 3 - June 4, 2025 | w/t "MAYHEM")

A crime story about a real-life family made infamous by Mandy Matney's popular Murdaugh Murders podcast. The series aims to be the definitive account of Alex Murdaugh, a member of the prominent South Carolina legal family who has faced dozens of embezzlement and other criminal charges. He has been named a person of interest in the gruesome murder of his wife and son and alleged co-conspirator with his oxycodone supplier in an assisted suicide and insurance fraud attempt. Murdaugh's sons and other members of the family have also been linked to two deaths, while the passing of his housekeeper is considered suspicious, too. (February 24 - June 13, 2025)

Canon Daniel Clement is Rector of Champton. He has been there for eight years, living at the Rectory alongside his widowed mother - opinionated, fearless, ever-so-slightly annoying Audrey - and his two dachshunds, Cosmo and Hilda. When Daniel announces a plan to install a lavatory in church, the parish is suddenly (and unexpectedly) divided: as lines are drawn, long-buried secrets come dangerously close to destroying the apparent calm of the village. And then Anthony Bowness - cousin to Bernard de Floures, patron of Champton - is found dead at the back of the church, stabbed in the neck with a pair of secateurs. As the police moves in and the bodies start piling up, Daniel is the only one who can try and keep his fractured community together... and catch a killer.

Fifty-year-old Alice moves back to her hometown with her eight-year-old daughter, Sofie, who struggles to adjust after leaving her friends behind. Sofie bonds with a classmate, Ida, leading to a playdate at Ida's house. To Alice's shock, Ida's mother is Katrine, her childhood bully. An evening of seemingly polite conversation escalates into a night of psychological warfare as the women confront past traumas. As their daughters engage in their own subtle mind games, Alice demands an apology from Katrine, who dismisses the severity of her past actions, pushing Alice to take drastic measures to reconcile with her painful memories.  After Tova Sullivan's husband died, she began working the night shift at the Sowell Bay Aquarium, mopping floors and tidying up. Keeping busy has always helped her cope, which she's been doing since her eighteen-year-old son, Erik, mysteriously vanished on a boat in Puget Sound over thirty years ago. Tova becomes acquainted with curmudgeonly Marcellus, a giant Pacific octopus living at the aquarium. Marcellus knows more than anyone can imagine but wouldn't dream of lifting one of his eight arms for his human captors—until he forms a remarkable friendship with Tova. Ever the detective, Marcellus deduces what happened the night Tova's son disappeared. And now Marcellus must use every trick his old invertebrate body can muster to unearth the truth for her before it's too late. (March 3 - April 16, 2025)

After losing 20 straight games and running dead last in the four-team Triple A-level Northern Ontario Senior Hockey Organization (NOSHO), the Sudbury Bulldogs are faced with being completely shut down. Veteran player Shore ("Shoresies") in an attempt to save the team makes a bet with team general manager Nat that the team will never lose again if he's given a chance to take control. With the help of new coach Sanguinet, a roster of new players, and the dissolution of the team on the line, Shoresies sets out to prove that the Bulldogs can play as a team, get bums in seats, and make a name for themselves. The third season ended with Shoresies deciding to end his competitive hockey career after enduring a string of injuries, including twin head concussions. The fourth season will follow Shoresies, as he explores life after hockey, and the Sudbury Blueberry Bulldogs, a struggling hockey team in a fictional hockey circuit, contend with the distractions of summer in northern Ontario.

Sunny Dancer follows Ivy (Ramsey), a teenager in remission from cancer, whose gloriously outspoken mum and well-intentioned dad insist she attend Children Run Free Camp, a summer retreat for young adults affected by cancer. The camp's slogan, "Where kids come to kid," does little to alleviate Ivy's apprehension, and a quick Google search confirms her fears when she stumbles upon a cringeworthy promotional video filled with tacky messages and clichéd sunsets. As if conquering cancer wasn't enough of a challenge, Ivy now faces the prospect of spending her summer at what she calls "chemo camp." However, as Ivy is reluctantly dragged through camp experience, she discovers new feelings with new friends. Sunny Dancer takes a refreshing, uplifting and surprising approach to the teenage cancer story. As Ivy bonds with her fellow campers and blossoms in love — kids and adults emerge from adversity with resilience, humor and heart. (Mid-April 2025 - Early-June 2025)

In the small Texas town of Tiny, the dreams and struggles of its residents intertwine with the fortunes of Tiny High School athletics. Mitch Wimmer, the town's basketball star, carries the weight of the community's expectations. When ballet is introduced to the team, Mitch discovers a hidden passion, challenging his pre-ordained sports future. Meanwhile, his best friend Bobby grapples with a life-altering accident, and Mitch's estranged father, Clayton, returns to Tiny, seeking solace after personal loss. As Mitch contemplates a life beyond basketball, the trio navigates their intertwined paths, leading to departures, reconciliations, and new beginnings. (March 17- April 18, 2025)

The stoner comedy, tells the tale of two naive slackers, Sam (Paxton) and Alex (Wyman), who are hired by a frightening cartel boss to deliver a cardboard box from LA to Vegas for the tidy sum of $10k. The boys think it's their lucky day. Instructed not to look in the box, the duo can't contain their curiosity and as soon as they drive off the property they pull over and have a peek. Much to their surprise and confusion, the box contains six toads. Unbeknown to them they're Sonoran Desert Toads aka acid toads, which when licked, gets the most seasoned drug enthusiasts high out of their minds. On the road, the soaring desert temperatures cause the toads to develop heatstroke, triggering Sam and Alex to jump into rescue mode and give them CPR — and a psychedelic odyssey unfolds. Robinson will play Charles, a charming, yet terrifying crime boss who entrusts the delivery of his precious toads to the knuckle headed Sam and Alex. When Sam and Alex fail to arrive in Vegas on schedule, an enraged Charles and his hulking henchmen are forced to intervene.

Lowen Ashleigh (Johnson) is a struggling writer on the brink of financial ruin when she accepts the job offer of a lifetime. Jeremy Crawford (Hartnett), husband of best-selling author Verity Crawford (Hathaway), has hired Lowen to complete the remaining books in a successful series his injured wife is unable to finish. Lowen arrives at the Crawford home, ready to sort through years of Verity's notes and outlines, hoping to find enough material to get her started. What Lowen doesn't expect to uncover in the chaotic office is an unfinished autobiography Verity never intended for anyone to read. Page after page of bone-chilling admissions, including Verity's recollection of the night their family was forever altered. Lowen decides to keep the manuscript hidden from Jeremy, knowing its contents would devastate the already grieving father. But as Lowen's feelings for Jeremy begin to intensify, she recognizes all the ways she could benefit if he were to read his wife's words. After all, no matter how devoted Jeremy is to his injured wife, a truth this horrifying would make it impossible for him to continue to love her.

Jay Gardiner has given himself a fool's errand—to find the remains of his deceased father in the Pacific Ocean off the coast of Monastery Beach. He knows it's a long shot, but Jay feels it's the only way for him to lift the weight of guilt he has carried since his dad's death by suicide the previous year. The dive begins well enough, but the sudden appearance of a giant squid puts Jay in very real jeopardy, made infinitely worse by the arrival of a sperm whale looking to feed. Suddenly, Jay is caught in the squid's tentacles and drawn into the whale's mouth where he is pulled into the first of its four stomachs. He quickly realizes he has only one hour before his oxygen tanks run out—one hour to defeat his demons and escape the belly of a whale. (Timothée Chalamet mentioned for the lead.)

A movie about The Bee Gees, the trio whose worldwide sales of over 220 million records established them as one of the biggest selling groups of all time. While Barry, Robin and Maurice Gibb first began performing together in the late 1950s, much of their popularity came after they wrote songs for Saturday Night Fever that prolonged the popularity of disco and led to one of the top selling albums ever. Barry, Robin and Maurice began singing together as a pop music group formed in 1958. Their first rush of fame came after their father got a tape of their music to Beatles manager Brian Epstein, who passed it along to colleague Robert Stigwood, who became a steady figure in their rise. Back then, Robin Gibb's vibrato lead vocals drove hits like Lonely Days and How Can You Mend a Broken Heart. The trio found themselves in a career rut with the onset of disco that put pop in a corner, when Stigwood brought them in to construct a soundtrack around Saturday Night Fever. (aka "HOW CAN YOU MEND A BROKEN HEART?")
